POPE SEES MIRACLES IN SCIENCE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, March 25.—Modern science confirms the reality of miracles, Pope Pius declared in a speech in the Hall of the Consistory today, after reading a decree dealing with miracles performed by the venerable Fournet, founder of the order of Daughters of the Cross.

His holiness stressed the importance of the fact that miracles, which constantly renew themselves in the church, also have acquired an important position in science. Science, the pontiff asserted, as it progresses, instead of denying miracles—as many through ignorance believe—sets them off in an ever-clearer light and by ever more convincing proof.

British Miners' Union Threatens Coal Paralysis

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, March 25.—"If the government's decision in the coal controversy is unsatisfactory to the miners and they have to strike May 1, we have made arrangements that not one ton of coal will be handled throughout the country," said A. J. Cook, secretary-general of the Miners' Federation, in a speech at Westminster last night.

"We also have made sure that no coal shall enter this country from America or Germany," he added. "We are not going to be slaves any longer. The miners will starve before they accept any reduction in wages."

Only Turn Out for Fashion Show Declares Parliamentarian

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, March 25.—The Star's Plymouth correspondent today represents Lady Astor as highly indignant over the sparse attendance at a meeting of the Citizens' League, over which she presided last night, having made the trip especially for the purpose.

"If it had been a demonstration of a new style of hair waving or ladies' fashions the hall would have been packed," Lady Astor declared warmly, "but when we come down to brass tacks very few people in any section of society take any sort of interest."

Miss Margery Fry, a social worker, talked on prison reform and the prevention of crime.

STOCK SLIDE CONTINUES

Hundred Issues Touch Bottom

William C. Durant Reported Liquidating in Motor and Baldwin Securities

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Another selling movement swept over today's stock market, carrying 104 individual issues to new low records for the year, but an irregular recovery was under way as the market closed. Final quotations disclosed a large number of net declines ranging from 1 to 11 points, and a much smaller number of net gains ranging from 1 to 3 points. Trading was not so heavy as yesterday, the day's sales aggregating 2,301,200 shares.

Banks called about $10,000,000 additional in loans today, bringing the week's total to around $70,000,000, with the result that call money opened at 5 per cent, the highest renewal rate since the sharp break earlier in the month, but it did not go above that figure as it did yesterday.

CALL FOR FUNDS

The recent heavy withdrawal of funds from the call money market was ascribed by some bankers to the preparation of interior banks for the usual heavy April demands of farmers who need money for spring planting purposes. Reports also were current today that many brokers had been called on to "sweeten their loans" by replacing speculative issues with more high-grade investment issues as loan collateral.

The sharp break in Baldwin, which carried that issue down 7 3-4 points to 97 1-4, coincident with the renewed selling of Hudson and General Motors, led to the widespread circulation of rumors that it represented liquidation for the account of William C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, who is reputed at one time to have built up profits of $40,000,000 to $100,000,000 on the long side of the market in those and other stocks.

These rumors, however, lacked confirmation, although it is not unreasonable to suppose in a break such as has just taken place, he would be a heavy seller of stocks.

REFUSES COMMENT

Mr. Durant always has regarded his stock market operations as a personal matter and neither he nor his brokers would comment on the many stories that have been circulated about him.

Baldwin rallied to 99 1-2 at the close, and Hudson showed a net loss of 1 1-4 at 81 3-4, after duplicating yesterday's low of 80. General Motors closed 3-4 higher at 118 3-4, after selling down to 117 1-8.

Heavy liquidation was apparent during the day in Allied Chemical, Foundation Company, Fleischmann, Gulf States Steel, International Combustion, National Dairy Products, Union Bag and Paper and United Fruit, the extreme declines of which ran from 4 to 11 points.

Imprisonment Among Turkish Women Grows

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 25. Coincident with enlarged privileges for women in Turkey, more of them are landing in prison than ever before in the history of the country.

The Chief of Police of Constantinople has ordered the arrest of all women found dealing in criticism of the new dress and religious reforms or disseminating propaganda tending to weaken confidence in Mustapha Kemel Pasha's government. He has detailed a special squad to watch over the women in hotels, restaurants and cafes finding fault with the modernization schemes.

Five arrests already have been made. The new departure has occasioned considerable of a stir.

Oh, Well! When One Is Traveling—

STORM WRECKS OIL FIELD

One Killed and Eight Hurt as Texas Wind Cuts Path Through Derricks and Wells Run Wild

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ORANGE (Tex.) March 25.—Ten or twelve oil wells were loosed from control, one life taken and eight persons injured by a tornado which swept suddenly and without warning through the village of Orangefield and the oil field seven miles west of here today. A path about a half-mile in width was cleared of derricks by the wind, and when the equipment went, the flowing wells ran wild.

Glenn Keonan, 24 years of age, driller's helper, was killed.

Property loss was estimated at $1,000,000, confined principally to 125 wrecked oil derricks.

The tornado lasted only a few seconds, and was followed by a heavy rain and strong wind. The oil spouting from the uncontrolled wells was blown long distances and coated the field tonight. The path of the storm was through the center of the field.

Wreckage was piled into the highway and the bridge over Cow Bayou. Wire service was broken for several hours until emergency repair crews from Beaumont and Port Arthur got to the scene. The principal damage to the village of Orangefield was in unroofed dwellings.

The storm traveled southeast from the oil field into Louisiana. It crossed the Sabine River about two miles north of Orange, where it rocked a fleet of United States Shipping Board vessels moored in a storage harbor. Anchors were lifted and large cables snapped, but in five minutes the wind had blown itself out, according to Capt. W. T. Slocum, in charge of the fleet. He estimated that the path of the storm was 100 feet wide and that it was progressing at more than fifty miles an hour. Two ship lengths away, he said, there was scarcely a breeze.

From this section the storm touched the Vinton (La.) oil fields, fourteen miles east, where one derrick of the Gulf Production Company was blown down.

TELLS THRILLING STORY

W. L. Jamieson of San Antonio, an aviator, related after the storm passed how he raced ahead of the tornado for fifteen miles. He saw it near Beaumont while looking for a landing field. He got to the ground and his passenger, Mrs. Stella Johnson, had just stepped from the machine when the wind picked it up and dashed it to pieces. Neither Jamieson nor Mrs. Johnson was hurt.

Communication had been restored to an almost normal basis again tonight and work of repairing the damage to oil well equipment was well under way.

A modest, gray-haired schoolteacher of yesterday is the hero of this section of Texas today.

Supt. P. N. Powell of the oil field school at Orangefield had just lined up his 300 charges this morning when he heard the ominous roar and saw the approaching funnel-shaped cloud which meant to him a tornado. The children were ready to march into the building. Quickly the order went forth that all were to march to the auditorium instead of to their separate rooms.

CALMED THEIR FEARS

Patting on their heads whimpering and trembling boys and girls, chuckling to them and smiling into their frieghtened faces as they huddled together in the auditorium, the 56-year-old school man went calmly about his duty while the tornado reared nearer the building.

Above the howling storm and crashing thunder came the sound of timbers splintering and glass shattering as the schoolhouse was struck and rocked to its foundation. Yet not a child among the 300 cried out. For all of his tenderness in soothing the school children, Supt. Powell was firm in warning the boys and girls that under no circumstances were they to leave the building nor scream.

Entire credit for avoiding a panic that might have resulted in the death of numbers of the school students was given Supt. Powell. Unable to make himself heard above the noise of the tornado, he went from child to child, speaking to each one, dispelling their fears and watching for the slightest symptoms of panic.

Ontario Rejects Sale of Liquor by Government

COOLIDGE'S EXECUTOR APPOINTED

Value of Colonel's Estate May be Greater Than First Estimates

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LUDLOW (Vt.) March 25.—Judge Moore of the Windsor District Probate Court has appointed former Gov. Stickney administrator of the estate of Col. John C. Coolidge, father of the President.

Bond of $75,000 was posted, indicating that the value of the estate was greater than had been thought here. E. J. Blanchard and A. J. Brown, friends of the colonel, were named to make an appraisal.

Before his death, Col. Coolidge disposed of all his possessions to the President for the sum of $1. It was said that the action to bring the estate into court was to put in order any State or Federal taxes that may be due.

PUBLIC TO HEAR STORY BY BUTLER

Open Trial Assured for Col. Williams, Accused of Intoxication

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, March 25. — Although no date has been set for the court-martial of Col. Alexander Williams of the Marine Corps, charged by Brig.-Gen. Smedley D. Butler with intoxication in a public place and with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, assurance was received here today from Washington that no effort will be made to have the proceedings secret. This came in a special newspaper telegram from Washington, quoting Secretary Wilbur of the Navy Department as saying that the court-martial will be open to the public and adding that, as the case already had received so much publicity, the public is entitled to know the facts.

There have been rumors that Col. Williams intended to plead guilty to save those who attended a dinner which was given by him in Gen. Butler's honor, and at which cocktails are said to have been drunk, preceding the appearance of Col. Williams at a local hotel, where Gen. Butler saw him again and ordered him under technical arrest. It was declared today on good authority, however, that Col. Williams has given nobody the impression that he intended to plead guilty to the charge preferred against him by Gen. Butler.

Gen. Butler is still in the navy hospital, where he went to have some teeth extracted.

Col. Williams was in a slight automobile accident today, near naval-district headquarters, but was not injured.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 25. At the annual convention of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists Dean F. M. Clement of the University of British Columbia urged that Canada adopt a quota law the same as the United States. Several other prominent speakers supported Dean Clement in his contention that the present system of immigration is not healthy for the country.

DRY LAWS ATTACKED IN LEAGUE

Women Delegates State They Favor Moderation, Not Prohibition

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, March 25.—Prohibition in the United States was attacked today by women delegates on the League of Nations Commission for the protection of women and children.

Senator Posner of Poland, discussing the evil effects of alcohol on women and children, remarked that he assumed all present were prohibitionists.

"We are not!" exclaimed Mme. Avril Sainte Froix of France, and Mme. Estrid Hein of Denmark. They added that they are willing to fight excessive use of alcohol, but are ready also to fight the undesirable effects of prohibition.

Mme. Sainte Froix referred to her visit to America, saying she was told while there that prohibition had resulted in increased drinking among women.

State Official Resigns to Join Tax Association

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—M. D. Lack, secretary of the State Board of Equalization, today submitted his resignation to the board effective April 1, next, to become vice-chairman and tax counselor of the California Taxpayers' Association of Los Angeles, an organization which recently filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State. Richard E. Collins, chairman of the board, announced that Dixwell Pierce, deputy State Attorney-General and formerly an attorney in the State inheritance tax department, has been named to succeed Lack.

As tax counselor of the Taxpayers' Association formed by leaders in agriculture, business and industry, Lack said his service will be available for consultation and advice to tax organizations and public officials. He will spend the greater part of his time traveling about the State advising on tax questions.

Leningrad Soviet Head Loses Post Through Heresy

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LENINGRAD (Russia) March 25.—M. Zinovieff has been replaced as head of the Leningrad soviet by Nicholas Kamarov, formerly secretary of that body. The office corresponds to that of the governor of the province and has always been regarded as one of the highest posts in the Communist state.

Zinovieff's replacement is looked upon as one of the penalties for his "heretical" utterances at the recent congress of the Communist party in Moscow. The only important office he now holds is the chairmanship of the Communist Internationale, an office which is likely to be abolished when the presidency of that organization is superseded by a collegium consisting of a number of departmental secretaries.

Surgeons Take Safety Pin From Baby's Stomach

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

THE DALLES (Or.) March 25.—Charles Irvin Tooley, 9 months of age, is recovering from the effects of a surgical operation to remove an open safety pin from his stomach.

Physicians decided on the operation after efforts to remove the pin by other methods had failed. The baby stopped breathing for two minutes following the operation but was revived.

Inquiry Asked in Mexican Slaying of American Boy

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SANTA FE (N. M.) March 25.—Gov. Hannett today wired Senator Jones asking that he take up with the State Department the stoning to death of Joe Hall, Albuquerque youth, near Ixtlan, Nay., Mex.

The message to the Senator requested that the State Department see that Hall's assailants are punished and that a suitable indemnity be obtained for the mother, Mrs. Mary Hall.

RUM BATTLE EXTENDED

House Sobriety Gone Into

Democrats Split Wider on Liquor Modification as Campaign Issue

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The sobriety of members of Congress was discussed concurrently today, and from different viewpoints, by members of the House and by prohibition enforcement officers of the District of Columbia.

While on the floor another debate was centering around the reported remarks of Dr. Clarence True Wilson on drinking among Congressmen, the local prohibition officials were announcing they will go the limit in discovering the intended ultimate consignee of six quarts of liquor found Saturday night in a corridor of the House Office Building.

The threat of the prohibition officers apparently aroused but passing interest among the Representatives, although the asserted purveyor of the six bottles was taken into custody early in the day and released on bond after questioning. The incident was not even mentioned in the daily round of prohibition debate.

DENOUNCES ACT

Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, opened the discussion with a speech saying he is sorry that Representative O'Connor Democrat, New York, saw fit yesterday to attack Dr. Wilson's reported statement on the state of Congressional sobriety in the days before Volstead. Mr. Rankin pointed out that Dr. Wilson not only is an eminent Methodist clergyman, but secretary of the board of temperance of his church. Attacks on ministers and religious organizations, he continued, will get the vote nowhere.

There was applause on the Democratic side when the Mississippi member declared such a speech as that made by Mr. O'Connor, in which he called Dr. Wilson "a liar," ought not to be regarded as a gauge of Democratic sentiment. He estimated that the party is 75 per cent dry, and added: "The prohibition amendment is just as binding on Democrats as Republicans, and we are not going to meet you in 1928 or any other time on a platform of light wines and beers."

RETURN TO ATTACK

Undeterred by the criticism of their Democratic colleagues from Mississippi and Texas, the Democratic wet bloc from New York later returned to the attack. Just before adjournment Representative Oliver, Democrat, New York, a member of that group, put in a bill to permit sale of wine and beer in States that approve such a course by a referendum.

Replying to Mr. Rankin, Representative Oliver said it is regrettable, but the wet and dry question has been made a national issue by the "tyranny" of the Volstead Act.

He declared the State of New York has had to submit to nullification of its own laws because of the Federal prohibition act.

The House lobbies heard all sorts of stories today in connection with the liquor found Saturday night in the office building, where it apparently had been abandoned upon the approach of a police officer. Enforcement officers denied they have evidence so far to connect the incident with any member of Congress, but said they will follow the trail no matter where it may lead.

George L. Caddiday, arrested in connection with the incident, was arraigned before a United States Commissioner today, but at his request he was granted a continuance until April 7, next.

To charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor, Caddiday pleaded not guilty and was released on $2000 bond.

The six quarts of liquor asserted to have been left behind when he fled at the approach of a police officer in a corridor of the House office building, have since been analyzed and declared to be pure stuff.

STATE HEADS AUTO LIST

California Possesses One Car to Every 2.9 Persons; 28,000,800 in Use in United States

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—More than 23,000,000 automobiles were in use in the United States last year, the Bureau of Public Roads reported today. The total is equivalent to one car for every 5.3 persons, and an increase of 13.4 per cent.

New York registered 1,625,533 cars, leading all the States, and followed by California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois in that order, all with registrations exceeding 1,000,000.

California led in the number of motors per capita, with one to every 2.9 persons. Iowa was second with 3.6 persons a car and Alabama was at the bottom of the list with twelve.

Florida led with a 46.3 per cent increase in registrations in 1925 as compared with 1924, while Utah, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, North Dakota and Texas all reported increases over 30 per cent.

Total revenue from registration fees and permits was placed at $240,819,521.

SCIENTISTS ADMIT ORIGIN OF OIL STILL MYSTERY

Geologists Association Working to Unlock Nature's Secret and Make Synthetic Product

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DALLAS (Tex.) March 25.—The world's greatest detective problem still is unsolved, members of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists admitted at the seventh annual convention opening here today. The mystery of the origin of oil is as deep as ever and at the bottom of every oil well, which may be spouting out untold wealth, lies the baffling puzzle of how the oil was formed and where it came from.

This mystery has intrigued many and today some of the best scientific sleuths are working on it, because back of its solution may lie still a more golden secret—the secret of synthetic oil, an oil made by man rather than by nature.

The first scientific session of the convention today was devoted to papers on this subject. The speakers agreed on only one point, that oil was formed by the bodies of formerly living creatures or plants.

STILL IN DOUBT

"We are hunters in pursuit of game whose habits we understand imperfectly," said W. E. Wrather, consulting geologist of Dallas, in outlining the theme of the meeting. "We have perhaps discovered the favorite type of hiding place of our quarry, but the familiar haunts are rapidly being hunted out and if we are to succeed in the future it is of vital importance that we acquire a more intimate acquaintance with the object of our efforts. Hence a discussion of the origin of oil will remain a timely topic for some time to come.

"We are unable to state with certainty the types of organic life, whether plant or animal, which contributed the hydrocarbons from which any particular type of oil was evolved. We are in doubt whether it originated in its liquid form or passed through its primary stages as a solid."

David White, formerly of the United States Geological Survey, now head of the National Research Council, reported on experiments with the micro-furnace. By means of this instrument rocks, such as oil shale and other substances, are studied under the microscope while they are undergoing a temperature of 1450 deg. C. (2642 deg. F.)

HEAT THEORY ADVANCED

One of the theories of the origin of oil is that it was produced by the action of intense heat working on certain rocks and other substances beneath the surface of the ground. At certain temperatures these substances placed in the micro-furnace have been found to change their nature and structure as observed under the microscope. Certain elements of the same substance will change at different temperatures.

Through the microscope, the geologist can observe the changes and note the temperatures that produce them. In this way it is hoped that some hint of how oil came to be formed may be obtained.

The microscope unlocks another secret of the rocks when applied to the germs or "forams" to be found in the strata far below the surface. These germs are in reality tiny sea animals that died millions of years ago and whose bodies are now embedded in the rock. Each geological age had its own particular forams, which appear to be small sea shells when placed under the microscope.

AGE REVEALED

The geologist can determine the age of any rock and at what depth in the earth it should be found by studying these "bugs." Discussions on this subject, which is one of the very latest in petroleum geology, will occupy much of the program.

According to G. Dallas Hanna of San Francisco, E. Call Brown of California was the first to discover the practical application of the forams.

A. W. McCoy of Denver presented an outline of some oil accumulations. F. M. Van Tyl of the Colorado Schol of Mines, and Earl A. Trager of Ponca City, Okla., presented papers on the origin of petroleum. J. H. Wilson of Casper, Wyo., read a paper on "the lithologic character of shale as an index to the degree of metamorphism."

The following were nominated today:

For president, John A. Suman, Houston, and Alexander W. McCoy of Denver; for vice-president, Dr. J. W. Beede of San Antonio, and Charles R. McCullom of Los Angeles; secretary-treasurer, Fritz Kurin of Ponca City, Okla., and C. E. Decker of Norman, Okla.; auditor, Dr. John L. Rick of Ottawa, Kan. Officers will be elected Saturday.

Assert Seattle Dry Squad Men in Bribery Net

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, March 25.—Federal prohibition agents declared here tonight that they had caught Tom Feek and H. D. Kinsey, veteran members of the Seattle police dry squad, in the act of accepting a $500 bribe from King Tanaka, asserted Japanese bootlegger, in a raid on a Seattle residence.

United States Prohibition Officer Corwin said the raid was the result of conversations overheard over tapped telephone wires.

United States Attorney Revelle during a trial here in which Roy Olmsted and twenty others were convicted of liquor conspiracy, and George Reynolds, a city policeman, was acquitted, declared that he "wasn't through with the police department."

Revelle bitterly denounced the city force and declared that thousands of dollars in graft money was being collected by police officers every month.

Tapped telephone-wire testimony at the Olmsted trial indicated that the police dry squad worked under bootleggers' orders.

DRY AGENTS ACTIVE

MIAMI (Ariz.) March 25.—Miami, declared the dampest of Arizona's cities, has been dried for a while by a squad of Federal prohibition agents, led by an eastern operative who had spent some time in locating the city's liquor dispensaries. Fourteen arrests were made, mainly at places where gambling also had been conducted.

FUNDING ITALY'S DEBT EXPLAINED

Smoot Sees Less Liberal Terms for France

Senator Urging Pact Calls it Best Obtainable

Johnson Attacks Agreement as Being Unfair

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—France will never be given terms as liberal as those accorded to Italy in funding her war debt to the United States, Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, told the Senate today in opening debate on the Italian settlement plan.

His statement was interpolated in the midst of the reading of a prepared address urging Senate ratification of the settlement and when he had concluded Senator Johnson, Republican, California, arose to attack the agreement as unfair to American taxpayers.

In making his reference to the French debt, Senator Smoot said he had heard a number of Senators say that whatever settlement was made with Italy will be made with France. This, he said, was far from the mark, because the two debt problems can in no way be compared.

"I want to assure Senators now personally," he said, "that no such settlement will ever be made with France as has been made with Italy, notwithstanding that England has made a better settlement with Italy than we ourselves have made."

CALLS TERMS BEST

Only a few Senators were in the chamber at the time and Senator Smoot was not questioned on his statement. In urging approval of the Italian settlement, he declared the terms were the best that can be made and represent the utmost of Italy's capacity to pay.

It is better, he argued, to collect the sum that Italy can pay than to let the whole debt go by default.

Senator Smoot pleaded with the Senate not to make the Italian debt settlement the "football of partisan politics" or to let its judgment be warped by "fervent criticism" of Mussolini, the Fascists or their policies.

The Utah Senator declared Italy has agreed to pay not only the principal of her debt of $1,600,000,000, but $800,000,000 of interest as well.

Senator Smoot, declared this settlement is upon more liberal terms than that of the subsequent British-Italian agreement and that it is based upon Italy's capacity to pay, in the determination of which American and Italian economic experts were in practical accord.

OPENING OF FIGHT

The address of the Finance Committee chairman, carefully prepared and bristling with statistics, marked the beginning of what has the promise of being a dramatic struggle with opponents seeking to send the bill to the Foreign Relations Committee for further study. Proponents are confident that they can muster the votes to block that program and put the bill through.

Before the issue is settled, the debate is certain to cover a wide range, with military expenditures by the European countries and loans abroad by "international bankers" of New York, occupying a prominent place.

Adverting to the $160,000,000 loan which J. P. Morgan & Co. made to Italy last summer at an interest rate of 7 per cent, Senator Smoot said the difference between this and the low interest rates which Italy pays to the American government "is so simple that one might suppose that no Senator would stop to discuss it."

GOODS USED IN WAR

"The funds advanced by the American government were advanced during the war," he said. "The goods bought did not enrich Italy; they were used by Italy to fight the war. Our debt was an old debt. We were much in the same position as a creditor of a bankrupt concern. The individual coming in with new money to carry on the business will not lend it a cent unless he is paid the market rate—international bankers or no international bankers.

"Italy without the new loan would not be in a position to stabilize her currency and carry out her program of fiscal and financial reconstruction. This must be accomplished if she is to live up to her debt settlements with this coutry and Great Britain. As a despairing creditor, we should welcome the boldness of the investor who comes forward with new money to invest in Italy."

Declaring that the settlement is the best that could be made, Senator Smoot said the American people have confidence in the Debt Commission and in its chairman, Secretary Mellon.

"Above all," he added, "they have confidence in the integrity and judgment of Calvin Coolidge. They know that his approval of the work of the commission means that the interests of the American taxpayer have been safeguarded so far as it is humanly possible to safeguard them and that the settlements arrived at are the best that could be effected."

MISSING BOYS' BODIES FOUND AFTER WEEK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—The bodies of Bobby Darrow, 5 years of age, and Henry Crawshaw, 8, missing from their homes since the 17th inst., and for whom police and Sheriffs deputies have been searching, were found this afternoon in the city incinerator pond. They apparently had been playing too close to the edge of the pond and accidentally fell in. The pond was dynamited last Saturday in the hope of raising the bodies to the surface.

AMERICA TERMED SHYLOCK

British Journals Irked by Reference to Debt Settlement by Winston Churchill

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, March 25.—The speech of Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons yesterday, in which he called attention to the differences of opinion between the United States and Great Britain as regards the subject of the Allied war debts and in which he pictured the United States as universal creditor of the future, has evoked editorial comment in only a few newspapers.

These papers mainly repeat what has already been often said—that there is a strain of skepticism in reference to what Great Britain may expect to get from her European debtors.

The Daily Telegraph says: "If the Chancellor, as his critics demand, were to put his foot down more firmly when dealing with debtors, the other party would gather up his hat and coat and depart. The British foot would be left down, but there would be nothing beneath it."

"Her cellars are full of lendable gold," it says, "her playing hands contain top honors of the suit declared, and she can afford to adopt a plan of deferred annuities."

After reiterating Mr. Churchill's description of the United States as a universal creditor of the future, the paper adds: "We do not blame the United States for setting its face against default, but it would look rather better if she were mindful of the obligations of several of her own constituent States, which have been in default to the extent of fifteen millions for many years.

"Washington has not put pressure on them or offered to shoulder the obligations. These things were long since forgotten but old memories are awakened when, in the name of principle, the richest country in the world is driving the hardest and keenest bargains."

Combining its comment on Mr. Churchill's speech and the remarks at Philadelphia yesterday of Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the United States Treasury, in which he declared the American war debt settlements were the most favorable obtainable, short of force, and touched on the moral obligation to assist other peoples to clear away the wreckage of war, the Morning Post says:

"Even if Europe is left with enough to buy a cotton shirt once a month, meat once a week and a pair of American shoes once a year, there will still be a growing feeling of resentment against this Good Samaritan.

"If all Europe, and even Japan, were brought into a new and closer understanding by this policy, it would not surprise us, although it might surprise America. This policy of almost skinning Europe may be immediately profitable to the United States, but it is questionable if it is the wisest policy, taking a long view of American interests. But that, of course, is for America to decide."

Contending that the Allies fought in a cause, which was also America's, and spent the blood of their peoples while the American armies were training, the Post says:

"What interest should the Allies charge upon that debt of America to them? They charged nothing, because, in this case, as in another, blood is not in the bond."

ROYAL DRIVER BARRED

Lack of American License Keeps Carol from Atlantic City

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, March 25.—Carol Caraiman, who is a familiar sight on the boulevards of Paris at the wheel of his large and expensive sport roadster with Mme. Magda Lupescu at his side, was to have graced the opening of the Atlantic City Speedway in May, say newspapers here, but his plans were disrupted and the former Crown Prince of Rumania therefore will remain in Europe.

It is said that a handsome sum had been offered and accepted by Carol which would have been useful in defending the suit for 10,000,000 francs brought against him by Mme. Zizi Lambrino, his former morganatic wife. Carol was unable to satisfy the conditions surrounding the granting of an American driver's license to him and the plan for the journey overseas fell through.

OUSTER ACTION BEFORE HOUSE

Five Impeachment Charges Against English

Case of Illinois Jurist to Come Up Tuesday

Senate to Act as Court if Report is Upheld

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Five articles of impeachment against Federal Judge English of Illinois for "high misdemeanors in office" were laid before the House today by its Judiciary Committee and will be taken up next Tuesday.

After redrafting its report several times in a futile attempt to submit its recommendations unanimously, the committee asked and obtained the consent of the House that three members be granted until tomorrow afternoon to file a minority report opposing impeachment.

MANY CHARGES

The indictment presented by the majority charged unwarranted disbarment of attorneys, threats and censure of State officials, threatening a jury in court, tyrannous attacks on the liberty of the press, profanity and other misbehavior; appointment of C. B. Thomas as "sole referee in bankruptcy," changes in court rules, connivance in a "bankruptcy ring," misuse of bankruptcy funds, favoritism and partiality, unlawful appointment of receivers and confessed neglect of duties.

If a majority of the House upholds the committee in these charges, the Senate will sit as a court to decide whether Judge English shall be removed from office. A two-thirds decision will be required in the Senate for conviction.

NAMED BY WILSON

The jurist was appointed to his present position in 1918 by President Wilson, on the recommendation of Samuel Gompers, the union-labor leader. He is the eleventh Federal judge in American history to be accused of misconduct in impeachment charges filed with the House. The committee acted after months of investigation and after much debate in executive session.

The minority report to be submitted tomorrow will be signed by Representatives Bowling, Democrat, Alabama; Hickey, Republican, Indiana, and Weaver, Democrat, North Carolina. Representative Yates, Republican, Illinois, also has prepared a separate statement of views holding that there is insufficient proof of guilt.

CROCODILES GET MANY IN SHIPWRECK

Reports from Upper Amazon Say 83 or 38 Perished in Steamer Disaster

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

RIO JANEIRO, March 25.—Details of the disaster with which the small steamer Paes de Cervalho met last Monday 1200 miles up the Amazon River in tropical waters infested by crocodiles are being anxiously awaited here. The steamer is variously reported as having been burned and blown up with heavy casualties, one report giving the aggregate dead as eighty-three and another thirty-eight.

Owing to the fact that the disaster occurred in an almost uninhabited section of the Solimoes River, one of the upper branches of the Amazon in the vicinity of Manaos, communication with the region is difficult. The latest information is that while the steamer was nearing Coary fire broke out in a mattress in a third-class cabin where a man had been smoking. An attempt was made to throw the mattress overboard, but the flames set fire to cans of kerosene and gasoline and spread rapidly to a quantity of powder, which exploded, wrecking the steamer.

This report said the captain, second officer, first engineer, nine members of the crew and twenty-six passengers were lost. A previous report declared that the captain, first and second engineers and eighty passengers perished. All advices received thus far indicate that some seventy persons, passengers and members of the crew, were rescued.

RANCH DATA OFFERED IN LEITER SUIT

Letter Indicates Joseph Intended to Ignore Lady Suffolk in Management

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, March 25.—Testimony and hundreds of pages of documentary evidence presented today in the suit of the Countess of Suffolk and Berks to force removal of her brother, Joseph Leiter, as a co-trustee of the estate of their father, Levi Z. Leiter, dealt wholly with the $1,000,000 Leiter ranch near Sheridan, Wyo., and irrigation projects near it.

Leiter, in a letter he wrote October 12, 1925, to A. E. Carlton, head of the Holly Sugar Corporation, indicated he and his sister, Mrs. Colin Campbell, co-trustee who supports Leiter, intended to manage the Wyoming properties without reference to Lady Suffolk.

Lady Suffolk charges that her brother proved himself unfit to continue as a trustee by ignoring her, as well as managing in a manner grossly inefficient.

The trial today lost some of its interest as a drama involving a family disruption. Lady Suffolk, Mrs. Campbell and Leiter posed for news photographers for the first time since the trial began, and at adjournment the sisters walked from the courtroom arm in arm.

Yesterday, when the court session ended, the sisters embraced and kissed for the first time in five years. It was made known that Lady Suffolk had previously besought all parties to the suit not to let it antagonize their personal relations.

OLD HOTEL RAZED

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 25.—The Queen Hotel, first of hostelries in Douglas, erected in 1902, is being torn down, after having been vacant for several years. Until displaced by the better-located and more modern Hotel Gadsden it was the center of social activity within the community.

SOCIETY GIRLS TURN JOCKEYS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TAMPA (Fla.) March 25.—Society women turned jockeys for a day and held a horse race for charity.

Miss Virginia Buford, riding Billy, won the four-furlong sprint in one minute. Miss Adelbert Oberman was second and Miss Pauline Jones on Starlight, third.

Miss Buford handled her mount well and saved ground on the stretch turn. Miss Oberman, on Hal, took the lead on the first turn and held on gamely, while Miss Jones brought Starlight up with a rush, but was too far back to take the lead.

It was a real race with the spectators torn between applause and laughter. Each woman wore her favorite color and they had everything a jockey is supposed to have, even to the boots. They rode wild, none of them doing any real driving. Sitting far back in the saddle, the riders were wafted along, most of the time with outstretched arms.

One woman had a lot of trouble with the regulation jockey cap. It kept slipping and sliding from her head at the start and as she flashed in the first stretch, the long visored top-piece was lifted from her head. She grabbed wildly and retrieved it from midair without losing her seat.

There was much jocular banter as the riders lined up at the post. They were spared the thrill of the drop of the barrier, however, and got away to a walking start, but reached their stride at the first turn.

At the end the crowd roared an ovation and Mayor Percy G. Wall of Tampa presented the three winning society jockeys with loving cups on behalf of the Tampa Jockey Club.

Others in the race finished in the order named:

Mrs. R. A. Green, King, fourth; Miss Helen Mackey, Kitty, fifth; Miss Jean Hall, Belle, sixth; Miss Ione Davis, Proctor, seventh.

VOTE TO OUST BROOKHART

Iowan's Only Chance Remains in Carrying Fight to Floor of Senate to Retain Seat

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Read out of the Republican councils last year by his Senatorial colleagues, Smith W. Brookhart, Republican insurgent from Iowa, is faced now with a fight to save himself from being put out of the Senate.

His cause received a blow today when the Senate Elections Committee voted ten to one to unseat him in favor of his Democrat opponent, Daniel F. Steck, who contested his election. This action of the committee followed an unanimous report of a subcommittee which held that Steck received a plurality of the votes and should be seated.

The conclusions of the subcommittee carried great weight with the full committee, as the subcommittee conducted an official recount in Washington of the ballots and held extensive hearings. The findings of the majority of the entire committee were reached on the ground that it was the intent of the voters of Iowa to elect Steck but that even if the law alone guided, Steck still has a small plurality.

Hopes of Senator Brookhart for a substantial committee minority to carry his fight to the Senate floor were lowered when only a lone member, Senator Stephens, Democrat, Mississippi, signed a minority report favoring the Brookhart cause. There were two members of the committee who refused to sign either report, Senators Shortridge, California, and Williams, Missouri, Republicans, who said they wished more light on the subject before they made a decision.

Senator Stephens, who will lead the fight for Brookhart on the floor with the aid of several Republican and Democratic Progressives, also led the winning fight for Senator Nye, of North Dakota, the legality of whose appointment was questioned. He hopes to win the non-committal committeemen to his side. He contends that the Iowa State election laws should be the nominating influence in settling the contest and that under the law Brookhart is entitled to his seat.

Senate leaders expect to bring up the contest in the Senate early next week and hold it before the body until it is decided.

FIGHT BROADENS ON LIQUOR ISSUE

said that the New York member tried to make it appear that his representation of twenty-five years ago in Congress was a statement of present conditions.

Representative O'Connor characterized as a "lie" statements quoting Dr. Wilson as saying that drunks had been escorted from the House floor in pre-Volstead days.

"I never made a statement that any member of the present Congress ever drank intoxicating liquors," said Dr. Wilson. "I contrasted the present sober and Christian body of men with what we used to have twenty-five years ago when we had two saloons in the Capitol Building to accommodate some of the kind of Representatives that the brewers and saloon-keepers used to elect for us.

"I saw scenes in the closing nights of Congress then that would be absolutely unbelievable today. Men got drunk and it seemed to be considered no disgrace. I have lived in the capital city now for ten years and never smelled liquor on the breath of any Senator or Congressman."

RHODE ISLAND HOUSE ASKS LIQUOR REFERENDUM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) March 25.—A resolution requesting that the Senators and Representatives of Rhode Island in Congress support legislation to amend the National Prohibition Act and to submit the question to a vote of the people, was adopted today by the Rhode Island House of Representatives. About thirty Republicans voted, with an equal number of Democrats in support of the resolution, which was passed 49 to 32. The resolution is the first of its kind to be adopted by a State legislative body.

Today's action followed hard on the heels of the rejection by the same body last Friday of legislation designed to put more teeth in Rhode Island's enforcement law. The resolution itself was taken away from the committee last week.

The resolution as adopted particularly stipulates that support of modification legislation be recommended "provided that said bill shall be amended by adding thereto a referendum clause requiring that said legislation shall be referred to the people for a vote thereon."

Army of Police Set Cordon for Radio Burglar

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Armed with the first description they have had of the "gentleman radio burglar," 150 police tonight swarmed the Woodhaven sections of Queens, awaiting the reappearance of the man, who, during the last seven weeks, has shot three policemen and stolen 150 radio sets.

The description was furnished by Patrolman Donnelly, one of the robber's latest victims, who turned his flashlight on the man last night just before the burglar shot him.

Last night he slipped out of a net of five policemen by pretending to Patrolman Donnelly that he was a resident, until he was near enough to shoot the patrolman. He then fooled Patrolman Kenny by pretending to be a fellow-officer. He shot Kenny, injuring him so badly that he may die. Donnelly will recover.

MAYA DATA POINT TO ANCIENT TRADE ROUTE

BY GREGORY MASON
Of the Mason-Spinder Expedition
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1926, by the N. Y. Times Company]

MERIDA (Yucatan) March 25.—Reviewing the evidence found on our coastal journey last month and comparing it with the data noted on our just completed crossing of the Yucatan peninsula leads to interesting conclusions regarding Maya history, the chief being that the east coast formed an important artery of trade between the Indian settlements, what is now Mexico, and Yucatan on the one hand and Guatemala, Honduras, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Columbia, on the other.

Cortez attracted the attention of students of Maya history has centered on the trade route followed by Hernando Cortez on his march from the highlands of Mexico to Honduras, via Lake Peten.

Recent discovery of the former popularity of the east coast is proved by the many ruins found by recent expeditions, including ours, and strangely indicates that the coastal route was more important than previously realized.

FEWER RUINS

The interior we just explored does not show such heavy settlement. After the few traces of mounds north of Lake Bacalar and two cities where modern worship was reported, some hundred miles of our route to Okop was virtually unmarked by Maya ruins. Okop is on the outer rim of the area marked by the many ruins of the central and western parts of the peninsula. Compared with the thick jungle trail, the water route had obvious advantages.

Dr. Herbert J. Spinder says: "I believe that this route was used from the second occupancy of Chichen Itza in the tenth century. Geologists know Yucatan was without metals. The turquois the Spanish found in Yucatan came from New Mexico, the gold and jadeite from the highlands of Mexico and Central America. Yucatan's contribution was fine pottery and textiles.

"The large canoe occupied by merchants that Columbus found on his fourth and last voyage in 1502 off Honduras was very likely engaged in trading on this route. Muyil, Chakalal, Xkaret and Cozumel were good canoe harbors.

"It is difficult to place our finds with historical exactness, owing to the almost complete lack of inscriptions in all late periods in the cities to which these belong, though Okop was early in that period. The frequent use of columns and other Toltec features in the architecture of the east coast shows the strong influence from Chichen Itza after 1200 A.D. This supports the theory of the coastal trade route."

SIGNAL SYSTEM

Gen. May's secretary, Tomas Tinan, says that the Mayas signaled between the tops of temples as the Indians did in recent wars. The ruins are perhaps sufficiently thick between Xkaret and Chichen Itza to make this signaling an adjunct of the commercial caravans.

Situated on this route are the ruins of Coba, between Valladolid and the coast, reported by Stevens in the '40s as not visited by him. We planned a visit, but learned that Coba was twice studied within the past month by the Carnegie Institution in conjunction with Thomas Gann, the British archaeologist, and Dr. A. V. Kidder of the Peabody Museum at Harvard.

Our expedition confirms the common-sense assumption that ruins are best sought near the harbors and a water supply. A new light on a long closed portion of Maya territory is likely to be revealed. The Mexican government recently established schools at Santa Cruz de Bravo and Acomal to teach the Indians Spanish, and Gen. May says that the Indians are realizing that the archaeologists are not searching fror jewels and gold, but ruins as old as Greece and Rome. Permission to excavate will require much persuasion, as witness the exclusion of foreigners and Mexicans even from the Indian Catholic Church at Santa Cruz de Bravo.

We are going to Chichen Itza tomorrow to compare notes with the Carnegie expedition.

TRAFFIC CODE UP TO STATES

Conference Ends Work With Appeal to Governors

Hoover Summarizes Need of Solving Problems

Complete Program Drafted for Model Law

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Bringing its task to a conclusion, the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety today turned over to the States and municipalities a comprehensive program looking to traffic control and the reduction of fatalities and injuries resulting from traffic accidents.

An appeal to the delegations representing the governors of more than forty States to take initiative in carrying into effect the recommendations of the conference was made by Gov. Winant of New Hampshire and embodied in a formal resolution. This was supplemented by an appeal by Secretary Hoover, who, in the closing address, sounded a warning that the constant drive to centralize government must give way to government by the stimulation of the local community to a sense of its responsibilities, if progress is to continue.

A suggestion that the movement for traffic control might even extend beyond national limits was made by R. B. Morley of Toronto, who expressed the appreciation of the Canadian delegation for the opportunity to observe the work of the conference.

CANADA PRAISED

In reply, Secretary Hoover said that Canada had been more successful than the United States in regulating traffic and that its traffic accident record is lower.

The work completed by the conference and the necessity for carrying its recommendations into effect was summarized by Secretary Hoover.

"We have today," he said, "the astonishing fact that nearly 20,000,000 motor vehicles are upon our roads and highways. Our territory was not laid out for this unexpected discovery in individual transportation. Our roads have to be rebuilded, our streets reconstructed and the whole of our traffic problems have to be reviewed and reorganized.

"We have manifestly a minimum of 20,000,000 people—over one-sixth of our population—directly driving these vehicles. Probably another 10,000,000 people drive from time to time. All human beings are of unequal capacity and unequal character. We have not alone to consider the engineering problems involved by the imposition of this great discovery in transportation, but we have a multitude of human problems to consider in connection with their drivers.

SEES PROFOUND EFFECT

"I believe these conferences have had the most profound effect in advancing the public view, developing scientific thought and the gradual advancement of the problem toward solution. Our work is not completed with the formulation of results of investigations of common conclusions at which we have arrived. We must secure their acceptance and that they be put into action.

"Now again, it has not been our purpose—nor has it developed in debate—that we are engaged in establishing new organizations, but rather that we should establish cooperation between organizations of different localities and the solution of the multitude of complexities with which we are confronted."

The complete program outlined by the conference for traffic regulation and control is embodied in a final report which covers the recommendations made by the eight committees, each covering a phase of the general problem together with the model traffic code adopted as the consensus of the conference. Although the work of the conference itself was declared at an end provision was made for carrying on its activities and for preparing the ground for future conferences if they should be found necessary.

PROVISIONS IN CODE

The code finally agreed upon by the conference includes: A uniform motor vehicle registration and certificate of title act, a uniform vehicle operators' and chauffeurs' license act and a uniform act regulating the operation of vehicles on highways. Suggestions are made for the adoption and enforcement of this model legislation. Recommendations relating to the public education and the improvement of highway and motor vehicle design, the study of causes of accidents and the elimination and protection of grade crossings are also included in the final reports.

The conference proposed the creation of a general committee on co-ordination of activities to be appointed by the Secretary of Commerce. "This general committee," it suggested, "should be subject to call at such time as may, in his discretion, be desirable, and should determine whether and at what time any additional action may be necessary or desirable to further the purposes of the conferences in improvement of traffic conditions and reduction of street and highway accidents."

MEXICO BAN ON DIVORCES OF YUCATAN

Supreme Court Declares Testimony of Both Wife and Husband Necessary

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—The Supreme Court in rendering a decision in a local divorce case held that divorces granted in Yucatan are unconstitutional. The ground taken was that in Yucatan a divorce is granted without hearing the testimony of both husband and wife.

ATTORNEY DISAGREES WITH JUDGE JOHNSON

"If the reasoning is correct on which Superior Judge Johnson of San Francisco based his recent decision quoted in the newspapers that divorces in Yucatan under the provisions of Mexican law have no legal status in California, then most of the divorces granted here to persons who have moved here from other States will not be entitled to recognition elsewhere unless the defendant was actually served with summons in California," Gunther R. Lessing, former attorney for the Mexican government, now practicing in this city, declared last night.

Mr. Lessing declared that Judge Johnson has apparently overlooked an amended statute in the California Civil Code, which is quoted by the local attorney as specifically saying that presumptions as to domicile do not apply to divorces in this State.

"If it were otherwise," Mr. Lessing stated, "a person leaving California would have to return here and live for an entire year before the law would give him any redress. This shows the difference in the question of divorce and that of adjudicating land titles and there is no similarity between the two."

"In my opinion, Judge Johnson has erred in his reasoning and in the dicta contained in his decision as quoted by the press," Mr. Lessing said.

College Editor Apologizes for His Publication

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TIFFIN (O.) March 25.—Facing expulsion Ralph Hartline, editor of The Pony Railer, Heidleberg's humorous publication, recently supressed because the March number was dedicated "to the bootleggers," submitted an apology to Charles Miller, president of the university.

Several faculty members requested that publicity by given the fact that suppression of The Pony Railer, together with subsequent action in the matter, was by President Miller and not by the faculty.

Here is Hartline's apology which President Miller considered favorably:

"The Pony Railer, in dedicating its March number to 'the bootleggers,'" was not shouting defiance at the Volstead Act. If some thought this to be the case we are sorry. We apologize for this and only this interpretation."

Excited Woman Swallows Ring When Arrested

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SALINAS, March 25.—Arrested on a charge of driving her automobile while intoxicated, Mrs. Grace Grauf, 6903 Estrella avenue, Los Angeles, became frightened in the City Hall and swallowed her $300 diamond ring.

Chief of Police Hiserman is in a quandary. He is undecided whether to hold the woman in jail or send her to a hospital.

Mrs. Grauf was arrested a few miles south of the city asleep in her car after another woman driver had complained that she had been forced from the road by the zig-zags of Mrs. Grauf's machine. A bottle of whisky was found in the car, police said. Mrs. Grauf was bound for San Francisco.

CONFLICTING OPINIONS MAKE CONSCIENCE GUIDE, OFFICIAL SAYS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—Californians who are puzzled over whether they have a right to vote in tomorrow's school-district elections are urged in a statement issued today by Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, to let their consciences be their guide.

"Every elector who wants to vote at the school election," reads the State superintendent's bulletin, "will have to determine for himself whether he will cast a ballot. Opinions and counter-opinions relative to the right to vote at the school election have been rendered by various officials. I wish to point out that opinions given by the Attorney-General, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, District Attorneys and county superintendents of schools are only opinions.

"Only a court decision can determine the matter and no such court decision is available."

Atty.-Gen. Webb's recent ruling on the matter was that no one has a legal right to vote tomorrow unless he has registered since January 1, last. Several district attorneys, however, have interpreted differently the tangle of statutes bearing on the point at issue.

"It is therefore clear," concludes Supt. Wood, "that the elector will have to determine for himself which of the conflicting opinions he will accept as the basis of his action."

GRANDPA TO TRIPLETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 25. J. F. Delaney of Point Grey, announced that he was the happiest man in Canada when he received word that his daughter, Mrs. J. O. Martin, Clarkston, Wash., had brought into the world that day two boys and a girl.

EXPLORER'S SON TO GO TO ARCTIC

Robert Peary, Whose Father Discovered Pole, Will Join Party

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Robert Peary, son of the North Pole discoverer, is following in the footsteps of his father and hopes some day to become a great explorer.

Scientific studies now are claiming his attention at Lehigh University, but when June and vacation time roll around, he will take his first trip northward with the Putnam-Williams expedition to Greenland to gather material for the newly completed Hall of Ocean Life of the American Museum of Natural History.

Young Peary is not taking the trip as a pleasure jaunt. Instead, he will be a full-fledged member and will have to do the work mapped out for him just as all others of the party.

The same man who was skipper of the vessel used by Peary on his successful North Pole expedition will command the Morrissey on the Greenland trip—Capt. Bob Bartlett. The navigator, who has known of Young Perry's plans, has long wanted him to make his first trip on the Morrissey.

H. C. Raven, assistant curator of comparative and human anatomy at the museum, is heading the expedition, which was organized by George Palmer Putnam, the publisher, and provided for through a gift by Harrison Williams.

The white whale, sharks, seal and walrus are some of the specimens the party will bring back. Attempts will be made to take motion pictures of the white whale in action as there are no such photographs on record.

Frederick Limekiller and Van Campden Hellner will accompany the party as taxidermist and ichthyologist, respectively. Knud Rasmussen, Danish explorer, also is expected to join the expedition. The youngest member will be Putnam's son David, 12 years of age.

Mexican State Plans to Sue Oil Concerns Told

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 15.—Coincident with the generally accepted situation that oil magnates and the Mexican government are finding one of the chief stumbling blocks to settlement of the new petroleum law question in regrants of titles comes news from Universal's Vera Cruz correspondent that the State is about to sue a number of foreign petroleum companies, including the Corona, Transcontinental, Agwi, Sinclair interests and others. The assertion is made that said companies have been extracting oil from land not belonging to them for a number of years. It is further stated that 32,000,000 barrels of petroleum have been taken from the lands in question.

It will be stated when the case is heard that the lands mentioned are included in an Indian interstacy and have been wrongfully taken piecemeal from time to time by the companies involved, without a shadow of title thereto.

HEAVY DAMAGES ASKED FOR INJURY TO YOUTH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) March 25.—Damages in the gross sum of $70,000 have been asked of the Southern Pacific Company by Eulalia C. Davis, guardian of Reyes Aguilar, 12 years of age. Declaration is made that the lad had been invited by a company employee to ride on a California-bound freight train, on which he had been assaulted by another employee, with result that Aguilar fell between two cattle cars and lost a foot under the wheels. It also is charged that the lad was allowed to lie for several hours beside the tracks, unattended.

JAPANESE FLYER DIES AS PLANES COLLIDE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, March 24.—The second air crash within a week occurred at Kasumigara aviation station today with a head-on crash between two planes at 800 meters in the air. The machines fell into a graveyard, one officer being killed and a bluejacket seriously hurt. Monday, the first all-metal plane made in Japan nosedived into a lake, killing two officers.

FLYER TO CROSS ATLANTIC

Nonstop Flight Between New York and Paris Plan of French Fighting Aviator

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, March 25.—Capt. Rene Fonck, France's premier fighting aviator of the World War, today announced plans for an attempt to make a nonstop flight between Paris and New York, but said he probably will not be ready for the adventure before next year. It is possible an American aviator may accompany him as an aide.

"I am going to New York at the end of April," he told the Associated Press today, "to study the possibilities and expect to remain in the United States two or three months. After that I shall take up the study of the problem on this side."

Capt. Fonck said that the American government already has furnished him with charts and air statistics. The questions now hanging fire, he explained, are technical, including whether it will be better to attempt to hop in a slow plane with a big cruising radius or to try a dash in a speedy plane.

"I am in touch with constructors on both sides of the Atlantic, and it is possible that the plane for the jump may be half of French construction and half American," Capt. Fonck said.

The "ace of aces" indicated that he will try the northern route, but he is still debating whether it will be better to start from New York or from Paris. He contemplates flying over Ireland, the North Atlantic and Newfoundland on a course similar to that taken by Alcock and Brown in their nonstop trans-Atlantic flight in 1919. He said he could not decide definitely until he had studied the situation in America.

Capt. Fonck does not contemplate any long flights in preparation for the one across the Atlantic. "Certainly there will be no preparatory flights in the plane we shall eventually use," he said. "It must be built for that flight and that alone."

Union Officials Announce Plan to Defeat Senator Pepper

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HARRISBURG (Pa.) March 25. The United Mine Workers are determined to elect Gov. Pinchot to the United States Senate and defeat Senator Pepper and Representative Vare, the Governor's opponents in the three-cornered race.

So asserted Philip Murray, international vice-president; Thomas Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer; John Brophy and P. T. Fagan, district presidents of the miners' organization, in a statement protesting against the suggestion that Gov. Pinchot withdraw from the contest for the Republican Senatorial nomination.

Immanuel Presbyterian Church
For Sale or Lease

At a congregational meeting of Immanuel Presbyterian Church held February 24th, 1926, it was decided that the church property on the Southeast corner of Tenth and Figueroa Streets be offered for sale or lease.

The property has a frontage of 212 72-100 feet on Figueroa and 166 24-100 on Tenth Street.

A minimum price has been set by the congregation of $700,000 in case of a sale, and 6% on $800,000 as a basis for a lease.

In disposing of the property, the church would like to retain the use of the present church building until the new building to be erected at Wilshire and Berendo be completed—probably about May 1, 1927.

If you are interested in the purchase or lease of this valuable downtown property, telephone W. A. Merril, church secretary, TUcker 5537, for full particulars. He will gladly answer any question.

Daily Style Hint For Well Dressed Los Angeles Men

LOS ANGELES, March 25. Duck sox green! Duck sox green! New York is dotty over this new color. It is a green somewhat on the order of new or dusty green. Some call it sea-mist green. Call it what you will, at this store and you'll get it. Certainly novelty, and tasteful and particularly smart in Southern California.

LONDON HONORS CHAMBERLAIN

Foreign Secretary Receives Freedom of City

Recants Opinion Failure at Geneva Was "Tragedy"

Eulogizes Father Once Paid Similar Tribute

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, March 25.—London honored Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary, today, by bestowing on him the freedom of the city, just as a generation ago it honored in the same manner his father, Joseph Chamberlain, who helped shape Britain's imperial and foreign policies at the end of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth.

The ceremony, held at the Guildhall, was intended mainly as a compliment to Sir Austen's work at Locarno, and the Foreign Secretary, acknowledging the presentation, dealt again with the Locarno accords and the subsequent failure to reach an agreement at Geneva on the admission of Germany to the League of Nations. He recanted his former opinion that the Geneva failure was a "tragedy," and declared he refused to allow himself to be discouraged.

Sir Austen and Lady Chamberlain were received at the Guildhall by the Lord Mayor and other city officials. There were also present Premier Baldwin and other members of the Cabinet, the Spanish, Belgian, Japanese, German, French and Turkish Ambassadors, and the high commissioners for the dominions.

"Two days ago," said Sir Austen, referring to the recent debate on his conduct at Geneva, "I met my judges in the House of Commons. I was in no mood to speak then with bated breath or whispering humbleness. I claimed and obtained judgment of my peers. But today my mood is different; I find myself in a gathering of generous friends."

"In the bitterness of my first disappointment I exclaimed that it was a tragedy. I think I used exaggerated language. Confident of the inherent strength of the League and the world-wide appreciation of its necessity, I refuse to allow myself to be discouraged by such temporary phenomena."

HUGE SUM SPENT FOR VETERANS

Canada Cares for Disabled War Heroes at Annual Cost of $52,000,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA (Ont.) March 25.—Canada still is spending at the rate of $52,000,000 a year in caring for the men who fought for her in the war, according to the annual report of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment, the Federal branch directly charged with the work. The report was tabled in the House of Commons.

Of the total amount more than $43,000,000 was paid direct to men and their dependents in cash, these payments consisting of pensions, pay and allowances while taking hospital treatment, relief, etc. More than $5,000,000 was paid for hospital treatment, transportation, funeral expenses, etc.

The report shows that a less number took treatment during the year than that of the preceding twelve months, but the expenditure on pensions shows an increase of more than $1,000,000, indicating that men still suffering from war disability are getting worse instead of better. This increased pension expenditure is made possible by periodical examinations for pensioners.

Fewer than 4000 men are undergoing treatment at present but the clinical treatments show an average of more than 11,000 per week. The amount expended on unemployment was $100,000 greater than the previous year, 40,000 men having received $400,000 or an average of $10 each.

The Canadian ex-service men were cared for last year at an overhead expense of $1,500,000, or 2.816 per cent on the turnover of the department.

LEAPS TO SAFETY

Lieutenant at Dayton, O., Quits Plane as Wings Fall Off

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAYTON (O.) March 25.—Lieut. E. H. Barksdale, McCook Field, today told how he made a parachute leap to safety yesterday when, without warning, the wings of his plane became loosened and fell to earth.

He was at an altitude of 1000 feet at Wilbur Wright Field, when the wings let go. The fuselage began a swift descent. Lieut. Barksdale freed himself, opened his parachute and landed safely within several hundred feet of where the fuselage and wings dropped.

This is the second successful parachute leap Lieut. Barksdale has made from a disabled plane in two years.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hudson, 25 years of age, a Bulgarian beauty, socially prominent in Paris and Budapest, has entered a plea in New York Supreme Court for a legal separation from Percy K. Hudson, 48, millionaire New York stock broker. He put all Europe to shame as a lover, she said, but after marriage in November, 1925, beat her, then abandoned her.

Americans Drop Millions on Game Tables in France

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

NICE (France) March 25.—It is estimated that American visitors lost 33,240,000 francs in the Riviera casinos last year. The "kitties" of the various casinos amounted to 83,100,000 francs, 40 per cent of which is figured to have come from American pocketbooks.

The municipal casino of Cannes led all the others in paying local and States taxes on a total bank's percentage of $2,394,000 francs. The municipal casino of Nice was second with 26,280,000 francs, while the other casino at Nice, the Promenade Jetty Casino, was third with 10,481,000 francs.

Monte Carlo Casino, which is not a French casino, had a yearly "kitty" of 112,550,000 francs.

Woodlick Vote by Senate Today Will be Secret

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The more than a year-old controversy between President Coolidge and the Senate as to whether Thomas F. Woodlock of New York is to have a permanent place on the Interstate Commerce Commission will be settled tomorrow.

The Senate will meet at noon behind closed doors for a second time this session, under an agreement to vote at 5 p.m. Opponents of Mr. Woodlock concede that, despite the adverse report from the Interstate Commerce Committee, his nomination will be confirmed.

SWING OFFERS BILL TO HELP NAVAL STATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The expenditure of $235,000 at four naval stations was proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Swing, Republican, California. The measure would provide $35,000 for a laboratory and mortuary at the Pearl Harbor (Honolulu) Naval Hospital, $32,000 for a one-ward building of sixty beds and an extension of the mess hall at Puget Sound, $18,000 for a mess hall and galley at Guam and $150,000 for an officers' ward building of fifty beds at San Diego.

LOW FRANC AID TO PERET PLAN

Activities on Finance Bill Confined to Lobbies

Weakness of Specie Strong Point for Measure

Ousting of Malvy May Bring Majority Backing

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, March 25.—Activities relative to M. Peret's financial measures are confined mostly to the lobbies of the Chamber of Deputies, where the friends of the government are endeavoring to bring into line enough Deputies to pass the bills. The weakness of the franc is the argument which has had the most influence in the past two days.

It is regarded as possible that the government could muster a majority were it not for the determined opposition of the Moderates and Conservatives to Louis Malvy's presence in the Cabinet as Minister of the Interior.

MALVY FLEES SOUTH

M. Malvy went to the south of France a few days ago to recuperate from a collapse which he suffered at the conclusion of a speech in his own defense in the Chamber, and it is currently reported that he left his resignation in the hands of Premier Briand, to become effective whenever the Premier considered it necessary.

It was remarked by several Deputies that M. Briand had sacrificed two Ministers of Finance, and the least that could be expected of him would be to sacrifice one Minister of the Interior in order to get a majority to pass the financial restoration measures.

The Chamber discussions of the first half of the 1926 budget ended today with the adoption of the revenue section of the finance bill by 415 to 128, with the Socialists voting in the negative. It now goes to the Senate.

BUDGET DOESN'T BALANCE

Finance Minister Peret pointed out that the budget as voted is not balanced, there being a deficit of 4,372,000,000 francs which the Finance Committee of the Chamber will immediately consider.

The Finance Minister's taxation proposals, including a business turnover tax and a civic poll tax, represent the government's idea of how to meet the deficit. The Socialist group of the Chamber this morning voted not to accept the business turnover tax and favored increasing the proposed poll tax.

Men Going to Settle Canadian Farms Bring Clubs With Them

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 25.—In three days of last week 3600 immigrants arrived at Winnipeg and were sent out onto farms on the prairies. A peculiar feature of the recent arrivals was that many, who are going to homestead on Canadian lands, have brought along their golf sticks.

Seeing the trend of the times the Hudsons Bay Company, which is going to settle vast tracts of land in Northern Alberta, has arranged for golf courses at suitable intervals in its town planning and farm allotment schems.

PRESIDENT BACKS BILL

Hopes Western Reclamation Measure Will be Passed This Term

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Representative Smith, Republican, Idaho, after visiting the White House today, said President Coolidge hopes that the reclamation omnibus bill to adjust water-rate charges on eighteen western reclamation projects will pass at this session of Congress. A delegation of western members of the House Irrigation Committee accompanied Mr. Smith to the White House.

Mr. Smith said the members were encouraged by the attitude of the President, who, while calling attention to the fact that he has no legislative program, expressed the hope that the House Rules Committee will permit the relief measure to come before the House under a special rule.

HOURS FOR LOCAL AIR MAIL SET

First Plane Leaves Here 7:35 a.m. on April 17 for Salt Lake City Flight

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The first airplane carrying mail from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City will leave Los Angeles at 7:35 a.m. on Saturday, April 17, thus inaugurating a regular air-mail service between the two cities and marking an epoch in the transcontinental postal facilities for Southern California.

A plane inaugurating the service from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles will leave the Utah city at 10:40 a.m. on the day the service begins.

This was announced today by Postmaster-General New. The air-mail route will be by way of Las Vegas, Nev., and will traverse a course of 690 miles.

"The establishment of this route," said the Postmaster-General, "will materially expedite the delivery of air mail to and from points in Southern California and points in the East served by the transcontinental government-operated route through connection at Salt Lake City with the transcontinental route."

Service between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles will be daily and will be operated on the following schedule:

Leave Los Angeles at 7:35 a.m., leave Las Vegas at 10:40 a.m., arrive Salt Lake City at 3:20 p.m.

Leave Salt Lake City at 9:10 a.m., leave Las Vegas at 2:25 p.m., arrive at Los Angeles at 5:25 p.m.

The rate of postage for this route is 10 cents an ounce or fraction thereof, with 5 cents an ounce or fraction thereof additional for each zone or part of zone mail is carried on the transcontinental route. For instance, a letter forwarded over this route from Los Angeles to Chicago will require 30 cents postage, being 10 cents for contract route and 5 cents for each of two zones on the transcontinental route. Contract air mail dispatched over two or more contract routes requires additional postage for each additional contract route.

The contractor for this new route is the Western Air Express, Inc., of Los Angeles.

American Priest Finishes Secret Mexican Inquiry

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—After a three weeks' visit here, during which he made an extensive investigation of the religious situation, Father Raymond McGowen of Kansas City, secretary of the Catholic Welfare Society, with offices in Washington, was due to arrive in the United States today, it became known here this morning.

Only a few of the priest's intimate friends knew of his presence here, it is said, and it is stated that he is taking back with him a confidential report to be presented to Catholic leaders in the United States, setting forth the facts in the controversy between the Mexican government and the Catholic church, resulting in the recent expulsion of several priests.

HAMMER CARRIES CODE TO DEEP

Messages Sent to Submerged V-2 by Means of Pounding on Steel Hull of Tug Which Stood by Submarine During Tests

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, March 25.—Blows of a hammer on the steel hull of the naval tug Wandank provided means of communicating with the giant submarine V-3 while the undersea boat was carrying out deep-diving tests off Provincetown yesterday.

The V-3 was provided with a marine oscillator, which enabled it to send messages to surface craft. The Wandank, standing by as guard ship, had no such equipment, however, and her commander, Lieut. Albert R. Colwell, thought up a device of his own.

Raymond D. Harbour, a member of the navy yard communications staff, was sent down into the hull of the tug with a hammer. He tapped out the Morse code on the steel shell of the ship and the messages reached the submarine clearly. The oscillator on the V-3 sent back the return messages and Harbour was able to read them through the vibrations against the hull.

Senate Votes Cost Inquiry in Wheeler Trial

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—By a vote of 61 to 13 the Senate today directed the Department of Justice to transmit to it a detailed statement of the money spent in the prosecution of Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana.

Another resolution inquiring whether is is proposed to bring perjury charges against George B. Hayes, a New York attorney, who testified against Senator Wheeler at the Montana trial, was referred to the Judiciary Committee. Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, author of both resolutions, agreed to this course.

Wilkins Team Reported by Radio as Hitting Pace as Storm Passes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FAIRBANKS (Alaska) March 25.—Hitting a faster pace after passing of the storm which had impeded their progress, dog teams of the overland party of the Detroit Arctic Expedition were six miles from the mouth of the Endicott Range, on the northern reaches of the John River, according to a radio message received here by Capt. George Hubert Wilkins, commander of the expedition.

The party's chief, A. [illegible] Smith, reported seventeen miles during the day and with eleven men and eight dogs still standing the march well.

The first of the two [illegible] of the expedition will [illegible] nose into the Northern Pole within the next four [illegible] weather conditions [illegible] as they are today. Hear "Always" Irving Berlin's newest, most appealing of love-songs, recorded in the New Victor Way

Love's pledge of loyalty—"not for just an hour, not for just a day, but for just always"—the song, inspired and inspiring

"ALWAYS" will strike a responsive chord the minute you hear its tender, crooning melody. For this great love-song, written from the heart by Irving Berlin, tells the story of the longing and desire of all the world.

This beautiful, haunting melody is available in three separate forms—as a waltz, played by George Olsen and His Music; as a fox trot, played by the International Novelty Orchestra; and as a tenor solo, sung by Henry Burr. Each is different, each is superlatively well done.

Hear these records, made and played in the incomparable Victor manner. You will be amazed by the playing quality of the new Victor Records. They have new beauty and power that will thrill you. Dance music on these new records puts the orchestra right into the room. The deep, guttural "bong" of the bass beats out a rich rhythm that is easily heard above the shuffle of happy feet.

Ask the nearest Victor dealer to play the "Always" records for you, and scores of others equally good, on the new Orthophonic Victrola. Today!

WORLD CHAMPIONS WIN OPENER IN SOUTHLAND

Bucs Get to Cavet, Brett in Third and Fifth to Score Runs; Shell Rally in Ninth Falls Short

BY ROBERT RAY

The Pittsburgh Pirates made their Southern California debut as the world's champions by defeating a combined Shell Oil-Seattle club, 5 to 3, before 5000 fans yesterday afternoon at the Shell Oil Park, Signal Hill. The champions bunched hits off Pug Cavet in the third and took advantage of Herb Brett's wildness in the fifth to score all five of their runs.

Ray (Wiz) Kremer, former Oakland hurler, who played a big part in the Pirates' world-series victory over Washington last fall, hurled the first five innings for the Smoky City outfit and let the Oilers down with two hits and nary a run. Al Crowder finished up on the mound for the Pirates and was nicked for three runs, two coming in the ninth inning, when the Oilers put on fast finish.

PAUL WANER'S.

"Ki-Ki" Cuyler, brilliant Pittsburgh outfielder, and Jimmy Caveney, Seattle shortstop, who was lent to the Shell squad to reinforce its forces, shared fielding honors. Cuyler robbed Red Baldwin of at least a triple or a home run in the third inning when he made a one-hand shoestring catch of the latter's hard liner to center. Caveney performied in great style at short, cutting off many seemingly sure base hits and starting three double plays.

BUCS SCORE THREE

The Pirates scored three off Cavet in the third when Kremer doubled. Rhyne singled, Cuyler doubled and Wright singled. Two more markers were gathered in the fifth because of Brett's inability to control his underhand slants. Two walks, an error and Paul Waner's single accounted for the runs, a snappy double play preventing more.

Shell Oil counted in the fifth on walks to Brett, Lane, Twombly and Caveney's single to center. A double play was sandwiched in with the passes to keep the Oilers from enlarging their run total. The

PROBING RACES AT TIA JUANA

Charge Owners in on Frame-up Resulting in Huge Killings

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 25.—Investigation of a clique of race horse owners, jockeys and trainers at Tia Juana is under way and bids fair to add one more bombshell to the series of exposes which have rocked the turf world. It is reliably reported in racing circles in Chicago.

As in the Kentucky scandal this clique is suspected of having fixed races. It is said that if all leads bring forth conclusive evidence, persons connected with one of the best horses of the winter season will find themselves on the ground.

This particular clique is reported to have bet heavily in St. Louis on its "fixed" races and the first tip that all was not as it should be was given to race officials by the Mound City operators.

It was evidence from Chicago and New York bookies which resulted in the suspension for life of four jockeys, two owners and a trainer by the Kentucky Jockey Club.

The method reported to be used by the Tia Juana gang was to "buy out" all the owners or jockeys in a race. By "buy out" is meant that the owner of the horse is guaran-

CARDS BEATEN BY GRIZZLIES

Al Wagner Pitches Branch to Unexpected Win

Garibaldi Fails in Great Ninth-Inning Rally

Local Babe Ruths Get Nine Hits Off Visitors

Stanford's batting average in Southern California is still touching zero as the result of a totally unexpected 6-to-4 win turned in by Coach Caddy Works's local University of California nine at Moore Field yesterday afternoon. The Grizzly stick-wielders swung on two Card hurlers for nine safe bingles, which were well bunched. A similar number of hits were collected by the Cards, but tight fielding on the part of the Grizzlies kept the Card score down.

CADDY WORKS.

Garibaldi, Card second baseman, turned in a great afternoon's performance, and came near to putting the skids under Southern Branch in the ninth. With the score 6 to 4, with two out and two men on, Garibaldi hit one of Wyman Rogers's fast balls smack on the nose, driving it straight down the first-base line. The ball curved out and missed being in by inches. Rogers fanned the Card star on the next pitched ball to retire the side.

CARDS SCORE

The tilt started off with the Cards collecting two runs in the first inning. Weaver singled, Stewart sacrificed Weaver to second and Sypher doubled, scoring Weaver. Nissen and Busch singled, scoring Sypher before Al Wagner found himself in the box.

An error and three singles gave the Grizzlies a trio of runs in the third. Nick Wagner singled to left field. Birlenbach flied out and Burns struck out. Peak was safe at first when Draper overthrew first base. Peak took second, scoring when Fruhling singled to deep center. Amestoy scored Fruhling with a neat hit over the second baseman's head.

Roy Burns, who struck out to Philippi on his first two times at bat, had better luck with Collins, who substituted for Philippi. In the sixth frame with no one on, Burns socked one of Collins's curves over the left-field fence for a home run. Fruhling followed with a terrific hit that got by the Card center fielder for three bags, but Pete forgot to touch first or second, which cost the Grizzlies a run, as Amestoy hit a two-bagger.

GRIZZLIES HIT

ABANDONS TRACK CAREER

Temporarily at least, Jimmy Coyne, has given up his post as leading shot and discus heaver for the Occidental College track team. Coyne is also a pitcher of note and now wears a monkey suit where the short-pantied track outfit formerly adorned his manly frame. Joe Pipal, track mentor, will miss him in the Conference meet a week from tomorrow.

SANDE ON VICTOR AT TIA JUANA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, March 25.—Earl Sande, premier American jockey, took his first Tia Juana mount today and piloted Serenader, powerful La Brea stable runner, to victory in the Student Prince Handicap at a mile and one-sixteenth and clipped three-fifths of a second from the old track record for the distance. The time was 1:43 4-5.

Earl Sande

Back of the La Brea runner a length and a half finished Sanford, ridden by Jockey Willie Munden, for second place. The show went to Spic and Span.

Serenader was admirably ridden and was saved in the early running and could not be caught when he made his final move. Sande took his mount to the first turn on top and proceeded to give Munden a riding lesson, forcing him to move to the outside for clear riding room.

He permitted Sanford to come close at the three-eighths, but then let Serenader out and drew away at will, easing him up in the last part. Sanford was never able to threaten seriously the winner, but proved best of the others and finished gamely. Spic and Span finished third and worked a mile and a quarter.

Carlaris, wonder colt, owned by W. T. Anderson of the Chula Vista stable, astounded clockers with a wonderful work performance here today. Jockey Munden took the colt out for a gallop over the mile and a quarter Coffroth distance, but was unable to hold him in check. Carlaris breezed the half

L.A.A.C. SQUAD OFF TONIGHT

Coach Boyd Comstock and Thirty Athletes Depart This Evening for Tomorrow's Meet With Stanford

BY BRAVEN DYER

Thirty athletes, accompanied by Coach Boyd Comstock and Track Commissioner Owen Bird, go north tonight to represent the Los Angeles Athletic Club against Stanford University on the Palo Alto oval tomorrow afternoon. It will be the first dual meet of the season for the Mercuries and although the locals don't expect to win they do figure on giving "Dink" Templeton's charges a few hours of strenuous competition.

Included among the club athletes who will depart on the Lark this evening is Charles W. Paddock, world's fastest human. Charley will be making his first California appearance on the cinder-path since February of last year when he ran on a relay team in the A.A.U. relays at the Coliseum. Just how much of his old-time speed Paddock has retained remains to be seen, but it is hardly likely that he will be trimmed tomorrow.

The other men who will compete for Comstock's team are Buckman, Finney, Betty, Hanford, McDonald, French, Carter, Keech, Arenas, Humphries, Lunney, Forward, Maxwell, Dagge, N. Anderson, Lang, A. Richards, Boyle, K. Richards, Bradshaw, Graham, Garrett, Frisble, Fulton, R. Smith, H. Smith, McDermott, Emmons and Eston.

Comstock expects Paddock to win both sprints and also looks to his club to score heavily in the distances. He thinks Carter will win the mile and that either Lunney or Humphries will cop the two-

MIDWICK POLOISTS WIN

Sensational Playing of Eric Pedley Gives Local Four 12-to-8 Victory Over San Mateo Club

With Eric Pedley, famous star of the Midwick regulars, riding in his usual spirited fashion, a low-goal Midwick team defeated the San Mateo Wanderers, 12 to 8, on the Alhambra Field yesterday afternoon. The match was for twelve-goal squads.

Pedley started out like a whirlwind in the first chukker, scoring three goals right off the bat. He eased up through the rest of the match, scoring only four times during the next seven chukkers. Hal Roach and C. B. Wrightsman played excellent scoring polo for the victors, while Jack Holt's defensive work was strong.

George Pope, Dick Schwerin and Willie Tevis stood out for the losers.

Today the Midwick Rovers, headed by Arthur Perkins, meet the First Cavalry squad of Fort Bliss, while on Sunday the famous Midwick regulars go into action against a strong team which will include Elmer Boeseke and Harry East.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Willie [illegible], the lacurable schoolboy [illegible] Joseph, clouted Jimmy Slattery around and around in the new Garden ring tonight and squared the score between them but when the fight was over and he had won the decision he seemed to have dwindled as a candidate for the heavyweight championship on which he had fixed his ambition of late. There is no question that Stribling gave the skinny young man from Buffalo a lot of distress in the course of their rough and tumble under the flood lights of the famous fans, but that was no reason, considering the fact that Jack-and-Paul Berlenbach knocked Slattery cold within a year.

Stribling is the one who induced Gene Tunney was to fight him a couple of years ago in Miami, but if Tunney was at the ringside he must have taken exceptional kicks at his own [illegible] for neglecting the chance to step into the ring and take a fellow with a tail [illegible], who seems to have more than a rugged [illegible] and a passion for [illegible], fighting fought Slattery much the same way [illegible] a good-bet professional [illegible] his rough and [illegible] work.

Wilkins Teams Reported by Radio as Hitting Fast Pace as Storm Passes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

FAIRBANKS (Alaska) March 25.—Hitting a faster pace after the passing of the snow storm, which had impeded their progress, the dog teams of the overland division of the Detroit Arctic Expedition were six miles from the summit of the Endicott Range, on the upper reaches of the John River, according to a radio message received here by Capt. George Hubert Wilkins, commander of the expedition.

The party's chief, A. Malcolm Smith, reported covering eighteen miles during the day and that the eleven men and sixty dogs are standing the mush well.

The first of the two messengers of the expedition will point his nose into the Northern Lights within the next four days if weather conditions here continue as they are today. Repairs to the landing gear of the single motored plane, the Alaskan, are progressing speedily but those on the larger triple-motored ship, the Detroiter, will require longer. However, the Alaskan must make several trips with supplies to Point Barrow before the Detroiter will be ready to hop off from there in the search for land in the unexplored polar basin.

PICK IRISHMAN TO COP BATTLE

Men Weigh in at Two Today at 158 Pounds

Hollywood American Legion Stadium, the bonanza of boxing nuggets may deliver a new treasure to the waiting world tonight when Everett Strong fights his first main event in a Southern California ring. His opponent is Jock Malone, one of the three best middleweights in the world, ranking with Harry Greb and Tiger Flowers.

Fight followers are wondering why Strong picks a tough bloke like Malone to start off as a main eventer. He could have had a bout with much softer talent, but he has asked for this shot and nothing else could be done buy try and give Everett the boy to his liking.

The fight game is just as full of surprises as it is reverses, and many a great fighter has been practically unknown when he entered the ring with some topheavy favorite, only to come out a champion or serious contender. No one in the world thought Young Corbett would leave the ring when he fought Terry McGovern. They gave Jim Jeffries very little hope when he fought Bob Fitzsimmons, and Johnny Kilbane pulled two surprises in Vernon when he flattened Joe Rivers, and later won the title from Abe Attell.

Strong will be a short-ender tonight. The reason is because Jock Malone has been a headliner for many years, and Strong, a youth with everything but experience can't hope to enter the ring backed by public opinion to beat a fellow like Malone. This makes no difference to Strong. He has enough stuff to not only win, but stop Malone.

This is one of the greatest fights for speculation that California fans have been offered in years. It may be that Strong will bring out even greater qualities than he has yet shown, and be the talk of the fight game tomorrow.

He stopped Frankie Monahan, a fellow who stayed the limit with Owen Phelps in Arizona last week, and Phelps is the fellow Harry Greb thinks has a chance of some day wearing the title he just relinquished to Tiger Flowers.

The card:

Jack Malone vs. Everett Strong, 158 pounds, ten rounds.
Billy Adams vs. Eddie Digatto, 139 pounds, six rounds.
Angelo Dell Orto vs. Frankie Murray, 118 pounds, six rounds.

SOMETHING'S IN THIS NAME

For Everett Strong, the midwestern puncher who fights Jock Malone in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tonight, has knocked out four of his five opponents on the Coast. Strong depends on a strong right arm to lay the enemy low, and numerous of our leading critics have given him a good chance to sink the St. Paul Irishman.

ted a sum equal to the purse if his horse does not win. The owners of all horses except the one "elected" is handled in that manner. Of course there are many owners who would not entertain such a proposition and the clique had to wait until only "favorable" owners had horses in a race.

Pomona Frosh Athletes Meet Santa Monica

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA COLLEGE, CLAREMONT, March 25. — Charley Dagg's Santa Monica High School track athletes will invade the local oval tomorrow for a practice meet with the Pomona frosh. It will be the last practice meet for the Sagechicks before the frosh conference at Occidental, April 2. Santa Monica's season is just about ended also.

Groomed into top form by Coach Bob Strehle, the frosh are slight favorites to win. It is expected that they will be too strong on the track for the preps, whose best events are on the field.

Walt Shannon, star hurdler and jumper, is still on the injured list and will not compete. Shannon broke a bone in his foot some time ago and has not been able to run or jump since. It is doubtful that he will be in the frosh conference.

The best race of the day will probably be the mile. Daggs has two good men who will be opposed by Kennedy, White and O'Neil of Pomona. Kennedy is a two-miler by trade and training, but is good for 4m. 50s. in the mile and has been switched.

FOUR L.A.A.C. BOXERS IN TITLE TOURNEY

Four boxers of the Los Angeles Athletic Club will leave Sunday for Boston, where they take part in the national amateur boxing championships, April 5 and 6, next. They are Fred Evans, Coast flyweight champion; Chet Gleason, 118-pounder; Mike Waters, Coast 128-pound champion, and Harry Beum, Coast heavyweight champ. The boys will be in charge of DeWitt Van Court. The winners at Boston will be taken to Buenos Aires, Argentina, for the international tourney to be held there in May. They will leave Boston April 10, next, and be gone nearly three months.

FILMORE FIVE WILL MEET LEMORE TEAM

FILLMORE, March 25. — Coach Kennedy's Fillmore High School basketball team, champions of Southern California, meet the Lemoore quintet here tomorrow night. The championship of the San Joaquin Valley will be at stake and there is much interest in the contest.

THREE CINDER SQUADS CLASH

Expect Conference Records to be Broken

Pomona Relay Team Likely to Set New Mark

Strehle's Runners Favored in Triangular Meet

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA COLLEGE, March 25. Coach Bob Strehle of the Pomona College cinderpath squad plans to do a little shifting with his athletes in the meet against Redlands and Whittier tomorrow in an effort to set a few new college records. The meet will be held on the Redlands University oval and will be the final dual meet for Pomona before the conference meet in in Los Angeles, April 3.

COACH STREHLE

The one school record that the Sagehens hope to break is the one-mile relay mark, which now stands at 3m. 24.4s. The Blue and White runners unofficially broke this mark in the A. A. U. Relay Carnival in the Los Angeles Coliseum, but lost last week to Oxy by six inches in a stirring finish. The time was not so fast as most of the runners had been tired by previous events and a cold wind was sweeping across the track.

KEEPS BEST MEN

Coach Strehle will keep Lyle Johnson and "Baldy" Kettelle out of the 880 and 440-yard runs at Redlands, leaving them fresh for the relay race. Johnson is capable of 51s when not tired and Kettelle was the best 440-yard man in school last year but has not showed quite as good form so far this year.

Knox Finley anchor man on the relay team and good for close to 50s will enter only the 100-yard dash and broad jump so will likewise be in good shape for a fast relay lap. Willard Rew, the other member of the quartet, will be used in the 440-yard run. Ralph Allee will also run in the one-lap event.

Link Hall will be out to set a new record in the discus throw. He won the event against Coyne of Oxy with a nice toss of 131 feet, only two feet eight inches behind Hartley Widdess's conference record. Hall has thrown the platter 138 feet in practice and Coach Strehle firmly believes that he will break Widdess's record before he graduates. Knox Finley with a jump of 22 feet 5¼ inches is fast approaching Homer Frisbie's record.

SAGEHENS FAVORED

The Sagehens will be favored to defeat Redlands and Whittier although the Baptists will offer some competition with Captain Garner in the distance races. Garner competes in everything from the 440-yard dash to the two-mile run and steps them all in fast time. Hall in the jumps, Ford in the hammer, and Graffam in the sprints will also show well.

Hezmahalch of Pomona will be forced to extend himself for the first time this season in the hammer throw against Ford. Both men toss the weight over 130 feet and now are rated the best in the conference.

Whittier will not offer much competition, although Pendleton is a fast sprinter and is apt to cop both dashes, with his best chance lying in the century.

STRIBLING IN RING TRIUMPH

to analyze this play of Stribling's, and after that he was very diligent parting the fighters whenever Stribling rushed into a clinch. It is Willie's sly policy to grab his man and then, in fighting his way out by main strength, make it appear that the other one did the clinching in the first place.

The only surprising thing about this fight was Stribling's neglect to knock out a discredited prodigy who has lost the punch that laid the second-raters in windrows when he first came to the ring.

Slattery could not hit any more and the worst blow that he laid on Stribling, a right cross to the head in the tenth and last round, was not strong enough to deter the chronic schoolboy in this thunderous brawling.

Yet Stribling seemed cautious all the way, and instead of attempting to trade straight, clean punches in the open, with nothing to fear, he insisted on trying to wear his lighter opponent—Slats weighed 168 1-2—to exhaustion by roughing in the clinches. Aside from that right chop to the head, Slattery's, only blows were light touches that flickered Stribling's nose as he crouched waiting with his left arm extending straight down his leg and his right hand cocked for the knockout that never landed.

Stribling, after summering the entire winter in Florida, was tanned to a burnt orange tint, and his frame showed the development of the amazing kid of three years ago into a wonderfully proportioned young fighting man, now almost fully matured. He worked in the open, preparing for the bout with Tunney that never came off, and that training brought him into the ring for the Slattery fight in perfect shape.

He scowled and sneered at Jimmy as they sat in the corners before the fight began, and the conceit of the young Georgian was never abated, even when he failed to floor the fellow who once dumped him on his shoulder blades when they both were boy wonders of the ring.

There was quite a pungent atmosphere in the house, for Stribling comes from a part of the land where all the Slatterys are suspected of keeping muskets in their cellars awaiting the command from Rome, and Slattery emanated from a section of Buffalo where the Macs and the O's are prevalent. The Garden clientele seemed to be fairly divided, and after Slattery had been welcomed to the ring with a wild Corkonian whurroo from the house, Stribling's introduction evoked a long and strident rebel yell.

As the fight raged around and around the ring with Stribling always threatening and Slattery always in peril, those partisan cries merged into a fierce medley, but discipline prevailed, and all the fighting was done within the plush ropes.

The best and, in fact, the only dramatic round of the brawl was the seventh, in which Stribling caught Slattery with a left smack to the chin and sent him drooping against the ropes. Stribling boomed across the ring to punish him and whack him down. He swung both gloves in whizzing arcs to the head and Jimmy floundered across the ring and poked his head through the ropes, almost climbing out of the ring, with the baffled young Georgian prancing behind him and trying to swing his gloves over the strands at his head.

Denning pulled Slattery back, and Stribling resumed his lambasting, but though Jimmie's jaw was mishapen and his mouth was drooling at the end of the round, he did not go to the floor. Then in the eighth, instead of crowding his advantage, Stribling eased up and allowed Slattery to resume his lithesome dance at long range.

CULVER HOCKEY TEAM MEETS PALAIS SQUAD

The battle royal that marked the first game of the championship hockey series last night will be resumed in earnest when Culver and Palais squads go on the ice next Monday night at Palais de Glace in their final tilt.

Both teams are out to cop the title at all costs and will throw everything they possess, in the way of hockey knowledge, into this deciding contest. Over at Palais de Glace Tom Casey has ordered his proteges to report daily for workouts instead of the usual twice-a-week practices as has been the custom.

SENATORS PREPARE FOR GIANT SERIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TAMPA (Fla.) March 25.—Bucky Harris's Washington Senators tomorrow will begin rounding off the remaining rough edges preparatory to meeting the New York Giants in a three-game series opening here Saturday. The series will be the last of the season in Florida. The teams will break camp about April 1, playing a number of games as they swing northward for the opening of the season.

NATIONAL GOLF CHAMP IN LEAD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PINEHURST (N. C.) March 25.—Glenna Collett, national woman's golf champion, today led the field in the qualifying round of the annual north and south women's golf championship by taking a 38-39—77 for the eighteen holes. The mark was six over par for the course, and a new qualifying record for women's tournament play here. Miss Helen Payson of Portland, Me., was second with an 83.

Inglewood is Easy Winner Over Alhambra

Four new Bay League records were hung up during the course of the proceedings, Inglewood performers taking all four honors. Ferguson started the proceedings by winning the mile in the nice time of 4m. 45s. Meza, the classy shot-putter of the winning squad, then lifted the twelve-pound weight out a 46ft. 4½in. mark for a new record. Kincaid tossed the discus 119ft. 3in. for the third mark, and the Inglewood relay team, composed of Zilligitt, Perkins, Dyer and Howell, galloped the half-mile in 1m. 32.1s., which is good time for this early in the season.

Howell of the winners was high point man with victories in the century at 10.2s., and the 220 at 23s. flat. He also ran a lap of the relay. Coach Arnett's squad figures to pick up a flock of points in the field events of the league championship meet on the 17th of next month, and with enough added in the track, is favored to cop the laurels. Yesterday's results:

220-yard run—Won by Ferguson (I.); White (I.) second, Lewis (A.) third. Time, 23 2-10s.
100-yard dash—Won by Howell (I.); Shields (A.) second, Zilligitt (I.) third. Time, 10 2-10s.
120-yard high hurdles—Won by Parsiow (A.); Johnson (I.) second, Parsiows (A.) third. Time, 17 2-10s.
440-yard run—Won by Perkins (I.); Reason (A.) second, Adkins (A.) third. Time, 54 2-10s.
220-yard dash—Won by Howell (I.); Shields (A.) second, Zilligitt (I.) third. Time, 23s.
220-yard hurdles—Won by Pura (A.); Johnson (I.) second, Parsiow (A.) third. Time, 27 6-10s.
Mile run—Won by Ferguson (I.); Minch (I.) second, Klein (A.) third. Time, 4m. 45s. (new league record.)
Pole vault—Won by Gorton (I.); Simpson (A.) second, Jefferson (I.) third. Height, 10ft. 6in.
Broad jump—Won by Dyer (I.); Kinch (A.) second, Zilligitt (I.) third. Distance, 19ft. 4in.
High jump—Won by Lewis (A.); Baldwin (A.) and Mitchell (A.) tied for second. Height 5ft. 2in.
Shot put—Won by Meza (I.); Snider (I.) second Taylor (A.) third. Distance, 46ft. 4¼in. (new record.)

BIG LEAGUE MANAGERS

BY FEG MURRAY

NO. 8. JOE McCARTHY

Don't blame the present manager of the Cubs for the fact that in 1925, for the first time in history, a Chicago National League Club ended the season in the W. K. cellar. And don't blame him, either, if they end up again this year in the same position, for the personnel that Joe McCarthy is trying to mould into a major league ball club is much more like minor league material.

But then, "Uncle Joe" is the only one of the sixteen big time managers who has never had any major league experience, so a minor league ball club ought to suit him better. And if he can make the Cubs play as well as some of his Louisville teams have in the past six years, during which time they have won two pennants,—why, he ought to get them out of the cellar anyway.

The many who believe that the conditions that Joe McCarthy is up against are impossible, evidently don't know Joe McCarthy. Besides Grover Alexander, "Gabby" Hartnett, and Charley Grimm, McCarthy has other things in favor of the Cubs getting somewhere. In the first place, "Hard Work" is Joe's motto, and he has the build and the personality to enforce hard work. Then he can boast of nineteen years' experience in baseball, and a fine record as a player and a developer of players.

Reports from dear old Catalina Island said that Joe was quite a disciplinarian—that he wouldn't even let the boys play cards! But he'll let them chew Wrigley's Spearmint. I'm sure, and he'll make them play ball. And then perhaps, if all goes well, the Cubs will rise up as of yore and get out of the cellar, by Tinker, by Evers, by Chance!

DRIVERS AFTER RECORDS

Ascot Pilots Out to Crack Marks Hung up by De Palma and Haughdahl in Sunday's Races

When the galaxy of racing drivers who will compete in the Ascot Speedway program next Sunday line up at the starting mark their chief ambition, aside from the winning of the events in which they engage, will be the establishing of new records for the track.

Better time than had been anticipated was recorded in every event in the last race, demonstrating that the improved grading of the dirt track had opened the possibility of greatly increased speed, and it is confidently predicted that the records hung up by Leon Duray, Ralph de Palma, et al., on the five-eighths - mile speedway last year will be left in the shade this Sunday.

Ralph De Palma

In their daily workouts on the tracks, the drivers have developed a reckless daring as their familiarity with the sharp curves of the bowl has increased.

Several have voiced the determination to crack the 30-second mark in the one-lap time trials, with the prediction freely made that before the season has advanced far some of the more devil-may-care will cut the lap time to less than 29 seconds or tear off a wheel in the attempt.

It is recalled that Big Haughdahl made the circuit in 29 seconds in an unofficial test two years ago and Ralph De Palma circled the speedway in 30 seconds several times, giving the new crop of open throttle demos marks to shoot at.

BRONCOS FURNISH MISSIONS BATTLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—The San Francisco Missions had considerable difficulty in defeating the University of Santa Clara team today, nosing out the collegians 5 to 4 after a bitterly contested game that went twelve innings.

The Pacific Coast League team put over the winning tally when Rhodda, shortstop, scored on Whitney's double. Morey, left fielder for Santa Clara, turned in a stellar performance both at bat and in the field. In the fifth inning his hit was responsible for tying the score at 3 to 3 and in the tenth temporarily staved off defeat by a long fly that had the earmarks of a home run.

The score:

Santa Clara, 4 runs, 4 hits, 4 errors; Missions, 5 runs, 11 hits, 0 errors.

Batteries: Draper and Martinelli; Bryan and Whitney.

STANFORD NET ACES ON TOP

Cards Down Arroyo Seco in Speedy Matches

Herrington Wins from Doeg in Feature Tilt

Rival Squads Furnish Fast Court Competition

Hal Davis and his Stanford University tennis team handed the star Arroyo Seco Athletic Club's net squad at 3-to-2 defeat yesterday afternoon on the courts of the Hotel Huntington. This marks the third contest played by the Cardinal team against Southern California net squads.

DOEG DEFEATED

Allan Herrington, playing first singles in place of Cranston Holman, leader of the team who is on his way to Japan, defeated Johnny Doeg, California State prep singles champion, after a three-set battle, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3. Doeg outclassed his senior rival in the first set, but the Cardinal star bested the junior opponent in the deciding sets. Herrington could not touch Doeg's service in the initial set at all.

Paul Fairchild won an easy contest from Joe Ciano, senior net ace of the Southland, the scores favoring the Stanford ace at 7-5, 6-3. The backhand stroking of Fairchild featured the contest. In the first doubles event, Herrington and McElvenny of Stanford found Doeg and Ciano too strong for them and lost a decision at 6-3, 7-5. Again Doeg starred with his services and net volleying.

The Arroyo Seco team accounted for its two tallies in the third singles and first doubles. Thomas and Weesner playing in the fourth singles match had a hard-fought battle between them, the Cardinal star finally winning at 6-8, 6-1, 6-4, and thus accounting for the odd tally in the score favoring the invaders.

PLAY TROJANS

This afternoon, the Cardinals play the Trojan warriors on the university courts at 2 o'clock. Berry, Trojan star, will lead his team-mates into action against the invaders. Herrington, Fairchild, Thomas and McElvenny will compose the Stanford team. A hard-fought contest is expected with the invading team a slight favorite.

The summary follows:

SINGLES

Herrington (S.) defeated Doeg (A.S.,) 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.
Fairchild (S.) defeated Ciano (A.S.,) 6-3, 7-5.
Thomas (S.) defeated Weesner (A.S.,) 8-6, 6-1, 6-4.

DOUBLES

Doeg and Ciano (A.S.) defeated Herrington and McElvenny (S.,) 6-2, 7-5.

MERCURY TEAM LEAVES TONIGHT

mile. The race between Lunney and Bill Kerr, providing the Stanford star runs the two-mile, should be a corker. If Kerr takes part in the mile instead he's in for just as tough a time as Carter is as good as any miler on the Coast today.

Maxwell and Daggs, the two former Pomona hurdlers, ought to knock off at least eight points in the two stick-leaping events. The former should win the lows, while West of Stanford will be favored to take the highs.

Norm Anderson and Lang will undoubtedly turn in a few points in the weights, while the Smith brothers of San Diego and McDermott will likely place one, two, three in the pole vault. Eaton seems a cinch to win the javelin. Stanford ought to score heavily in the broad jump and high jump, the club being weak in these events unless Priable or Fulton does something unexpected in the former.

If all the Mercury athletes run up to their best standard and Stanford is inclined to lay back a bit, waiting for next week's meet with U.S.C., the Cards may get the surprise of their lives tomorrow.

RICHARDS, KINSEY FORM TENNIS TEAM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Dr. Sumner Hardy, president of the California Lawn Tennis Association, announced today that Howard O. Kinsey of San Francisco and Vincent Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., will form the American tennis team that will play in France this year. They will sail from New York May 15.

DR. WILLING DEFEATED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—A 100-yard shot from a trap to within an inch of the cup on the eighteenth gave George W. Nickol of first round of match play in the Northern California championship Burlingame victory 1 up over Dr. Willing of Portland today. In the at Beresford Country Club, this was the sensation of a day that otherwise ran according to form.

Dr. Willing, medalist and favorite, met the same fate that has overtaken most of the medalists since the day Adam beat the monkeys for the golf championship of the garden of Eden. The veteran who set the pace with a 73 Monday was pressing and the putts that were touched with magic in the medal round were tinged with indirection.

Brazen courage won for Nickel today. He came to the seventeenth tee one down. While Willing, one of the country's noted golfers, was topping his drive into the short rough, Nickel sent one into the trees. From a scoring viewpoint, his lie was nasty. But he played a beautiful recovery into position for a winning five. That turned the tide.

With the match square on the eighteenth tee, Nickel won the drive, with Willing in a trap. But the Burlingame star threw his next into a trap. It was then he played his wonderful recovery, a great climax to a mtach that was spectacular despite occasional spotty golf. Willing was short of the green on his recovery and took two putts to lose.

Nickel started nonchalantly against the former Walker cup star, winning the first two holes in par. Willing captured three of the next four. Nickel birdied the eighth and turned even. Both had a medal of 38. Willing annexed the twelfth, but Nickel retaliated on the next. Willing won the sixteenth in par to go up for the last time in this tournament. Nickel's medal was 79, Willing 80.

Capt. A. Bullock-Webster's round of 84 in the lower bracket was the other high spot of the first elimination day. Webster won as he pleased from Chester Lyday. If his form holds true tomorrow morning in his match against Milton Latham, the captain faces either Stanton Haight or W. W. Campbell tomorrow afternoon.

Haight and Campbell promise a fine match, though the feature should be Nickel's clash with George Ritchie. Ritchie held the Northern California crown three years ago. He has been a hit off so far in this tourney, but may come back tomorrow.

Nickel's win over Dr. Willing has tossed all prognostications galley-west. The Burlingame champion, George Ritchie, John G. Levison, Beresford's title-holder, Dr. Lyman D. Heacock, dental star, and Claire Griswold of Lake Merced are all semifinal possibilities. Griswold takes whatever edge his third best qualifying score deserves.

Two rounds are scheduled tomorrow, with semifinals Saturday and finals Sunday.

Pairings for the second round follow:

George Nickel vs. George Ritchie.
John G. Levison vs. George Haight.
Dr. L. D. Heacock vs. Guy Standifer.
Capt. A. Bullock-Webster vs. Milton Latham.
Stanton Haight vs. W. W. Campbell.
Harold Mack vs. Peter Carter Bryce.
Dwight Goodspeed vs. E. J. Haddon.

House Leads in Race for Honor Medals

Ed House, with four firsts place to his credit, is leading the Trojan tracksters in the annual competition for the Warren Bovard medal, which is awarded to the U.S.C. track man scoring the most points per season. Capt. Bud Houser actually leads the field, having won five firsts for a total of 25 points, but as he took the honor last year, is not eligible to repeat.

The Occidental, California, Stanford, Olympic Club, Pacific Coast and I.C.A.A.A.A. meets are the only ones which are used in the competition. Leighton Dye is second to House with 14, and Herschell Smith third with 13. Percy Niersbach has 11 1-4 with Ken Grumbles, Lee Barnes, Cliff Reynolds and Bill Cook totaling 10 each.

In the Ralph La Porte medal competition, which goes to the novice athlete scoring the most points, a novice being one who has not earned a varsity sweater, Smith leads with 12 digits. Lee Barnes, Bill Cook and Reynolds have 10 each.

The Roy Haight medal for the best javelin thrower seems headed to Bill Cook, who has 10 points Chet Olsen is nearest with 4.

TROJANS IN CLASS MEET

U.S.C. Track Stars Battle for Honors Today in Annual Meet in Coliseum

All of Dean Cromwell's Trojan track-and-field stars will be in action this afternoon starting at 1 o'clock in the Coliseum, when the annual inter-class track-and-field meet is to be staged. Bill Hunter, Trojan athletic director, has signed some 125 tracksters, both novice and varsity, to perform, and some record times are looked for.

The highly touted frosh runners will get their chance to trim the varsity today. Weldon Draper, Yearling sprinter, will probably not perform, as he has not entirely recovered from an injury, but Charlie Borah is expected to successfully uphold the honor of the class in the dashes. He will meet such flyers as Ed House, Herschell Smith, Bob Lee, Johnny Parsons, Brice Taylor and Chink Sauers.

LEE BARNES.

The half-mile, mile and pole vault events also promise to be of interest. In the 880, Percy Niersbach and Ed Gloege, the latter a holder of the State prep record, hook up. Chesley Unruh, the demon iron man of the Yearling squad, meets Les Heilman and Ralph Shawhan, the varsity stars in the four-lap event. Lee Barnes, pole valuter, will find Jack Williams of the Frosh giving him his strongest competition of the year in the aerial event. Similar duels, although possibly not quite so outstanding, will be in all of the other events.

Under the arrangements for the meet, two separate divisions will compete. The varsity, numeral and frosh meet will entangle in the feature "varsity" event, while the novice runners are to hook up in the other affair. Medals will be awarded to the first two finishers in the varsity, with the first three getting awards in the novice affair.

"Long Jim's" First Job is in San Francisco

BY JIM BARNES

Jim Barnes

My year as assistant to George Smith at Oakland, Cal., in 1907, was not a very eventful one. It was a case of plenty of work and not a lot of play. Not that the job was hard or unpleasant. But there was plenty of work to do and not a great deal of time for play left. Once in a while, however, there came a chance to play a round, and I never missed the chance when it was offered. From the start, I was ambitious to reach the top as a player, if it was possible, and knew even then that all possible practice would some day prove helpful.

The work around the shop and about the course kept me busy in a steady grind, but six years of apprenticeship back home had fitted me for it pretty thoroughly, and this applied not only to work around the shop, but out on the golf course as well. Things are quite different today. It is different not only with the young fellows starting out here, but back on the other side, too.

ALL BY HAND

Progress all along the line in the development of the game has brought about most of the changes. In the old days, nearly all clubs were made by hand. This applied to both wooden and iron clubs, heads as well as shafts. Iron club heads were hand hammered right in the shop, and wooden heads were sawed and cut by hand out of rough blocks that came in something like an L-shape, except that the angle between the flat and the upright part was somewhat larger than a right angle to provide about the right lie for the club. These blocks were something like two and a half inches thick and about four inches wide. From them we had to saw and cut the blocks down, to form the club-head and it was no easy job. Under those conditions club-making was an art, and the player who finally used the club got the real hand-made article. The shafts came in square strips and had to be cut and dressed down entirely by hand.

Nowadays the blocks for club heads are turned in a lathe, and are pretty well shaped when the club maker gets them. The shafts have been turned round, and it is a fairly simple task to tool and dress them down, fit them into the club head, wrap the grips, varnish them and set them out for sale. Hand-hammering of iron heads is practically a lost art except in very rare cases.

DOGWOOD SLEUTH

When I was with the Pelham Country Club I now and then came on a piece of dogwood growing in the woods on certain parts of the course, and wherever I found something that was suitable I used to cut it and take it into the shop to make up into a club head. The boys in the shop thought this trick was nothing short of remarkable; the very idea of taking a rough chunk of wood and fashioning it into a club head! They had never seen anything like it, and the first time or two, they stood around and watched as closely as they might have a magician pulling a pink rabbit out of a derby hat.

The rapid development of the game in recent years is largely responsible for these changes. The demand for increased production because of the great army that now play the game has been so strong that inventive genius has devised mechanical short-cuts to quantity production. So genuine hand-made clubs are exceedingly rare. There are still those who learned the trade in their earlier days, who can turn out a high-class job, and many professionals do make up a very considerable part of the wood clubs they sell, taking advantage of the more nearly finished state in which they can buy their material nowadays. But what was meant by a hand-made club back fifteen years or so ago is now pretty much of a curiosity—that is to those who can tell one when they see it.

A BUSY SEASON

My year's work with Smith was a busy one, but it netted me a lot of valuable experience, that has been helpful to me since. For one thing, I began to pick up an understanding of certain differences in conditions here and back in the old country. And my own play improved some, though it was not yet really steady enough for anyone to judge whether it was getting better or not.

But all the time I had in mind getting a more responsible job as soon as opportunity offered. Along around Christmas an offer came. There was a club in Spokane looking for a professional. It wasn't a very flattering offer, but it was a job of my own and that was the main thing.

There must have been times when I felt a little fear and trembling as to whether I could make good, but all I can recall about it now is being as tickled as a kid with a new pair of shoes, at the idea of getting started. So in the spring of 1908 my first independent professional engagement began at the Spokane Country Club, with a nine-hole course in Mohito Park. It was the only golf club in the city at the time.

JOHN M'GRAW MISTAKEN FOR RACE TRACK TOUT IN TAMPA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TAMPA (Fla.) March 25.—John J. McGraw, master mind of the New York Giants and Florida real estate man, was unknowingly cast in a far different role by a messenger boy at Tampa Downs yesterday.

JOHN McGRAW

Program in hand, Mr. McGraw was saying words to the effect "now I know this horse. You can't tell me he won't win."

The messenger boy, unaware of the speaker's identity, rushed to the manager of the telegraph office, brought the manager back and pointed at the Giants' leader.

"Is he one of those touts?" the boy asked.

It was explained that a special police force is maintained at the track to keep "touts" away. A "tout" is the synonym given the race track hanger-on who usually wants to sell so-called inside information on the horses.

PIRATES BEAT SHELL OILERS

final Shell scores arrived in the ninth when Orr doubled. Herb Cuyler singled Infield and Joe Jenkins, who batted out of turn and got away with it, doubled to score both runners.

This afternoon the Pirates will make their bow to Los Angeles fans at Wrigley Field, where they will tackle Oscar Vitt's Hollywood Stars. The Stars lost all of their exhibition games with the Chicago Cubs and are determined to break in the win column at the expense of the world's champions. Frank Shellenback, the Stars' slick spit-baller, and the veteran, Ralph "Sailor" Stroud will do the mound honors for Hollywood, while big "Jumbo" Peters will be on the receiving end.

MORRISON STARTS

Bill McKechnie said that he was not certain just which hurlers he would use, but that he had decided to open with "Jughandle Johnny" Morrison. "Oil" Smith and Spencer will share the backstop duties, while the rest of the Pirate line-up will be the same as the one which started against the Shell Oilers.

The champions have lost only two games in their exhibition tour, the Mission Bears handing them a double defeat last Sunday at San Francisco. Hollywood will also furnish the opposition to the Bucs tomorrow, but Marty Krug's ambitious Angels will take on the Pirates in the Sabbath shindy.

Al Wagner, who had pitched great ball after the first inning, blew up in the ninth with one man down. Stewart started the fireworks with a single to center field. Johnson poked out a homer that sailed way over Turney's head. Rogers was shoved into the game and walked Sypher. Nissen struck out. Busch singled to left field. Garibaldi failed by inches of knocking a homer and then fanned out.

PRINCE OF WALES IS DEFEATED AT SQUASH

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, March 25. — The Prince of Wales was defeated by Capt. H. D. Margesson, two games to love, in the fourth round of the parliamentary squash rackets handicap tournament at the Bath Club today, but went down with colors flying, as he played from scratch, giving his opponent a six-point handicap. The scores were 18-17, 18-15.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR TITLE TILT

Complete Arrangements for Ice Hockey Play With Tex Rickard Team Here

Final arrangements were completed yesterday for the East-West hockey series for the professional championship of the United States between Tex Rickard's New York Americans and the Los Angeles Pros to be staged at the Glacier Ice Palace early in April.

The New York team will arrive in Los Angeles on Sunday, April 4, and the series will begin the following night. This will give the New York team the opportunity to have at least one practice on the Glacier Palace ice before the series begins. The second game will be staged on Thursday night, April 8, the third on Saturday, April 10, and the fourth on Monday, April 12.

Four victories in seven games will decide the championship. If more than four games are necessary and the strength of the two teams indicates that it will be, games will be played on the Thursday, Saturday and Monday nights following the contests already scheduled.

Lloyd Cook, present manager of the Culver club team in the California Hockey Association, who will pilot the Los Angeles Pros was busy yesterday signing up the players who will compose the team to meet the New York puck chasers.

Interest High in Big Soccer Tilts Sunday

With Hollywood A. C. and Vikings, claimants for the runner-up position in the Los Angeles Soccer League slated to play at Loyola Field Sunday afternoon, there has been a noticeable revival of interest in the league games.

Hollywood and Vikings enter the home stretch with sixteen points apiece, and with each having two remaining games to play. In the first game of the double bill at Loyola Sunday, Hollywood plays the Thistles and on the basis of past performances should win.

In the 3 o'clock contest which features the champion Mecuries and the Vikings, conditions will be different. With the assurance that the Mercuries will field the same team which won the flag, the Norsemen must show some class if they are to annex the points.

TAMPA DERBY WON BY WOMAN RIDER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TAMPA (Fla.) March 25.—Miss Virginia Buford, riding Billy, won the fourth race at Tampa Downs this afternoon. All of the jockeys were women prominent socially. Miss Aldalbert Oberman, on Hal, was second, and Miss Pauline Jones, on Starlight, was third.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

FOLKS from Southern California are in for a treat next year when they get a chance to see a football schedule played as it should be played at the Coliseum. While last year was the greatest in many ways, it was marred by the fact that the one big game of the year between Stanford and U.S.C., was played before either team was in top form. This year it will be different. And if Pop Warner can have his eleven playing like it did in the first half against California last November, the Trojans will have their hands full trying to win. Coach Jones ought to have a better team next fall than he did last season and there are going to be a lot of great contests, including not a few of considerable local interest, with the Grizzlies reaching out for greater worlds to conquer, as well as the Trojans. Attendance records, which were set in 1925, are likely to be exceeded almost every Saturday next year.

More local teams will be seen in action at the Coliseum next fall than has been the case previously. The Trojans, of course, will play a whole schedule of games there with Stanford and Notre Dame as the high spots, but the U.C. at L. A. Grizzlies will make their first appearance in the big concrete bowl, meeting Occidental and also Iowa State College. Occidental gets in for three games, one against the Trojans, one against the Grizzlies and one against Arizona. The first thing we know Zach Farmer will be forced to get out some kind of a season ticket and let the confirmed football fans reserve the same pair of seats for every Saturday from the last week in October to the middle of December. The Coliseum is rapidly increasing the total number of chronic football fans in this vicinity.

If the Boxing Commission hasn't anything more important on its judicial mind, it might put in a little time trying to find out what struck Messrs. Eddie Huffman and Antonio Fuente last Tuesday night to make them behave in the unseemly manner in which they did. They actually walked out of their corners and fought until one of them dropped. If that isn't against all history and precedent among the heavyweights our new jail's hard to get out of. If the commission could find out what possessed Huffman and Fuente to act that way and could then inoculate all other heavyweights with the same stuff, the commission would have justified itself for that reason alone. In our years in the sporting world we've seen a lot of rotten stalling by guys who were supposed to be fighters and about 90 per cent of it has been by heavyweights. Last Tuesday night's bout was a welcome change and should be encouraged.

You certainly have to hand it to Bud Houser for ability to rise to the occasion. Of course, that's nothing new about Bud, since he's been doing it for a long, long time, but his sensational put of over 50ft. last week to beat Gerkin of California is just another example of his propensity to do his best when absolutely necessary. According to our best information, Bud's best put in competition previous to the California meet was only slightly better than 46ft., and here he is tossing the darn thing 4ft. farther just because he figures he has to. If somebody could combine the physique of Norman Anderson, the skill and form of Tiny Hartranft and the Bunker Hill pep of Bud Houser that record of 51ft. Ralph Rose made many years ago would pale into insignificance beside the mighty heave of which this combination shot-putter would be capable.

TROJANS NEED THREE POINTS

Cromwell Sees Victory for Stanford Trackers

Local Athletes May Go Down Before Card Squad

Additional Second Position Would Aid U.S.C.

Wanted—Three points. Just one common, ordinary second place, or three thirds will be gladly welcomed. Anyone having information as to the whereabouts of these digits, call Dean Cromwell, track coach, University of Southern California.

If the eminent Mons. Cromwell, who is gradually returning to normalcy after his gratifying 82-to-49 victory over the California Golden Bears, can procure those 3 points before April 2 he figures he can defeat Stanford. The Cardinals are to furnish the local talent with opposition on the cinders in the north one week from Saturday, and as far as the Trojan mentor can figure it out, his team can amass just 63 points.

SIXTY-THREE BEST

Now it is a well-known fact that 131 points comprise a common track meet, and consequently 66 digits would insure the victory. After several hours of intensive plotting and planning, Cromwell wore out four pencils and used up half the paper in the student store in an effort to gain the necessary 66, but the best he could do for his athletes was a 63-point total, with 63 for the Cardinals and the relay yet to be run.

That all-important relay seems a cinch to fall into the hands of the Palo Alto athletes. Coach Dink Templeton has a bevy of 440 men of exceptional class and ability. Three of them have shaded 50s. already this year, and, with the running start that comes in so handy in the relay, could doubtless get down to 49s. flat. The trio in question are Storie, who has already done 49.5s. this season; Miller, and the indefatigable Bill Richardson. The fourth man will be Doerr, and even he could turn in a miserable 52s. and still wind up the event in 3m. 21s., which would just equal the best mark turned in by the Trojans to date. It seems reasonable to believe, however, that Doerr can step something better than 52s. Templeton can juggle his runners without any great difficulty, and have this quartet practically fresh and sans exertion for the relay.

There will be considerable depending upon Andrew Jackson Cook, who has somehow gained the nickname of Bill, and Clifton Reynolds. If Andrew can produce one of his very best tosses in the javelin and gain something besides third place, which is the best Cromwell can put him down for, considering the work of Shipkey and Harlow, both of whom have hurled the toothpick over 180ft., a load of some dimensions will be removed from Cromwell's shoulders.

Likewise, with Reynolds. One of his topnotch leaps would be good for perhaps a second in the broad jump. McRae of the Cards has done 23ft. 10in. and Meeks has chalked up 23ft. 2in. Clifton produced a remarkable effort to win from Bondabu of the Bears, and it may be that he can produce another similar stunt against the Cardinal duet. The eminent Morton Kaer will be on hand to lend some worth-while aid to Clifton in this event.

STRONG IN SPRINTS

Cromwell, still contemplating his athletes through a rosy haze, concedes Ed House and Herschell Smith positions one and two in the century and furlong. This against the fast stepping of Gaspar and Coverly, both of whom have run the event for the Cards in even time. Bob Lee will assist in the century, as will Brice Taylor, if he is eligible by that time. The return of the dusky-hued sprinter would occasion no little joy in the Trojan camp, as he is a dash man of no small ability.

Johnny Parsons will naturally cavort in the furlong, and it may be that he will make it 1-2-3 for the Trojans in that event as he did against California.

Storie and Miller can make it one-two for Stanford in the quarter, with Bruce Smith and Chink Sauers of the Trojans probably getting third. This pair stepped brilliantly behind Talbot of the Bears, but lack experience.

Bill Richardson should take the 880, with Percy Nierbach following him closely to the tape, and some other Cardinal in third.

Upon Ralph Shawhan depends the Trojan hopes in the mile. He will take this event alone against Kerr, the Stanford ace, leaving Les Heilman to battle his ancient rival in the two-mile. Kerr will probably win both battles, with the Trojans taking second honors on each occasion and the Cards third.

Dye and Reynolds figure to place first and third in the high hurdles, according to Cromwell, with West garnering second. Dean has awarded Mort Kaer second honors to Grumbles in the lows, which will probably occasion a howl from the Cards, who point to West and Spencer as a pair of wicked timber toppers. Kaer right now is in far better shape than he was against California, and is confident he can take second.

Barnes will naturally take the pole, but Stanford will grab four points; Houser and Alekal go one-three in the shot, and Capt. Bud is to take the discus.

That puts the score at 63-63, and the relay to go. If Cromwell can locate those three points somewhere, and put the score at 66 to 60, he won't care who wins the relay. And, for that matter, who would?

GONZAGA DEFEATS CALTECH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SPOKANE, March 25.—Gonzaga University's debating team defeated the team of the California Institute of Technology here last night in a debate on the question of the Federal child labor amendment. Gonzaga upheld the negative side of the question, "Resolved, That a Constitutional Amendment Should Be Enacted Giving Congress Power to Regulate Child Labor."

HIGH SCHOOLS IN MEET

Riverside Favorite in Annual Citrus Belt League Track and Field Championships Tomorrow

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, March 25.—Leading athletes from five Citrus Belt high schools will gather here tomorrow afternoon for the annual league track and field meet. The Citrus Belt schools annually turn out some of the best track and field performers in the West and several records are expected to fall Saturday. The Pomona College track will be in fine shape and with keen competition a few marks seem due to be replaced.

THREE CHOICES

Riverside High seems the logical favorite to cop the meet, although it will probably develop into a three-cornered fight between Riverside, Chaffey and San Bernardino. Pomona and Redlands, the other schools in the league, have weak teams this spring, and will not offer a great deal in the way of competition.

Coach Cunningham has three of his men back who won the Southern California championship for the Mission City last year. Carnahan in the distances, Patton in the weights and Akers in the sprints, are the veterans. Carnahan is easily one of the best prep 880 and mile men in the State, and has already turned the half in two minutes. He is good for close to 4 minutes 30 seconds for the longer run. Patton has shoved the shot 50 feet, and the discus 135 feet this season, while Akers has stepped the century in even time.

PAYNE HURDLES

San Bernardino will offer Payne in the hurdles and Adams in the sprints, as well as capable performers in the distance and middle distance runs. Payne has run the low sticks in 24.7s, while Adams has fast marks in both sprint events. Coach Kegley has a fine all-around team at Chaffey, with great strength in the field events.

Krehbiel is a capable hurdler, while Bond has already run the 880 yards in 3m. 4s. Wilcox of Chaffey, league champ in both sprints, has been bothered with a bad leg all season, and will not be in the best of shape for the meet. However, he should offer Akers of Riverside, Baynham of Pomona and Adams of San Bernardino close competition in both the century and furlong races.

TROJAN FRESHMEN DEFEAT MECHANICS

Aubrey Devine's Trojan freshman baseball team defeated the Polytechnic High squad, 4 to 1, yesterday. Jack Dillon featured, punching out two hits in three times, each being good for two bags. On most any park, his blows would have gone for homers, but closeness of the buildings stopped him. Guild was aided in the hurling by Faure and Schultz, and the Poly outfit was held to two blows. The next tilt on Manager Grant Flint's schedule calls for a trip to Huntington Park this afternoon for a game with the high school team of that city. Yesterday's score:

U.S.C. Frosh, 4; hits, 4; errors, 1. Polytechnic, 1; hits, 2; errors, 1. Batteries—Guild, Faure, Schultz and Kerr; Coogan and Stephens.

You Can't be Thrown

THROUGH the windshield you see a filled-in ditch crosswise of the road. Too late you apply the brakes to your car's 35 miles-an-hour. You brace, you clutch the wheel—and nothing happens. You are not thrown a bit. The vicious rebound of your car springs is controlled. You can't be thrown!

Such is the revelation of your first ride after equipping your car with Stabilators. And this feeling of utter security soon becomes a habit with you. You forget your past punishment of rough riding, and from then on you enjoy relaxed motoring.

Such cars as Cadillac, Franklin, Packard Eight, Chrysler Six and Imperial Six and many others are Stabilated as a standard factory feature.

TARIFF FOR DRAFTED

Committee Fixes Schedules

Use of Funds Delayed

Likin Among Peking

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
March 25.—Representatives of the powers in the interference on Chinese customs many weeks of comand in spite of civil war and the rapid fall of Chinese Cabinets, have reached an agreement on a new tariff schedule for China yet to agree with the disposition of the revenues to be devolved in complete substantial accord with demands made by the powers at the opening session last October, for the surtaxes ranging from 2½ per cent prior to the end of tariff autonomy to 1931. These schedules are to be discussed with the

Furthermore, the question of reaching an agreement with the Chinese government as to the purposes to which the revenues shall be put, the powers are fully determined they shall be employed before the abolition of likin or internal trade, which has undertaken to do at the service of

PUNISHED FOR SHORT SKIRTS

Daughter of Greek Judge Sentenced to Prison for Twenty-four Hours

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
ATHENS, March 25.—The first lady arrested for disobeying the long-skirt decree, daughter of a Greek judge and 20 years of age, has been sentenced to twenty-four hours in prison. About 3000 people escorted her to the court, which is in the municipal theater. Leaving for the prison, the girl said heroically:

"I will always wear short skirts."

bonds issued to cover China's outstanding unsecured or inadequately secured foreign and domestic debts, and for administrative purposes. The powers also demand that adequate assurances be given that the funds are so employed.

Consideration of this subject has been delayed by China's defaults on railway loans, particularly on the Hukuang Railways loan of 1911, and the Tien-tsin-Pukow bonds.

The terms under which these loans were negotiated contemplate that if there is a default of payment from the railway revenues, then the interest and installments due shall be paid from the surplus customs receipts. Already the defaults total $2,500,000 (Mexican) and if they continue throughout 1927, the total which will fall upon the customs will be $21,000,000 (Mexican.) The Mexican dollar is worth about 56 cents.)

OTHER DEFAULTS SEEN

Furthermore, holders of other railway bonds are insisting that defaults on these are inevitable and that a contingent fund be provided out of the customs to meet these, on the ground that the Chinese government has permitted the militarists to destroy the railway revenues.

A further reason for delay has been the unstable condition of the Peking government, which has prompted attempts to put new loans based on customs receipts ahead of China's existing debts. China's foreign creditors are insisting that she impose no new burdens on the customs which will take precedence over claims which have been due for years.

The international commission charged with studying the question of extraterritorial privileges in China has concluded its examination of the new law codes published by China. The members of the commission intend to sail from Tien-tsin on April 6 for Shanghai. There they will split into two groups, one going to Hankow and the other to Canton. Later they will return to North China and visit the Manchurian cities of Mukden and Harbin.

Official telegrams state that Gen. Chang Kai-shek, assisted by Dr. C. C. Wu and other prominent Chinese, has effected a coup d'etat in Canton, imprisoning Chinese and Russian Communists. Several Russians are reported to have been killed.

RUMANIAN KING AT CROSSROADS

Political Struggle Drawing to Head in Nation

Bratiano Cabinet's Term to Expire Tomorrow

Monarch Must Rename Him or Choose Another

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
VIENNA, March 25.—"How long will my dynasty endure—ten years?" King Ferdinand of Rumania put this question the other day to one of the opposition leaders.

"I replied," the opposition member said, "'It may be for fifty years, it may be for five—possibly even less. It all depends on Your Majesty.'"

The dependence on His Majesty is the essential characteristic in the troubled situation in Rumania today. The future not only of the dynasty but of the country depends on his policy.

The King now is confronted with the unavoidable necessity of making a fundamental decision. The underlying Rumanian political struggle, in which Prince Carol's abdication was only one incident, draws to a head. The mandate of the present Parliament and the term of office of the Bratiano Cabinet constitutionally expire on Saturday. The King must reinstate the old or form a new Cabinet for the purpose of holding elections within two months.

CHANGE POSSIBLE

It is a maxim in Rumanian politics that whoever the King calls to power—and the King can call anyone, regardless of party strength—is bound to win the elections.

This extraordinary power allows the King now, if he wishes, to change basically the regime which is undermining the health both of the dynasty and the country.

That is why present change of governments is of more than ordinary importance. It may be the King's last chance. Certain observers, whose pessimistic conclusions though plausible, are open to doubt, think it is already too late for a legal solution of Rumania's difficulties.

To see how real is the "volcano now smoking in Rumania," to quote the phrase of Prince Babu Stirbey, the much criticised "Queen's favorite," one must go to Bucharest.

In Bucharest itself the atmosphere of scandalmongering and intrigue, in which nearly all classes indulge, give the foreigner an impression of Balkan comic opera instead of a volcano. It is really a combination of both.

NEWS CURBED

To report the situation freely one must leave Rumania. Only news favorable to the existing regime is sure to be telegraphed from Bucharest.

After talking with the leaders and followers of the government and of the various opposition parties and with the leaders of the Hungarian and Jewish minorities, with Americans and other foreigners, long established in Bucharest, one hears there much that is circumstantial and mere gossip. From the mass of contradictory evidence some governing facts, however, stand out. The present crisis in Rumania is not merely a struggle between the ins and the outs. At bottom it is the much more vital issue between the old and the new. The war, by more than doubling the size and the population of Rumania, establishing universal suffrage in place of the old kingdom's highly restricted electoral system and dividing the large estates among the peasants, introduced new forces to shift the center of political and economic gravity of the prewar kingdom.

The Liberal party, which is really conservative—which has long ruled the old kingdom—not only has continued to hold exclusive power, but has succeeded in extending that power to a marked degree.

CHANGES LAW

It has methodically proceeded since the war to stifle the new forces while laying foundations meant to assure its permanent supremacy in the future. Politically it is built up by a powerful government machine and now that its term of office is expiring it is changing the election law in a manner to suit its need.

Economically it has assured its members control of the state bank and finance in general; thus through credit facilities it is making nearly all commerce and industry subservient to it.

Its members, either directly or through strategic positions, control the chief resources of the country—oils, minerals, forests, fisheries, etc.

One factor which could offset this power is the dynasty, and there the Liberal party's position is no less strong.

The only dynastic element that was dangerous to the Liberal supremacy was the former Crown Prince. That danger was removed by Prince Carol's abdication more effectually than is realized even in Rumania, where there is vague talk of restoring him eventually.

REAL IMPASSE

He cannot be restored legally. The new Crown Prince Michael would have to abdicate before Prince Carol can resume his place. Prince Michael is 4 years of age. He cannot abdicate while a minor and, according to the best legal opinion in Rumania, none, including the King and regents, lawfully can abdicate for him.

As two of the three regents are Liberals, it is evident that the Bratianos are assured of control of the dynasty as far as it is humanly possible.

For the highly artificial state affairs the King is held directly responsible. And as a result he has exposed both the dynasty and the country to grave dangers.

The primary need of post-war Rumania has been to consolidate the new kingdom. By maintaining the old regime in power the King has contrived to throw the population of the new territories into the opposition camp, thus dividing the country sectionally.

The two important parties are the Nationalists and Peasants. It is significant that the stronghold of the former is Transylvania, of the latter Bessarabia. Leaders of both parties say the rule of the present Rumanian government is worse than they formerly had under the Hungarians and Russians, respectively.

The Custom BLACK CALF

THE kind of a model usually chosen by the man who delights in his highly polished black shoes; a custom oxford of selected calfskin—genteel and with a nice refinement. The bit of perforating keeps it from being too conservative for young men. Same model in a rich tan—you'll want a pair of each.

Only $8.50

Atlantic City WING TIP

IT is the typical British brogue. The full wing tip gives it the swagger while the last is strictly conservative. The "breeze" of Spring is about this one—there's a mellow tone in its tan color impossible to reproduce here; there is an air of smartness about it which you will appreciate only when you see it on your own foot. Goodyear Wingfoot rubber heels for comfort.

Only $6.00

The Campus LIGHT TAN

HERE is the famous $6 shoe—what a value it is—too. Young men like its style—and its price fits young incomes. The color is light tan. It's built on the new Balloon model with perforations and extra stitching. Lots of comfort in this shoe with its roomy toe and Scotch extension edges. The wear is there, too. Goodyear Wingfoot rubber heels.

Only $8.50

The Dixie NUDE CALF

HERE is the new one—it is what the young men want—light in color like their Spring clothing. The leather is called "nude calf," being a light, tannish gray. Young men's models are a Selz specialty; they are designed by young men. Each season we feature one—this is the well-known Polo model with an extreme flange heel and new polished, halfround rolled edge. There is a similar model in black or tan.

STYLE LEADERS

Here are the Spring models recommended by

Selz

At this store you'll find the new shoes that will be worn by well dressed California men this Spring. There is a style and a price for every man -you'll find yours here.

These four shoes are the leaders - you'll see them this week in THE SATURDAY EVENING POST - they are in our windows - step in today or tomorrow and try them on.

JEWEL THEFTS SYSTEMATIZED

New York Gangster Reveals Elaborate Plans

Business Methods Applied by Crime Leaders

'Fence's' Appraisals Checked With Police Records

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 25. — The confession of Anthony Paladino, made public today, revealed that the Whittemore gang of jewel thieves functioned with the carefully planned precision of a business corporation.

Couched in the vernacular of gangland, the twenty-two-page document gave intimate details of scores of robberies that have puzzled police, and told of a criminal enterprise so completely organized that it overlooked no slightest step in the planning of a robbery and disposal of the plunder.

So smoothly did the organization work that only from one to four days were required for passing stolen goods to certain "fences" and distribution of the money to the gang members. Records were kept of the prices received and compared with newspaper estimates of the amounts stolen.

CRIME MADE EASY

The confession had been withheld by the District Attorney's office since the arrest of the gang several days ago for fear of the harm its publication would do to the youth of the country. The system outlined in the confession was characterized by Ferdinand Pecora, Assistant District Attorney, as "almost perfect." The document was replete with names and addresses of places robbed, names of those who took part in each crime and gave a complete account of the movements of the gangsters during Paladino's association with Whittemore.

It revealed that the gangsters carefully studied the "layout" of each jewelry establishment before robbing it. One member would "spy out the lay" of the interior by making a small purchase and others would "time" the place by loitering in the vicinity, taking note of the hours when the fewest people were about the store and in the street.

PRELIMINARY THEFTS

Having decided upon the place and the time for the crime, members of the gang would be sent out to steal automobiles especially for the job. These cars usually were abandoned [illegible] Paladino revealed that his task usually was that of binding the clerks and proprietors. Whittemore or one of the Kramer brothers usually planned the robbery, he said, and one of the three usually but not always arranged for the sale of the loot to a "buyer."

The names of the buyers were deleted from the confession.

Paladino's share for participation in the robberies ranged from a few hundred dollars to several thousand in each case, he said.

The gangsters always went armed but in none of the crimes reported in the confession did any member fire a shot. Resisting clerks or proprietors were silenced by a blow on the head with a pistol butt.

WOMAN IN CUSTODY AS GANG THIEF

Yreka Suspect Held in Series of Auto Thefts and Station Robberies

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

YREKA, March 25.—Mrs. E. L. Weston, a suspected leader of a ring of automobile and service-station thieves which operated in three States and obtained approximately $100,000 in loot, is under arrest here. Mrs. Faye McCrossin, another supposed ringleader, was arrested at Klamath Falls, Or., but is reported to have escaped from the Sheriff there.

The arrest of Mrs. Weston was announced by Sheriff Calkins. He denied reports that Mrs. McCrossin was also under arrest here.

Mrs. C. E. Weston, a supposed member of the gang, is in custody at Stockton and the arrest of her brother-in-law, E. L. Weston, husband of the Yreka suspect, is expected.

The male members of the gang are asserted to have posed as mining promoters and the women as motion-picture actresses to cover up their activities. C. E. and E. L. Weston were arrested at Anderson a year ago on a charge of wholesale bootlegging, and are out on bail from the Anderson court.

KLAMATH FALLS (Or.) March 25.—Escape of Mrs. Faye McCrossin, asserted bandit band member, from Sheriff's deputies here, is without explanation.

Charles E. Morrill of the California State Department of Identification, together with Sheriff A. S. Calkins of Yreka, Cal., wired here Tuesday night informing Sheriff Hawkins they held warrants for her arrest and asking she be placed in jail here.

Instead, Hawkins placed two deputies over the woman as guard in the house she was occupying and she disappeared.

PROBATION SOUGHT FOR AIDE OF FORBES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, March 25.—A petition for probation for John W. Thompson, wealthy St. Louis contractor who was convicted with Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, was filed today. Thompson is understood to be seriously ill in St. Louis and the petition alleged that imprisonment might prove fatal.

FUNERAL HALTED BY POLICE

Strange Love Tangle Revealed in Suicide of Girl and Arrest of Parents

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

JERSEY CITY, March 25.—The suicide of a 19-year-old girl revealed an amazing love mix-up, consisting of the victim, her mother, stepfather and sweetheart, when Jersey City police today halted the funeral of Edith Hill while detectives grilled her parents. Edith killed herself, the authorities are convinced, because her mother threatened to tell her fiancee of her affair with her stepfather.

Not least among the tragedy's bizarre details is the supposed admission of Mrs. George Zimmer, the mother, that she once offered to divorce her husband and let him wed Edith if he would pay her $3000.

Just as pallbearers were about to take the casket containing the girl's body from the undertaker's chapel, Inspector Underwood and Capt. O'Connor walked in and quietly ordered the proceedings to stop.

An astounded clergyman closed his book. Startled mourners arose and left hurriedly. Mrs. Zimmer and her husband were taken to police headquarters, Edith's body to the morgue.

GAS FATAL

Edith was found unconscious in bed at the Zimmer home last Sunday morning, overcome by gas escaping from a heater. After several hysterical refusals, Mrs. Zimmer finally consented to Edith's being taken to a hospital. She died there Monday.

Perfunctory questioning of the Zimmers led to the conclusion the asphyxiation was accidental. It was so reported and a burial permit issued.

CRIME MADE EASY

But neighbors talked. Matters in the Zimmer household had long been a subject for gossip. Someone informed the police.

Among the first bits of new information detectives drew from Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer was that two letters written by Edith before she retired Saturday night were found at her bedside.

One was addressed to William Weber of Dunellen, N. J., Edith's sweetheart, the other to no one in particular.

"TELL MOTHER"

"Dear Bill," ran the one to Weber, "do not mind what other people say. I love you very much. Some time tell my mother that I was always alone. Edith."

The other letter was as follows:

"This is as my mother wished, and I, being dead, she knows now that it is true. Nothing ever between stepfather and myself. Edith."

Zimmer explained he had concealed the letters because he did not wish to bring down upon the family the disgrace he felt suicide would entail.

Edith came from Germany last July. Her father had died there, and her mother had come to America ahead of her, marrying Zimmer, a year and a half ago. Zimmer was a widower, his first wife having leaped to death from a hospital window here in 1916.

Last October Mrs. Zimmer admitted she drove Edith from home.

"I found letters," she said, "from my husband to my daughter. They were love letters."

She had saved them and gave them to the police.

SEEKING "MOTHER OF GOLD"

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SOCORRO (N. M.) March 25.—What an adventure it must be to set out in search of a storehouse of gold far richer than all the fable wealth of King Solomon's mines, far richer than all the minted yellow metal in the world today, a ledge of pure gold more than twenty miles long and of varying width and unknown depth outcropping the surface of the mountain. It was to search for this vast treasure that a band of young men, headed by Manuel Bojeca, a veteran guide, left Socorro a few days ago. With them they took a train of pack mules loaded with food supplies, picks and other necessary equipment for a long stay in the mountains.

The purpose of this expedition, like many others that have gone before it, is to discover what is known all over the Southwest as "Adams's Diggins." It is more than a legend—this story of the existence of what many people believe is really the mother lode of gold of all the Southwest. It is situated somewhere in the Northwest corner of New Mexico, according to most authentic accounts, particularly the one left by Adams, which is the real basis for the unremitting search for the mysterious wealth that has been going on for many years.

Adams was a freighter in Arizona and New Mexico, sixty to seventy years ago. No one today remembers much about him, not even his first name, and but for the account that he gave of the search which resulted in the discovery of the "diggins" that are believed to have come from the main ledge of gold, his name would have long ago been lost to fame.

For more than thirty years W. H. Byerts of Socorro spent much of his time investigating the story which Adams told him of this fabulous gold deposit. Byerts was convinced of the truth of the account given by Adams. As a matter of record, Byerts put what Adams had to say on the subject into written form.

The Adams story had its beginning in 1864, while he was freighting through Southwestern Arizona. Following theft of his horses by Indians, he went to the Pima village. Arriving there he found much excitement over gold finds. A half-breed Indian expressed amusement over the prospectors' excitement and asserted he could take them to a place where they could obtain unlimited quantities of the precious metal.

The half-breed was questioned and drew maps setting forth the location of the gold. Finally he declared his willingness to risk his life, if necessary, to prove his assertions. He was asked if he would sign a document that he would be shot if he could not show what he had promised. He quickly answered that he would, so documents were drawn up.

Adams joined the party, guided by the half-breed, and they traveled for five days. The Indian finally said they were within sixteen or eighteen miles of their destination and selected a spot to camp, stating that they would go to the gold the following day. They pitched camp a short distance from where Geronimo and a band of Indians were located. There some of the prospectors found considerable quantities of gold, but the guide declared this was nothing to what they would find the following day.

The next day there was the wildest excitement as great quantities of the yellow metal were disclosed. Subsequently it was arranged that part of the outfit should go to Fort Wingate for supplies, while the others should busy themselves in the camp.

Adams and a companion noted that the Indians, previously friendly, had suddenly departed from the vicinity. The two thereupon decided to set out to meet the supply detachment. They had only proceeded a few miles when they heard shouting and screaming. Advancing they saw the Indians killing the members of the party. Hurrying back to the camp they saw a horrifying spectacle. The heads of their companions were extended on high poles, while bucks and squaws were dancing about with the old, familiar war whoop.

Traveling only by night the pair made their way toward the Pima village in Arizona, finally going to Los Angeles. There Adams drew maps, gave full details of his journey from beginning to end and all the particulars of what had happened, including the names of the men. Not long after his arrival in Los Angeles he was taken ill with typhoid fever and it was many months before he recovered. On recovery he organized a company to hunt the lost mines, but was unable to locate them.

Adams lived many years after this and went with different parties in search of the mines, but never found them.

SCOFFS AT FARM-AID PROPOSAL

House Democrat Asserts Only Relief Lies in Lower Tariff Rates

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Farm-relief discussion overflowed today from the House Agriculture Committee to the floor of the House, where Representative Greenwood, Democrat, Alabama, asserted that "this administration is not going to give us any farm relief."

"These reformers from the corn belt," he said, "might as well be honest, face the facts, and realize that the tariff must be lowered before they can compete with industry."

John Tromble of Kansas, representing the National Board of Farm Organizations, urged the committee today to accept corn-belt bill to stabilize crops by levying an equalization fee on them to finance the surplus.

With completion of his testimony the delegation representing middle-western and national farm organizations, announced that it will call only two or three more witnesses. Chairman Haugen indicated, however, that a number of witnesses will be heard in opposition to the measure. He also reminded the committee that there are more than a dozen other relief bills pending, all widely divergent, on which hearings have been asked.

In his address to the House Representative Greenwood said farmers should have learned that a high tariff had not benefited them, since they are "facing bankruptcy."

"The tariff is such a good thing," he added, "why not make it higher—surely the farmer can stand more prosperity?"

BOONE'S FAMOUS TREE WILL BE PRESERVED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, March 25.—Modern tree surgery is being employed to save the "judgment tree" near the home of Daniel Boone in St. Charles county, several miles west of this city. The old stone house made by Boone and his sons is being restored to its original state, and the tree, too, was found to be in need of attention. Its trunk is hollow and many of its branches are dead. It is believed it will receive new life with expert workmanship. The elm, which is said to be at least 250 years of age, is where Boone once held open-air court to settle neighborhood disputes.

MURDER BY DEVIL CULT RIDICULED

Oakland Officer States Recluse Probably Slain by Enemy or Thief

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, March 25.—Capt. R. V. McSorley of the Oakland police, who is in charge of the investigation into the so-called "devil-worship" murder of Macario Timon, goat-raising recluse, tonight described as "apple-sauce" statements that Timon may have been killed by members of some order or sect.

Timon, who lived in a shack alone, was found slain last week with his throat cut. Reports to newspapers said books and manuscripts of a cabalistic nature, indicating membership in some weird secret order, had been found among the man's effects. Among these was a letter addressed to "Lucifer," signed by Timon and believed possibly to have been written in blood. Another book written in a Latin language and believed by some to be a ritual, also was found.

Continued investigation today led police to believe, they said, that Timon was a bootlegger, deriving most of his revenue from selling geese, goats and wine. They scoffed at the idea that he was a cult murder victim and said that more than likely he was killed by some personal enemy or by a thief in a fight.

Investigators also said that most of the books and papers were in Spanish and not of a recent date and that they probably represented Timon's interest in occult things and were probably purchased by him from some dealer in old books.

"We have found no evidence whatsoever of the existence here of an order of 'devil-worshipers' or any such organization," Capt. McSorley said.

FOUR HELD BY MEXICO IN MURDER

Consul, After Inquiry in American's Death, Says Officials Doing Utmost

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—Four Mexican have been placed in jail at Ixtlan under charges in connection with the recent murder of Rex McIlpone, an American, near Ixtlan, William P. Blocker, American Consul at Mazatlan, reported to the American Embassy today. Another Mexican, Remigio Ruelas, already was held charged with the murder of Joe Hall, an American employed by the Mexican National Railways, last Monday near Ixtlan.

Consul Blocker made a personal investigation at Ixtlan and Tepic regarding the two murders. Afterward he telegraphed the Embassy that the Mexican Federal and State authorites were doing their utmost to capture all those involved in the murders of Hall and McIlpone and the wounding of E. H. Heidenkamp, another American, who was with McIlpone.

The Embassy received a note from the Foreign Office today saying that President Calles himself has ordered that the greatest possible effort be made to apprehend those who attacked the Americans and that the government is doing everything possible.

Heidenkamp is reported to be recovering from five knife wounds. Robbery apparently was the motive of the attack on McIlpone and Heidenkamp.

CANADA EXPORTS GROW

Imports from United States Rival Those from England

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OTTAWA (Ont.) March 25.—The United Kingdom purchases from Canada during the twelve months ending February amounted to $502,000,000. This was $109,000,000 more than the United Kingdom purchased in the previous twelve months from Canada, and $29,000,000 more than purchased from Canada by the United States.

On the other hand, Canada bought from the United States in the twelve months goods to the value of $597,000,000 as against imports from the United Kingdom valued at $162,000,000.

Exports of Canadian goods in the last twelve months were $1,297,000,000, an increase over the previous twelve months of $231,000,000. Imports were $911,000,000, an increase of $112,000,000.

BATH SANS SHADES SANCTIONED

Judge Rules Man Has Right to Ablutions Without Curtain on Windows if Action Lacks Indecent Motive and Therefore Reverses Conviction and Fine

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) March 25.—If a man wants to take a bath in his own home without pulling down the window shade, it is his own business, so long as he has no indecent motive. So the Criminal Court of Appeals ruled today in reversing the case of R. W. McKinley of Tahlequah who had been fined $25 in a lower court on a charge of indecent exposure.

McKinley, a recluse living a few miles from Tahlequah, had accustomed himself to a life of simplicity, presiding Judge Besly said. And then Mary Schmelzla and her husband moved into a house on adjoining property.

But the recluse paid no attention to the newcomers and continued to prepare his morning meal without bothering about clothes or window shades. Mrs. Schmelzla appealed to county officers and caused McKinley's arrest. Conviction and fine were followed by appeal to the higher court.

The court ruled that criminal intent was lacking and that mere negligence was not enough to convict him of the crime charged.

Others composers who have received the medal are Charles Wakefield Cadman, Victor Herbert, W. Frank Harling, Aldo Franchetti, Carter, DeLeone, Stearns, Hugo, Lyford, Patterson, Stewart, Hadley, Converse and McCoy.

Operas by Harling and Franchetti were presented last season by the Chicago Civic Opera Company, which next season will produce Cadman's "The Witch of Salem."

TINTED CLOUD FLUTTERS NORTH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PALO ALTO, March 25.—A cloud of butterflies, tinseled like a bank of sunset mist, is moving northward over the peninsula in a fluttering migration to no one knows where. Nothing like it has been seen in this region before. Automobile windshields are being obscured by the tiny travelers, all of whom seem to be of the "painted lady" variety. The butterflies, flying in a thick mass, start off at dawn and cover about fifteen miles a day. They settle down each nightfall to a feast of weeds and wild flowers. At no time do they settle at any point where they might do damage to growing crops.

TEACHES WOMEN POLITICS

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Seven years of educational effort to persuade women to use the ballot, now that they have it and to use it to the best advantage, will culminate in the convention of the League of Women Voters at St. Louis, April 14-21, next. The energies of the national headquarters of the league at Washington are being directed to planning this seventh annual convention so that it will cover the whole sphere of women's part in national, State and local government.

The League is the outgrowth of the Equal Suffrage campaign. When its members were struggling for suffrage, they had a single, direct purpose which attracted wide attention. Today with the ballot granted them, they have a hundred tasks of education to teach women voters what can be done with the suffrage which is theirs. The St. Louis convention will demonstrate whether seven years of education in the use of the ballot is getting the results anticipated.

A new campaign to get out the vote, and all of the vote, including all of the women, for the 1926 congressional campaigns and the various State and local elections, will be planned at St. Louis and put in operation immediately because there are spring primary elections in a number of States.

The women leaders are trying to teach women to do their voting at the source of political power, which lies in the caucuses, conventions, and primaries, as well as in the general elections. The League publishes and distributes pamphlets showing women when and how to register in the various States, and when primaries are held, and urges them to all vote every time there is occasion for exercising their rights as citizens.

The St. Louis convention program is classified under eight principal headings, "Efficiency in Government," "Public Welfare in Government," "Education," "Costs of Living," "Social Hygiene," "Women in Industry," "Legal Status of Women," and "International Co-operation to Prevent War."

These subjects make it plain that the League is not a radical organization. It is not trying to cure all the troubles of the world at one stroke. The women who are its members and its officers are treating the right to vote as a responsibility, and trying to learn how to use that responsibility for the welfare of the country. They admit that women have not made full use of the ballot since it was granted to them, but they point out that all of the men do not vote, and assert the women have made a fairly good showing considering the short time they have been voters.

The League is not asking a lot of political offices for women just because they are women. It is urging the women to take their places in public affairs because they are voters and citizens, not just because they are feminine. There will be talks on the practical side of politics at the St. Louis gathering by women who have been successful in public affairs. Among these will be Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, Asst. U. S. Atty.-Gen. Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Member of Congress from Massachusetts, and Miss Marie Wing, member of the Cleveland City Council.

One thing the League is aiming to accomplish through all of its State and local branches is the simplification of election laws. It wants a simple registration law everywhere, and shorter ballots at elections. Its officers point out that the men need this as much as the women. Only 51 per cent of the voters took part in the Presidential election of 1924, and this was an increase of only about 2 per cent over 1920 in spite of all the efforts to get out a big vote. The vote in 1926 will be much less, as no President is to be chosen, unless the voters are educated to the fact that it is quite as important to vote for Senators and Representatives in Congress, and for Governors and members of State Legislatures.

Being entirely nonpartisan, the League can urge its members to vote in the primaries of whatever party they choose to support. Its literature points out that in many places the nomination of the prevailing party is equal to election, and the party primaries, or caucuses and conventions, are the real determining point in government.

The attitude of the League on the question of world peace is typical of its effort to get results through established channels instead of trying to upset the whole course of government in order to effect reforms. The League is not agitating for extreme pacifist measures, but is teaching intelligent support of the World Court and of plans for international agreements for reducing armaments.

Britain to Buy $75,000 Site for Embassy

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, March 25.—Great Britain has appropriated 15,000 pounds ($75,000) this year as the first payment for the acquisition of a site for the erection of new embassy buildings in Washington, according to the details of the civil service estimates just published. A further sum of 15,000 pounds ($75,000) is to be appropriated later to complete the Washington building program, which is only part of a general program in other capitals. The new buildings are to have a net cost of 103,000 pounds ($515,000.)

How King George is setting an example for government economy is shown by the estimates. The royal palaces, including Westminster, Buckingham, Frogmore and Marlborough House will show a maintenance saving of 12,500 pounds ($62,500) this year over last. The royalty figures show the costs to the British taxpayers will be 107,000 pounds ($535,000) this year.

Trade Secretary Asks Apology of Turlock Pastor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, March 25.—In a letter to Rev. D. H. McCullagh, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Turlock, Clement J. Tobin, secretary of the Turlock Chamber of Commerce, demands a public apology for remarks attributed to the clergyman at a meeting of the Good Government League last week. At the meeting, the minister is said to have asserted that Tobin had "led a skirmish to make Turlock a wide-open town" by favoring a City Council that would liberalize prohibition enforcement. Three members are to be elected to the City Council on April 12, next, and Tobin's letter has further intensified feeling relative to the election.

Rev. McCullagh states that he will make no apology.

CLARK CALLS REUNION OF ARIZONA PIONEERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 25.—President Charles M. Clark has issued a call for a meeting on April 13 and 14, next, of the Arizona Pioneers' Association. As has been the case in the past, the old residents will be guests of the Arizona Republican at a reunion and barbecue in Riverside Park. It has been announced that entrance will be limited to those who came to Arizona not later than the last day of 1890.

Lawmakers in Italy May Not Block Parties

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, March 25.—Members of the Chamber of Deputies who try expressing their individualities against the dictates of the Party Directorate are either suspended from the party for indeterminate periods or expelled outright, a punishment which usually means the end of their political careers.

No fewer than seven Deputies have been expelled and three suspended as a result of Secretary Farinacci's campaign to weed out party members who insist on having opinions of their own. They are: expelled; Edoardo Torre, Massimo Rocca, Gio Batta Rebora, Battista Boldo, Tommaso Benassi, Aldo Oviglio, and Michele Terzaghi; suspended; Pietro Bolson, Pietro Pisanti and Amadeo Belloni.

TAFT ENTERTAINS FLEET OF AIRPLANES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAFT, March 25.—Taft will be visited by a fleet of six of Uncle Sam's airships, accompanied by twelve men of the squadron in command of Lieut. Hussey tomorrow. The ships are scheduled to arrive at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and will land at the airport constructed near this city several months ago.

At 7 o'clock the aviators will be the guests of the Taft Kiwanis Club, this club having changed its weekly meeting to Friday night for the purpose of entertaining the aviators.

SLAYERS PAY PENALTY

Pair Electrocuted for Murder of School Superintendent

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MILLEDGEVILLE (Ga.) March 25.—Ted L. Coggeshall, Clayton, Ill., died in the electric chair here today for the murder a year ago of Prof. W. C. Wright, superintendent of schools of Putnam county.

Floyd McClelland, Brockton, N. Y., who confessed to participation in the same crime a few hours before his time to pay the extreme penalty, was put to death later.

Sam Scarborough, Tampa, Fla., third member of the group which took Prof. Wright's life, turned State's evidence following his capture and said Coggeshall and McClelland struck the blows that killed Wright. Scarborough was given a life sentence.

CANADIANS TO ADOPT NEW FUMIGATION PLAN

THEN AMERICAN PORT OFFICIALS WILL ACCEPT DOMINION SHIP CERTIFICATES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 25.—By an agreement reached between the Health Department of Canada and the United States officials, Canada is to adopt the cyanide system of fumigation of vessels in the future, instead of the present sulphur plan, and American port officials are to accept Canadian fumigation certificates as soon as the Canadian system is brought up to the high standard of that in the United States, which will be next month.

Until the system is in good working order the vise of the United States doctor at the Canadian port where the fumigation is done will be necessary.

Heretofore this port has been served by a half-time fumigation officer who got $10 a ship, and his income for a year would amount to about $1500 as about 150 ships were fumigated each year. Under the new system a full time with full pay officer has been appointed the new man being Dr. J. Cox of Williams Head quarantine station.

FEDERAL COMMISSION TO STUDY COTTON PEST

AREAS IN ARIZONA SAID TO BE INFESTED WITH BOLL WEEVIL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 25.—Investigation is to be made at once of local thurberia boll weevil conditions by a Federal commission, including R. B. Coad of Tallulah, La., of the Bureau of Entomology, F. S. Puckett of Houston, Tex., of the Federal Horticultural Board, and B. B. Jenkins of Washington. According to the Arizona Commission of Agriculture and Horticulture, Santa Cruz Valley cotton fields are quit egenerally infested, with inclusion of areas in the Tumacacori, Continental, Sahuarita and Postvale sections, the last being farthest west. Statement is made also that the Dos Cabezas, Chiricahua and other mountain ranges of Southeastern Arizona are weevil infested. It happens that several of the Santa Cruz Valley areas referred to had exceptionally large crops of medium-staple cotton during the past year, and the fields appeared to show no damage from insect activities.

Fishing Craft Fired Upon by Patrol Boats

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 25. With peculiar little newly puttied holes in her pilot house and other signs of conflict later confirmed by members of her crew the schooner Chief Skugaid arrived back from California where she has been since last November.

The Chief Skugaid cleared for sea fisheries, which is always understood to mean the halibut banks on the British Columbia coast. Members of the crew told a weird tale of being chased by patrol boats. The patrol boats fired on the Skugaid and left lead marks on smoke stack and pilot house. After the Skugaid got away from the patrol boats, and was passing a tanker in the dark, according to members of the crew, somebody on the tanker took a rifle shot at the little boat, and the crew saw visions of being chased by a new style of patrol vessel. No person was hurt.

Once on a return trip from delivering a cargo the Chief Skugaid was searched by patrol officers, but as she had nothing on board she was allowed to go.

SAYS PUBLIC CREATES COLLEGES' PROBLEM

HARVARD PRESIDENT EXPLAINS HOW ERRONEOUS IMPRESSIONS ARISE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, March 25.—The problem that is confronting the colleges and universities of the United States today is not one of the students but of the public, according to Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, who spoke before the University Club here.

"So long as the public thinks that college consists of only what it sees—that is, 50,000 young folks at a football game—it is going to be difficult to convince the public that college is a serious business," he explained. The subject of Dr. Lowell's talk was, "Are We taking Education Seriously?"

CARRY FORWARD MARRIAGE PLAN

Ceremony Performed in Visalia Hospital

Tulare County Grand Jury Begins Work

Rescued from Fire to be Put in Jail

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, March 25.—Quite a flutter of unusual interest was occasioned in the Kaweah Hospital when Harry French of Sacramento and Miss Zolia Clifton of Visalia were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. L. Karstaedt, pastor of the First Christian Church, at the bedside of Miss Clifton.

The bride was taken to the hospital on Sunday following an injury sustained when she slipped and fell on some rocks while on an outing in the mountains. The wedding had been arranged and everything was ready, so the happy couple went through with their plans, except that setting of the event was changed to the hospital room instead of the bride's home here.

The groom's mother and brother, Mrs. E. C. French and Charles French, both of Sacramento, were in attendance.

GRAND JURY AT WORK

VISALIA, March 25.—John H. Turner, executive secretary of the Tulare County Tuberculosis Association of Lindsay, will act as foreman of the Tulare county grand jury for 1926. The jury was summoned and drawn by Superior Judge W. B. Wallace. It went into executive session at once, devoting the first meeting to organization and appointment of committees.

Complete personnel of the grand jury is as follows: John H. Turner, C. H. Doyle, Joseph J. Sherman, Mrs. Darl E. Wolf, Mrs. Genevieve Rosenthal, Mrs. Lois E. Shippey, Mrs. Lulu May De Witt, J. V. Guerin, Thomas Homer, Mrs. Cora E. Walls, Mrs. Lou A. Mackey, Lloyd B. Wallace, Earl B. McPherson, Mrs. Jennie Lee Floyd, L. C. Hyde, Mrs. Della Allen, John E. Scoggins, Mrs. Faye H. Askin and Fred Maxon.

FROM FIRE TO JAIL

WOODLAKE, March 25.—Carl Western, 18 years of age, rescued from a bed which he was believed to have set on fire during an asserted drunken sleep, was taken to Visalia and lodged in the Tulare County Jail following his arrest and was charged with possession and drunkenness.

Western went to bed in the Mission block, where he had a room. Shortly afterwards Albert Lucas entered his room to retire, only to discover it occupied by Western and the bed on fire. Lucas extinguished the flames and sought another bed, leaving Western in possession of his. Later Mrs. McNaught, the landlady, smelled smoke and investigating saw flames through the transom. Opening the door she wakened Lucas, who was almost suffocated by the smoke, but who helped drag Western to safety. Western's hands were burned and his clothing scorched. A bottle of liquor is said to have been found in his clothing and he is declared to have been intoxicated.

MANY CANDIDATES

DINUBA, March 25.—Several local citizens have come out as candidates in the coming elections. R. L. Perry, incumbent, and Dr. C. A. Tillotson are opposed in the race for position as high school trustee of the Dinuba union district. Dr. Paul R. Walters, another well-known physician, seeks the position of trustee in the elementary school district.

Four men are mentioned as possible candidates for the city election. They are Roy D. Dewhirst, now fire chief; Milton Seligman, merchant; Dr. J. H. Shouldice, grower and shipper of fruit, and Tracy Rose, incumbent, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of M. L. Kelly, resigned.

PRESENT CLASS PLAY

STRATHMORE, March 25.—Seniors of Strathmore Union High School will present their class play Friday evening, March 26, at the high school auditorium. "The Boomerang" has been chosen this season as a vehicle to display talent of the budding artists. The cast has been working industriously for some time and is prepared to give an excellent presentation.

The cast includes: Miss Betty Barclay, lead; James Davidson, Dorothy Shaw, Thomas Wilcox, Doris Wineman, Lummie Scott, Howard Frans, Naomi Pursell, Kenneth Boyer, Lawrence Hefner and Henry Deutch.

FORESTRY DEAN WILL BE AT ROME PARLEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, March 25.—George W. Peavy, dean of the school of forestry, will sail from New York for Rome on the S. S. Aquitania, April 14, next, to attend the international forestry conference from April 28 to May 3. He plans to leave here April 1. Dean Peavy will be an accredited representative of the western division of the Society of American Foresters and the Oregon State Board of Forestry. Immediately following the conference he will go to France, Sweden and Germany where he will spend three months studying forestry conditions. This survey will take him into the remote regions of these countries where actual forestry is being done.

EASTER EGG ROLLING PLANNED IN PHOENIX

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 25.—The White House ceremonial of Easter egg rolling, plus an egg hunt will be brought to Phoenix on the afternoon of April 3, next, by the junior department of the Woman's Club, which will be assisted by the Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association and Boy Scouts. More than 1000 gayly colored eggs will be used and it is expected that several thousand of the city's youth will participate.

ENCAMPMENT SCHEDULED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 25.—The Arizona encampment of United Spanish War Veterans is to be conducted in Tucson May 7, 8 and 9. W. C. Hathaway of Douglas is department commander.

"DIRECT-U" will direct you to the places that sell Wickwire Clothes or any advertised product. Write or phone The Times, MEtropolitan 0700.

REMINDED OF ANNIVERSARY

Oregon Official Finds Record of Marriage Thirty Years Ago and Wires Wife

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ASTORIA (Or.) March 25. Sam Kozer, secretary of the State of Oregon, here on an official visit from Salem was poring over the records in search of some data for his office when he ran across record of his marriage license, issued thirty years ago to the day. Thus reminded of his anniversary he squared matters with Mrs. Koser by wire.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, March 25.—Half-Moon Lake at Eau Claire is four feet below its normal level as the result of the washing away last night of the dam at the lower end, where it empties into the Chippewa River.

Mystery as to the whereabouts of August Zimmermerchied, 59 years of age, prominent Oshkosh business man who disappeared from his home last October, was cleared today, when his body was taken from the Fox River. Relatives say he had been in poor health.

OMAHA

OMAHA, March 25.—James Perry White, 72 years of age, a resident of Omaha for twenty-six years, died at his home, 201 Turner Boulevard. For many years Mr. White had been connected as route agent with the American Railway Express Company. He had retired more than a year ago.

DES MOINES

DES MOINES, March 25.—For the second time within a week, Dalton E. Cox, real estate and insurance agent, was arrested on charges of embezzlement. A few moments before the second arrest, Cox had been freed on the first charges—filed against him by Mrs. E. G. Hutton, 1821 Eleventh street, who asserted that she had been defrauded of $150. Mrs. Hutton failed to prosecute. The new information charges him with the embezzlement of $1900 from Mrs. G. W. Curwen, 1811 Tenth street.

Decrease in corn acreage and increases in oats, spring wheat, potatoes and hay make up the Iowa farm program this season, according to Leslie M. Carl, agricultural statistician. The estimated corn acreage this year is at 10,907,000 acres as compared to 11,130,000 last year. The oats increase is from 6,089,000 acres to 6,270,000. It is estimated that 3,215,000 acres of hay will be harvested against 3,152,000.

Mrs. Caroline A. Hastings, 80 years of age, wife of Henry Hastings, died at Council Bluffs where she had resided twenty-five years.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, March 25.—Rollin Beecher Ballard, 57 years of age, Minneapolis investment broker and prominent in Masonic and Episcopal Church circles, today is dead, the victim of carbon monoxide gas poisoning. His body was found by Mrs. Ballard in their son's garage at 2424 Humboldt avenue south, where Mr. Ballard had gone to do some repair work on his automobile.

Mrs. Adolph Duevel, 72 years of age, a resident of the city for seventy years, died at her home, 1255 Oliver avenue, after a short illness. She was the wife of Adolph Duevel, who has been editor of the Minneapolis Freie Presse-Herald, a German newspaper, for more than fifty years.

J. C. Brainerd, 82 years of age, pioneer banker and a member of the 1895 Legislature, died at Blooming Prairie from heart disease. Until a few years ago he was actively engaged in business here under the firm name of J. C. Brainerd & Co.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, March 25.—Dr. Llewellyn Powell Durrett, 55 years of age, a practicing physician in Louisville for thirty-five years, died at St. Anthony's Hospital, where he underwent an operation three weeks ago.

All Shelbyville schools were closed upon advice of County Health Officer W. Harmon Nash after yesterday's session when it was found that 125 pupils were absent in the grade schools and 65 absent in the high school. This precaution is used in an endeavor to stamp out the number of new cases of colds and grip growing greater every day.

Judge J. F. Dempsey, 76 years of age, of Madisonville former railroad commissioner from the first railroad commissioner's district of Kentucky, former county judge, retired lawyer, and prominent politician, died in Daytona Beach, Fla., as the result of a stroke of paralysis. Judge Dempsey and Mrs. Dempsey had been wintering in Florida.

DETROIT

DETROIT, March 25.—Albert L. Stephens, 68 years of age, one of the outstanding figures in the lumber industry of Michigan, and prominent in banking and club circles for the past thirty-five years, died at his home in Grosse Pointe, after a long illness.

Mrs. Abbie Fraser, 81 years of age, widow of former Circuit Judge Robert E. Fraser, died at her home, 139 Blaine avenue. Mrs. Fraser was prominent in church and club circles in the city.

A committee of five business men will be appointed at Grand Rapids this week by the Association of Commerce to co-operate with J. P. Van Zandt, of the Stout Air Services, Inc., Detroit, in obtaining a sufficient number of concerns to underwrite satisfactory business for the commercial airplane service between Detroit and Grand Rapids which is to be established about May 1. Meanwhile, the civilian committee in charge of the Kent county landing field is arranging at the field for, two 3000-foot runways and for an adequate waiting room, office, storehouse and hangar.

With seven deaths reported yesterday, a special warning was issued by the Ypsilanti Health Department regarding the prevalence of pneumonia, which has reached almost the proportions of an epidemic. The pneumonia followed an outbreak of influenza which is estimated to have caused 1000 cases of illness at one time in Ypsilanti during the past two weeks.

AKRON

AKRON, March 25.—Establishment in Akron of an assembling plant, with an estimated capacity of more than 150,000 automobile tire valves a day, was announced by officials of A. Schrader's Sons, Inc., of Ohio. Contract for the building, which will be adjacent to the company's present warehouse at Arlington and Johnston streets, has been awarded. The cost will be approximately $300,000.

Marking first steps in the construction of Akron's $3,750,000 sewage disposal plant at Botzum, the contract for 305,000 tons of stone, to be used in the huge filters, was awarded today to the Wagner Quarries Company of Sandusky. The amount of the bid is $564,250.

PLAN YOSEMITE TRIP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, March 25.—Tuolumne county motorists are setting themselves up as the "early birds" by announcing the date of their third annual run to Yosemite Valley as Saturday, May 22, next. The run will be sponsored by the Tuolumne County Chamber of Commerce, which has named B. L. Welton as chairman of the committee on arrangements.

TIBET TITTERS AT OUR "PIG EARS"

Americans' Fat Noses Also Amuse Beauties of Far-off Land

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, March 25.—Flappers of France, Great Britain and America would win no prizes in Tibetan beauty contests, says Mrs. Louis M. King in her book, "We Tibetans." She is Tibetan-born.

"Westerners are not good-looking, according to our standards," says the Tibetan woman. "Your noses are too big, and often stick out like kettle spouts; your ears too large, like the pig's ears; your eyes blue, like children's marbles; your eye-sockets are too deep and eyebrows too prominent, too simian."

Then she adds, the Tibetan women do not smoke. Neither do they use powder or rouge. Nuns are the only old maids in Tibet. All other women marry. In fact, some of them have several husbands.

DRIVER OF 'OTHER CAR' HELD 'FOOL'

Texas Police Chief Says for Motorists to Take That as Creed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) March 25. "Everybody on the street except you is a fool." That is the only safe attitude for a driver or pedestrian to take, Chief of Police T. O. Miller says. And the chief ought to know. He was traffic captain in the police department for about ten years before he was made chief. Besides, he has studied traffic problems in all sized towns over the country as well as in the middle of the street.

"Don't ever depend on what the other fellow is going to do. He may do something else entirely," he warns. "No man can figure the human equation and get the correct answer."

Chief Miller took issue with the report of the second national conference on street and highway accidents, recently made public. The report is wrong when it attributes the increase in fatal accidents to pedestrians, he said. "The truth of the matter is that a driver had rather hit a pedestrian than another car," he said. "The car is bigger and looks more formidable. The driver probably does not realize that, but it is the truth.

"All drivers go through a regular routine in learning to drive," he related. "They are very careful when they start, then they increase their speed and get to dodging. Pretty soon some other fellow dodges the same way they do and there is a smash-up. For the next few weeks he is mighty careful—all eyes and ears. Then another smash-up when some fellow dodges wrong again and after that he is a pretty good driver. If we could just let them have these accidents where it wouldn't hurt anybody and get it over with, we would get along fairly well."

FRENCH HONOR ROCKEFELLER

Citizenship Given to Him in Appreciation for Gift to Palace Fund

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, March 25.—The city fathers of Versailles, whose pride, the great palace built by Louis XIV, is being repaired, decided today to confer a citizenship on John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who has made the repairs possible. The oil king's son gave $1,000,000 to be divided among the chateaux of Versailles and Fontainebleau and the Cathedral of Rheims.

NIECE SUES TO BREAK WILL MADE BY AUNT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, March 25.—A complaint has been filed at San Andreas by Mrs. Carrie Ross, asserting undue influence was used and that her aunt, the late Elizabeth Q. Forsyth of San Andreas, was of an unsound mind when she made her will. Property of the deceased exceeds $51,000 in value, but according to the complaint Mrs. Ross was left but $100, while Mrs. Mary Nelson and Mrs. Annie R. Harvey, neither of whom was a relative, inherited the bulk of the estate. Mrs. Ross has engaged attorneys from Stockton and San Andreas to handle the case.

American Kills Girl and Self in Berlin Tragedy

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, March 25. — John R. Goodrich, a medical student from Monroe, N. H., early today shot and killed Miss Alice Fitzner of Cleveland, O., a dancer at a theater, and then took his own life. The tragedy occurred in an automobile. Jealousy is presumed to have been the motive.

Goodrich applied last March for a marriage license, but apparently it had never been used. He and Miss Fitzner were engaged.

Goodrich died immediately after the shooting, but Miss Fitzner lived for a few hours in a hospital.

Goodrich, who was 23 years of age, and a student at the University of Berlin, was the son of the late Rev. George Goodrich of Laconia, N. H. He had been studying medicine in Germany for three years, having been in Jena and Munich before coming to Berlin.

Miss Fitzner, who was 21, was a member of the cast of the revue "Fuer Dich." She appeared in the ballet and sang several solos.

CANADIANS TO DEPORT CREW OF BELGIAN SHIP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 25. Arrangements were made with the Canadian immigration officials here to send three more members of the crew of the former Belgian ship Gertrude back to their home land, but these men will go with the consent of the government.

Previously eleven of the crew went away without notifying the immigration officials and a fine of $20 a man had to be paid by the owners of the ship. This leaves four men still in the city claiming a year's wages for a year's cruise, because the ship was sold at this port. The company has refused to pay on this basis and advice is being awaited from Belgium as to the status of a sailor under these circumstances.

continuous antiseptic treatment. Gargles and sprays fail, because their effect lasts but a short time—and they can ordinarily be used only night and morning.

The ideal throat antiseptic—one of proved germicidal power, that can be carried with you and used at frequent intervals wherever you may be—is now realized in Formamint.

As the pleasant-tasting tablet slowly dissolves, it bathes every fold and crevice of the throat tissues with a powerful but safe antiseptic fluid that searches out and destroys throat germs.

To treat sore throat—take a tablet every hour or so. To prevent infection, take one about every two hours whenever you are exposed to disease, dust or cold. All druggists.

The board also had its attention directed to numerous other instances in which flashlights brought aid to imperiled seamen and passengers at sea.

Recently there has been developed a new type of electric hand flashlight which can throw a spot-light beam a distance of more than 500 feet and whose light is visible at sea for a distance of more than six miles. It can be focused so that its path of light will be spread over a wide area close at hand or made a mere pencil of bright light that will pick up objects hundreds of feet away. It is powered with three standard flashlight batteries. While the conventional red flares heretofore required as part of the equipment of all lifeboats on American-owned vessels, were required to burn only two minutes each, one of these new flashlights will maintain its light steadily for eight hours before the stored power of its batteries is consumed. For signal work, in which the light is flashed on and off rapidly, it will last very much longer.

JEFFERSON TRIBUTE PLANNED BY LEAGUE

LEADERS AT WASHINGTON TO SPEAK AT BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Thomas Jefferson League, recently organized here, will hold a Jefferson's birthday celebration on the evening of April 13, to which many persons prominent in official life have been invited.

John W. Davis, former Democratic Presidential candidate; Gov. Byrd of Virginia, Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, Senator Bruce of Maryland; Chairman Oldfield of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, former Senator Stanley of Kentucky and Senator King of Utah, will deliver addresses, the league said. Gov. Al Smith of New York, Mayor Kendrick of Philadelphia, Senator Borah of Idaho and several others have been invited to speak.

The meeting, which will include a dinner, the league said, will be intended to commemorate Jefferson's part in framing the Declaration of Independence, and in the expansion of the country.

COTTON BAN MAY HIT ALL OF ARIZONA

Salt River Valley Fears Quarantine for Pest Only Present Near Tucson

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 25.—According to Dr. O. C. Bartlett, State entomologist, there is possibility of the placing of a general quarantine again Arizona cotton, this to follow report made by Federal inspectors on boll weevil conditions in the Santa Cruz Valley, beyond Tucson.

The Arizona weevil, which is from the lower ranges in Southeastern Arizona, there infests the Thurberia plant, from which it has transferred to domestic short-staple cotton. It has not spread beyond several sections in the Santa Cruz Valley, but declaration is made that a Federal quarantine usually is against a whole State and not a certain locality.

Four-fifths of the cotton in Arizona is grown in the Salt River Valley, around Phoenix, where no trace of weevil or worm ever has been found. There is no connection between the Tucson and Phoenix farming localities and there has been no receipt of seed, through which infection usually has been spread. If the State be quarantined, the main loss would fall upon this valley, where cotton is the main crop.

At Tucson, blame for the present situation is placed upon the State Commission of Agriculture and Horticulture, which, two years ago, failed to accept a plan for cleaning away the Thurberia from the hill districts. At the time statement was made officially that such action merely would drive the insect to the cultivated fields.

Last year in the Salt River Valley were planted about 100,000 acres of cotton, 90,000 of it being Pima long-staple. This spring planting is planned of about 115,000 acres, most of it in an improved Acala strain. The added acreage has been opposed by most of the banks, mainly on the ground that a large excess of cotton remains unsold in the South, where very low prices for the product seem assured next season.

YUMA CHIEF OF POLICE RACES TO GET HIS MAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) March 25.—Chief of Police Henry Levy of Yuma made a wild dash of fourteen miles to Somerton in racing time in pursuit of an auto stage bearing Jose Manuel, sought on a technical charge of burglary, and got his man. Learning of Manuel's asserted shoplifting activities in Yuma stores Levy traced him to the stage depot, where he learned the quarry had boarded the stage for Somerton fifteen minutes before. With instructions to an assistant to telephone to the valley town, Levy hopped into his official car and burned up the highway, overtaking the stage as it pulled into the town.

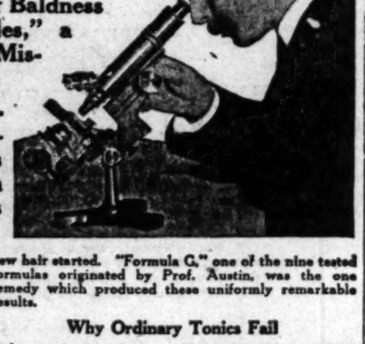
"Alopecia Pityrodes" Threatens to Make Us a Race of Baldheads!

Recent Investigation by Eminent Hair Specialist Discloses Alarming Facts. 85% of Baldness Caused by "Alopecia Pityrodes," a Destructive Scalp Trouble Often Mistaken for Common Dandruff.

Remarkable Results of New Treatment in 1033 Tests Revealed — Falling Hair Stopped, Baldness Arrested and New Hair Grown in from 30 to 90 Days with Famous Formula G."



It is not once it has been demonstrated that baldness can be arrested and new hair grown in from thirty to ninety days. These remarkable tests have been conducted by Prof. John H. Austin, over forty years a hair and scalp specialist and nationally eminent for his efforts in promoting hair and scalp health. From the records of these test cases the cause of falling hair has been determined and the remedy for most scalp troubles and grow new hair has been discovered.

Life of Hair Specialist's 40 Years' Research and Actual Experience

For over forty years Prof. Austin has devoted his time to research and active practice in the treatment of hair and scalp disorders. He has kept a record of cases coming under his observation; the cause of the scalp trouble as revealed by microscopic examination; the treatment used, and the results obtained. Recently an exhaustive analysis of these records revealed this startling fact: that 85% of men and women afflicted with scalp trouble were victims of "Alopecia Pityrodes," a serious scalp disorder often mistaken for common dandruff, which leads to baldness in from two to seven years.

The Danger Signs of Alopecia Pityrodes

This affliction occurs in two forms: the first starts with a slight scaling of the scalp, producing dry, flaky scales, commonly called dandruff, making the hair dry and stringy. Both cause thick grayish white scales, making the hair oily and stringy. Both cause falling hair. Sometimes a terrible itching is a symptom. This stage lasts from two to seven years. At first when the hair starts to fall it is unnoticeable, but as the bacteria multiply rapidly, the falling of the hair increases rapidly, and unless the disease is arrested, baldness results.

Astounding Results in Test Cases

In many of these records determined that in from two to three where a certain formula was used, new hair months were quickly noted, the progress of the disease arrested and a growth of new hair started. "Formula G," one of the nine tested formulas originated by Prof. Austin, was the one remedy which produced these uniformly remarkable results.

Why Ordinary Tonics Fail

Only certain ingredients are known to Science which will destroy the bacteria causing Alopecia Pityrodes; these remedial agents are practically insoluable and lose their efficacy when combined in liquid form. This is the reason why many popular hair tonics and elixers have failed in combating baldness.

Record of Cases

No. 30: SYMPTOMS: hair fell out by comb fulls. REMEDY: Formula G. RESULTS: hair started to grow all over head; new hair coming in very thick, about 1½ inches long.

No. 40: SYMPTOMS: itching scalp, dandruff, split hair. REMEDY: Formula G. RESULTS: nice growth glossy hair; no more dandruff; no more itching.

"Formula G" combines these valuable remedial agents with potent stimulants to hair growth in a pleasant cream form, which maintains all ingredients in their full strength. To make treatment easy, quick and convenient, "Formula G" is packed in special applicator tubes.

How "Formula G" Acts

"Formula G" penetrates to the roots of the hair, and there attacks and destroys the destructive bacteria. It cleanses the scalp and stops itching immediately. It stops falling hair; and by stimulating, reviving and nourishing the hair roots promotes a luxuriant growth of rich, lustrous hair.

Start Now to Grow New Hair

Remember that "Formula G" is not an ordinary "hair tonic," but is a scientific treatment to grow new hair and restore scalp health. It is the result of a lifetime of study and practical experience of a nationally eminent hair specialist. You will be astonished at the results "Formula G" will bring. Start treatment today, for the sooner you start the quicker you will cover up the bald spots and restore your scalp to a healthy condition. At all druggists. Always in stock at all Owl Drug Stores.

Net Profits Show Enormous Gain Over 1924

Substantial Sum is Carried to Surplus Account

Completion of a highly successful year through substantial increases in net profits and surplus was reported yesterday in the annual statement of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California. Net earnings in 1925, after all charges, amounted to $3,686,578, an increase of 93 per cent over 1924, and the equivalent to $46.11 a share on the outstanding preferred stock. This is comparable to earnings of $23.96 in 1924.

The company's surplus, which showed an increase of 133 per cent a year ago, continued to reflect the recovery from the difficulties of a few years ago, showing an additional increase of 121 per cent in 1925 over 1924. On December 31, last, surplus amounted to $4,691,588, as compared with $2,124,403 at the end of the preceding year. This was after an appropriation of $500,000 to a special raw-material reserve and after the payment during the year of dividends on the preferred stock amounting to $1,119,398.

The progress of the company is suitably illustrated by the size of the surplus account at this time, compared with a deficit of $3,187,762 as of March 31, 1921. The company's indebtedness to the parent company, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, O., was reduced from $2,896,988 on December 31, 1924, to $2,146,655 on December 31, last.

NET SALES INCREASE

Total net sales of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California in 1925 were $24,363,228, as compared with $15,668,065 in 1924, an increase of $8,695,173, or approximately 56 per cent. Total earnings from operations, excluding profit from the sale of surplus lands, before interest and Federal income tax, were $4,418,214 in 1926, against $2,046,388. Current assets on December 31, last, were $13,154,833, as against current liabilities of $2,256,933, a ratio of 5.8 to 1.

The abnormally high rubber market on December 31, last, prompted the management of the company to appropriate $500,000 to a special raw-material reserve to provide at least in part against the likelihood of considerable shrinkage in the values of rubber inventories and commitments.

In the report to stockholders, Edward G. Wilmer, president, says:

"The unusually large volume of business and profits earned during 1925 must be appraised in the light of an extraordinary high cost of our principal raw material. We are again in a declining market that will probably produce lower selling prices and less in ultimate earnings, though there is every present indication that the physical volume of product made and sold will continue to be large.

SECURITY VALUES SHRINK

BY EARLE E. CROWE

When the stock market drops like it has in the last two days, there is always a feeling of hostility aroused against the machinery and practice of speculation. People who suddenly find that the value of securities has depreciated from 5 to 25 points a share overnight are more inclined, it seems, to condemn speculation than when prices are going up.

The gentlemen denominated as "bears" come in for criticism at such times. The bear raids are cited as the reasons for the declines and the bear operators held responsible for the losses taken by the public. Perhaps individual operators might have been culpable in the days when the stock market was a relatively small affair, and a few operators were able to swing things their own way. Daniel Drew, the first king of Wall street, was able at times to conduct bear raids successfully, which yielded him immense profits even though conditions fundamentally pointed to higher prices for securities. These profits came directly from the pockets of innocent stockholders, who were entirely at the mercy of Drew and his machinations.

RIDE WITH THE TIDE

Professional operators can only succeed now with bear raids when economic conditions and technical forces within the market itself are in their favor. As a matter of fact, the bear operators so widely advertised are really astute traders who seize the proper moment to ride with the tide. They help the movement along, of course, with their own pet devices, but the major downswing or upswing of prices is something entirely beyond the control of professionals.

In the breaks of a few weeks ago and within the last two days, the losers among the rank and file of the public have only themselves to blame. Probably the great majority have only suffered paper losses, having bought stocks at low prices and then refusing to sell when a good profit was available. On the basis of paper profits, the large body of speculators bought more stocks, until the market structure became topheavy and vulnerable. The bear traders who sold stocks short merely capitalized the lack of wisdom displayed by the public, and deflated prices to somewhere nearer normal levels.

The fact that prices go down as well as up is hardly sufficient reason to indict the whole body of speculators in securities, or the practice of speculation. The purchase and sale of stocks is generally understood as an expression of individual forecasts of probable earnings of certain companies, and prospects within certain industries. Of the economic function of speculation, E. H. H. Simmonds, president of the New York Stock Exchange, made this comment a few days ago before the Mississippi Valley group of the Investment Bankers' Association of America:

FUNCTION EXPLAINED

"You gentlemen realize as clearly as I do," he said, "that financial speculation arises from the inevitable human attempt to measure and estimate a future which must, of necessity, be unknowable. I imagine that we are all fairly in accord, in defending security speculation as an economic force which has vastly expanded the productive facilities of this nation, which has enriched our material existence at a thousand points, and which, in the long run, has served to stabilize financial and trade conditions.

"Yet, like some of the beneficial forces in the physical world, speculation can be an indispensable servant but a bad master. Electricity can inflict damage as well as illuminate our homes, and gas can cause explosions as well as cook our food. As a matter of fact, speculation in securities is to some extent only a temporary substitute for scientific investment knowledge and analysis."

In the last sentence lies the real explanation of the recent declines in security prices. Too many people, from either misinterpretation of data or disinclination to study the available data, guessed the market wrong, and now they are paying the penalty.

DECLINE IN STOCKS HERE LED BY OILS

Julian Preferred Lower; Western Lead Continues Drastic Drop

Oil stocks led a general decline on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. Julian Petroleum preferred opened firm at 21, but reacted to 19 3-4 and closed at 20, a net loss of 1 point, while the common held firm at 3 3-4. Union Oil of California opened 3-4 of a point lower at 45 1-2 and rallied to a close at 46, a net loss of 1-4 of a point. Union Associates also closed 1-4 of a point lower at 47.

Standard of California declined 1-2 of a point to 56 and closed at 56 1-4, while California Petroleum closed firm at 34 3-4. United Oil declined 1 point to 58 3-4, and closed 3-4 of a point net lower at 59. Marine Corporation continued to hold at 1.30.

Western Lead, on a large volume of trading, staged a continuous decline, after opening steady at 1.75, to a close at 1.40, a net loss of 35 points. Other mines declined in sympathy. Boundary Cone lost 1-2 of a point to 5 1-2, while Lucky Boy Divide added 1-2 point to 8 1-2. Katherine Extension closed 1-2 point off at 7. Big Jim Mines lost 1-2 to a close at 17 1-2, while Gold Dust added 1-2 to 7 1-2.

Los Angeles Investment declined 2 1-2 points to a close at 3.43 1-2. Southern California Edison common sold heavily at 120, closing at that figure, with a net loss of 1 1-2 points. Edison 7 per cent and 6 per cent preferred issues were heavy traders at 110 1-2 and 98 1-2, respectively. Bancitaly Corporation sold at 245, while Americommercial Corporation lost 1-2 of a point to 200. Bank of Italy added 1 point to 487.

UNION BANK RAISES RATE OF DIVIDEND

Increased Earnings Are Reflected in Action of Board of Directors

Reflecting increased earnings, the dividend rate of the Union Bank and Trust Company was increased from 6 per cent to 7 per cent, annually, effective at once to all stockholders of record, according to an action taken at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the bank yesterday.

In commenting upon this action, Ben R. Meyer, president of the Union Bank and Trust Company, said:

"This is merely a reflection of the steadying of business on higher levels. This increase in our dividend rate comes through increased earnings, which, in turn, have developed through greater volume of business transacted. It is most gratifying to the officers and directors of this bank to make this announcement at this time."

Dividends Will be Resumed by Rio Grande Oil

Dividends will be resumed by the Rio Grande Oil Company on a 6 per cent annual basis, payable quarterly, according to action taken at a special meeting of the board of directors yesterday. A dividend of 1½ per cent was declared, payable April 25, to stockholders of record April 10.

Increased earnings since the first of the year and anticipation of continued large profits in the current year have improved the financial aspect of the company and is held as responsible for the dividend resumption. While dividends in the past were paid on an 8 per cent annual basis, the directors stipulated that extra dividends will be declared as conditions warrant.

Dividends at the rate of 8 per cent were paid prior to 1925, but were discontinued at the beginning of last year.

SANTA FE GAINS BRANCH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—The Santa Fe Railroad Company was authorized by the State Railroad Commission here today to take over the properties of the Fresno Interurban Railway, running between Fresno and a point eighteen miles east of that city. The Santa Fe also was authorized to take over the outstanding stock of the railway company, amounting to $35,000.

Orders also were placed by Los Angeles for 1000 tons with American Cast Iron Pipe Company and 434 tons with representatives of German producers. Seattle has booked orders for 403 tons with R. Nichol & Co., representing French manufacturers.

LIFE INSURANCE IN FORCE LARGE

New Business Written by Eight-one Companies in State Shown

Total new ordinary life-insurance business written by the eighty-one companies in California in 1925 amounted to $582,429,043, according to a report compiled from statements filed with the State Insurance Department as of the 11th inst.

Total ordinary life insurance in force of the eighty-one companies in California on December 31, last, amounted to $2,546,907,240.

The New York Life leads all companies in point of business written and business in force in 1925, with the Metropolitan second. The Pacific Mutual ranks third in amount of insurance in force and fifth in new business paid for in 1925.

The Clearinghouse

News of Spring Street

Approximately twenty-five Los Angeles bankers and mining men will leave Los Angeles this evening by special train for Patagonia, Ariz., for the purpose of seeking first-hand information regarding the possibilities of silver and lead production in the Patagonia district.

While the trip is sponsored by the officials of the Big Jim mines, it has been indorsed by Arizona mining and financial interests, it was stated. The Big Jim property has recently started on production with a seventy-five-ton mill.

Utility Earnings Shown

Net operating income of the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Company for the year ended December 31, last, amounted to $3,094,477, according to the company's annual report released yesterday through Blair & Co., Inc. This was equivalent to 2.19 times interest requirements.

Gross sales of power amounted to $6,949,537, as compared with $5,971,740 in 1924. There was a balance of $2,126,181 carried to surplus, as against $1,672,999 in 1924.

United Oil Pays

At a meeting of the board of directors of the United Oil Company, held yesterday, the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share was declared, payable April 15 to stockholders of record April 5.

Vosburg Goes East

Roydon Vosburg of the firm of Miller, Vosburg & Co. left yesterday for the East, to be gone for several weeks on the business of his organization. Mr. Vosburg will visit Washington, New York, Boston and other financial centers before returning to Los Angeles.

RICH IRON DEPOSITS LOCATED IN MEXICO

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—Iron deposits have been located by government geologists near the Balsas River in the Salazar district, State of Michoacan, according to an official statement issued from the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, which estimates the field will yield not less than 10,000,000 tons.

The statement says that it would be necessary to build a railroad or roads from Las Truchas, near where the discovery was made, to the Pacific Coast to market the mineral.

EXPECT CEMENT FINANCING

Securities of Consolidated Corporation Will be Offered Next Week; Is Major Industry

A new issue of Consolidated Cement Corporation series "A" bonds has been purchased by E. H. Rollins & Sons, public offering of which is expected early next week.

The Consolidated Cement Corporation was organized recently under the laws of Delaware for the purpose of acquiring and operating the properties of the Peninsular Portland Cement Company, The Fredonia Portland Cement Company and the Great Western Portland Cement Company and later acquiring ownership of other similar companies. The three plants, now being operated at full capacity, have a replacement value of $7,419,504 and a depreciated value of more than $6,000,000.

INVESTMENT LARGE

The combined output of the plants in 1924 was 2,157,696 barrels and the combined output in 1925 was in excess of 2,566,000 barrels.

With $450,000,000 of estimated invested capital, the cement industry occupies a strong position. Made from a variety of materials, which are well distributed as to demand for the finished product, cement has innumerable uses in industry, but is restricted as an expanding business because of transportation costs. Stability in the industry is evidenced by the fact that no one use at the present time takes more than 25 per cent of the country's production, according to the bankers, who will presently offer the liens of the Consolidated Cement Corporation.

The United States ranks first in cement production and consumption. Prior to 1872 practically all cement used in this country was imported from Europe. Since that time production in this country has steadily increased until in 1924, less than 5 per cent of the total consumption was imported and a greater amount exported.

IS MAJOR INDUSTRY

Today the industry ranks high among the major industries of the country, both in value of products and as a consumer of other materials. It ranks fourth among manufacturing consumers of coal, fourth among shippers of manufactured materials and tenth among American industries in total horse-power of machinery in use. In 1924 enough cement was produced to fill 750,000 freight cars.

The industry, in 1924, consumed 5,000,000 barrels of fuel oil, 5,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas, 65,000,000 cloth sacks, 50,000,000 paper sacks and enormous quantities of lubricating oil, fire brick, explosives, gypsum and other materials. Portland cement is produced in twenty-nine States of the Union.

Road-building programs are being carried out by a majority of the States. More than $1,000,000,000 was expended in new Federal-aid paved highway projects between 1916 and early in 1925. Of this amount 41 per cent was spent on concrete roads. In 1924, approximately 21 per cent of the total amount of cement produced was consumed by the farmer. A list of more than 300 different uses for which Portland cement is successfully employed has been compiled.

MARKET PUZZLES EXPERTS

Swing of Price Pendulum Expected to Hit Extreme in Any Movement; End of Drop is Problem

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, March 25.—In the process of switching from a bullish to a bearish attitude toward stocks, the financial community slowly is adopting a new philosophy of price movements.

Up to a month ago most persons identified with the stock market were bulls. A protracted advance in values had fooled the professional traders and had won a large following among amateurs who always favor the constructive side. Investors whose experience for two years has been with a rising market, now are finding it difficult to adjust their mental attitudes. On every hand the opinion is expressed that certain stocks cannot go lower since it already has dropped to a position at which it is a bargain and still values continue to crumble.

If the professional and amateur traders would turn to the past annals of the financial markets they would find it easier to understand what is going on now in the market.

In any movement of stocks, upward or downward, values are almost always carried too high on the upswing and too low on the downswing. Numerous as were the warnings of danger in the recent bull market, prices were forced on to levels unreasonably high before the collapse came, and in a corrective movement on the bear side values in the same manner always fall to positions that appear to be far below what is warranted by the earning power of the stocks involved.

That in the present decline numerous stocks have fallen to relatively low levels does not mean, therefore, that the bottom has dropped out of business. It means that a combination of liquidation and heavy short sales stimulated by the excesses of the recent bull market have given the market more stock for the moment than it wants to digest.

Only liquidation on a vast scale could have forced 126 stocks into new low ground for the year as was done yesterday and in the selling this week the speculative favorites have been carrid down to levels substantially below their peaks for 1926.

At their low points for the week to date Foundation had lost 104 points from its high for the year; American Can, 97; National Tea, 97; and General Electric, 94 points.

Numerous stocks have fallen to positions that represent a loss of 65 points from their peaks; among these may be mentioned such issues as American Brake Shoe and Foundry, Sears Roebuck, Ward Baking A., and the Woolworth shares.

Never in the history of Wall street was there a time when so many market experts were endeavoring to determine how long a bear movement in stocks would continue as now are reckoning on the present situation.

LEMON EXPORTS DROP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The exports of lemons last year from the United States, the Commerce Department announced today, totaled 161,649 boxes, valued at $888,649, as against 228,494 boxes, valued at $898,373 in 1924.

EARNINGS OF PACIFIC GAS HOLDING UP

Preferred Totals $14.41 a Share and Common is $10.12 for Year

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—A steady gain in earnings and reserves is shown in the annual report for 1925 of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, made public here today.

Earnings on preferred stock totaled $14.41 a share as compared with $13.90 the previous year. Common stock paid $10.12 a share, against $9.91 the previous year.

Assets as of December 31, 1925, were shown by the annual balance sheet to be $307,854,517, compared with $290,002,638 the year before. The surplus increased from $9,760,960 at the end of 1924 to $10,580,231 in 1925.

Reserves in 1925 totaled $22,858,985, compared with $21,053,713 in 1924. The company added nearly $25,000,000 to the plant account bringing the total to $273,815,668.

Gross revenues were $48,066,897 in 1925, against $44,934,633 in 1924. The net tangible assets of the company amount to $85.16 a share on common stock, with the book value put at more than $300 a share.

Tone of Local Trade Survey is Brighter

Bradstreet's report on business conditions in the Los Angeles district for the week will say:

Slight improvement in sales are reported by wholesalers over week ago, but collections only fair, department stores aided by intensified advertising and sales are increasing volume over month ago. Smaller outlying stores still behind year ago to date in gross sales. Drug trade holds gains with favorable prospects. Machinery houses, while reporting oil-well demands quieter, show increase mining machinery sales, due to mining activity in near-by territory. Furniture trade and allied lines continue quiet with collections slow. Real estate values holding up, although sales are limited in Los Angeles. Greater activity in San Juan Capistrano and San Diego territory. Labor conditions have been very satisfactory this winter.

BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

[Copyright, 1926, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

LONDON, March 25.—Underwriters of the New South Wales loan have received subscriptions to the amount of 70 per cent of the total. This makes the third occasion on which the public has not supported a New South Wales loan, partly as a result of the growing dislike of the size of the New South Wales debt per capita and also the meager information of the prospectuses.

The markets are generally lifeless and featureless. Investments were only slightly affected by the poor response to the New South Wales loan. The foreign exchanges have not altered in position. Winston Churchill's statement on international debts, with the suggestion that Russia commence payments, commanded little attention.

The Cabinet's decision to accept in entirety the recommendations of the Coal Commission, subject to the acceptance by parties directly affected, is approved by Capel Court, but it is still difficult to tell whether peace is in sight.

The fall in the French franc and the slowness of the French fiscal reforms incite increasing comment and the Times in its first editorial this morning sarcastically says: "Yesterday the franc sank in Paris to 139.95 and the Chamber passed a measure to prevent babies from sucking comforters."

WOOL TONE BETTER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, March 25.—Market conditions here are creating a little better sentiment regarding wool values, although no real buying movement is in evidence. The Australian market, according to cable reports, was firm again today. Sales thus far this week indicate a fairly steady trend in prices here. Scoured wools are moving a little more freely, but the principal call is for small lots.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

THE suggestion has been made that there should be a school organized for teaching business men a philosophy of life.

Probably business men already have a philosophic perspective on life equal to that of any other group. Few people take the trouble to think out what they are here for, or whither they are going.

However, business men so often have it within their power to control the fortunes of so many others that it seems particularly desirable that they should think clearly and intelligently on the broadest and deepest questions, in order that their decisions may be tempered by understanding.

TIDE WATER OIL CO.—Have paid dividends on their common stock CONTINUOUSLY since 1903 with the exception of one year.

ASSOCIATED OIL CO.—Have paid dividends on their capital stock CONTINUOUSLY SINCE 1913.

CONCLUSIONS

(1) Stabilized earning power of the above Companies as shown by an unbroken dividend record over a period of from 13 to 23 years insures payment of preferred dividend of the combined companies.

(2) High earning power is assured by combined companies based on their past record and from benefits derived from consolidation.

(3) With earnings of the combined companies maintaining the same ratio with a normal increase the conversion privilege should prove PROFITABLE.

Conservative investors seeking an opportunity to share in the tremendous earnings of the oil industry without the uncertainty of income attendant on stock ownership will find RIO GRANDE OIL COMPANY First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Convertible Sinking Fund 7% Gold Bonds an attractive investment.

These bonds are secured by first mortgage on all fixed assets of the company and pay an assured 7% income. In addition they are convertible into capital stock at any time prior to maturity.

Based on earnings of the Company, which, for the past two years, have averaged over 25% on the total capitalization, the market value of the stock should increase materially over the conversion price, bringing about a relative advance in the price of the bonds whether or not the conversion privilege is exercised.

Better Support of Market Serves as Check to Bear Selling

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Further extensive liquidation was forthcoming during today's session of stock trading, but with the aid of formidable support, the market was able to give a much better account of itself, notwithstanding that some stocks broke quite badly. Sharp breaks were exceptions rather than the rule, however, and the list appeared to be developing stern resistance around the low levels reached on Wednesday. Some further calling of loans was reported, but the amount was comparatively small and the call money rate held at 5 per cent, the renewal figure. Most of the day's selling was reported induced by disappointment of long holders at the failure of the market to recuperate. Utilities, motors, food stocks and the specialties were under persistent selling pressure during most of the day, but came back smartly in the final hour. Motors, which had been acutely weak for the last few days, were the recipients of the best character of support buying.

Veterans' Market Views

Watch the trend of commodity prices as a guide to the future of business and the stock market, is the advice of an observer who has spent close to forty years in the street. And don't forget, he admonished his listeners, relative to the outlook for the market, that "nothing in the world makes a worse bear than a sold-out bull." There are many big operators who could be fitted into the latter category as a result of the happenings so far this month, but the majority of them were sold out involuntarily. "It is well to bear in mind," said another observer, who is bearish in his views, "that we have had an enormous volume of liquidation and that we have an exceptionally large short interest, which would facilitate a sharp rally if ence started to covering."

Almost Fifty New Lows

While the market developed better rallying tendencies during the day, further speculative selling and liquidation carried more than two score of stocks to new low levels for the year. Practically all groups were represented in the list, with the possible exception of the rails. Equipments, motors, steels, specialties, food stocks, the public utilities and the coppers were included. Among the more representative issues that went below their previous bottom levels were Baldwin Locomotive, American Locomotive, Studebaker, Chrysler, Kennecott, Gulf States Steel and National Lead.

His Treat

A country man who had gone to London and had done very well invited a friend from his native place to spend a holiday with him.

On the first day he took him to dinner to his favorite restaurant. They went through the various courses, and when they had finished the host inquired:

"Well, what do you think of that for a dinner?"

"Great, replied the friend enthusiastically. "Now have one with me!"—[The Weekly Scotsman.

THE INVESTOR

Art of Investing Fast Developing Into a Science—Investment Managers' Company Pioneer in Field—Operated on Fee Basis for Exclusive Interest of Clients.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Development of the art of investing as a science is fast taking form in this country, and it is believed the next few years will witness this particular field placed on the same professional plane as legal or medical professions are today.

One of the real pioneers in this field is the Investment Managers' Company, of which Edgar Lawrence Smith is president. Mr. Smith and his associates have just completed their first year with a remarkable degree of success.

The Investment Managers' Company is operated entirely on a fee basis for services rendered. That is to say, the management in no way participates in the profits made from investing other people's money, but is recompensed by a definite charge for services rendered. This charge amounts to 1 per cent of the amount initially deposited with them, one-fourth of 1 per cent a year during the term of their services and 1 per cent on the termination of such services.

The company enters into a contract with its clients for the investment of their funds. All such funds are consolidated into a general fund against which certificates of deposit are issued, each certificate representing the investor's proportionate share of the general fund.

The entire fund is then invested in various kinds of securities with certain limitations. Some of these limitations are as follows:

(1.) Securities purchased must be listed on the New York Stock Exchange and have been traded in during most of the twelve months preceding the date of the investment.

(2.) Not more than 20 per cent of the entire fund shall be invested in any one industry.

(3.) No investment shall exceed more than 10 per cent of the voting stock of any company.

(4.) Investment shall not be made in shares of any company the current market value of whose stock is less than $20,000,000.

The company, however, may invest in tax-exempt securities, United States Government bonds, or make call or time loans.

The investor may at any time turn in his certificate and receive his proportionate share of the actual value of the entire investments. The certificates, however, are not transferable, but the right of redemption is assignable.

The income of the general fund is obtained from dividends on stocks held, interest and net profits derived from the sale of securities.

Scientific research work has revealed that a fund of this kind properly invested would yield not less than 5 per cent during any year since 1866. For this reason, it has been decided to pay 5 per cent annually on the face value of the certificates from income received on investments made.

In addition to this 5 per cent distribution, however, the company agrees to make an additional annual distribution of one-eighth of all income in excess of 5 per cent. Upon surrender of his certificate at any time, the investor may receive his proportionate share of the fund plus accumulated surplus earnings above distributions.

At the end of 1925 the actual value of the entire investment fund stood at $4,774,965, of which $128,960 represented profits realizable on securities owned during the year.

The expertness of the management of the company in making investments is indicated by the fact that during the week just ended, when stocks were down more than 10 per cent of their actual market value, the value of the investment fund had depreciated only 1.4 per cent.

On December 31, last, only 26.8 per cent of the actual value of the investment fund was invested in common stocks, as contrasted with 93.6 per cent on May 21, 1925.

COTTON UP AS FREEZE HITS BELT

Report of Unfavorable Weather in Wide Area Steadies Market

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Another cold wave over the cotton belt with freezing temperatures predicted for the northern half of Texas tonight, all of Oklahoma, most of Arkansas, Northern Louisiana and Northern Mississippi, together with general rains over the eastern half of the belt, with lower temperatures there against the recent highs in that section, attracted attention of the cotton trade again to the vagaries of the weather as affecting the start of the new crop.

Farm work for planting is already one to two weeks late in most sections. This helped to hold the market today against the renewed weakness that developed in the grain market and the further unsettled conditions in the stock market.

Having been already in a well-liquidated position with a large short interest outstanding it required only anxiety about the weather conditions for the new crop to check further liquidation and speculative selling of cotton contracts from the opening today against the better-than-expected report on the boll weevil situation announced this morning.

Nothing in the report confirmed expectations of many in the trade recently that it would show a large emergence of the boll weevil from the winter's hibernation. Instead the figures showed the smallest emergence in recent years.

The market, which had advanced about fifteen points on the average from yesterday's closing in the early trading, gradually lost most of this rise in the afternoon from the effects of the more favorable boll weevil report than had been expected. May sold at 18.5-8c; July, 18.11c; October, 17.42c; December, about 17 1-8c, and January, 17.06.

NEW YORK BONDS

Prices Drift Lower

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Tightened money conditions continued to depress bond trading today and prices drifted irregularly lower. Calling of loans for out-of-town banks, which has been blamed for recent liquidation in the stock market, was not as heavy as in recent sessions, but it apparently acted as a restraining influence.

The inability of the French Cabinet to correct that government's critical financial situation was considered responsible for the continued selling pressure against French Republic bonds, which carried them down fractionally to the lowest levels of the year. Simultaneously liquidation of other European obligations, reflecting uncertainty over the foreign outlook, gave this list an unusually ragged appearance.

Despite the downward tendency of railroad liens, several carrier issues developed unexpected strength. With the announcement that the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5's and 5½'s had been admitted to the legal savings bank list in New York State, these bonds spurted up 1 to 2 points to near high prices for the year. Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5's rallied 3 points and a few sales of the registered bonds, bringing them into line with the others, were made at an advance of several points over the last transaction. Southern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Erie and Illinois Central bonds were lower.

Price changes elsewhere were relatively unimportant. Warner Sugar issues dropped 1 to 2 points to new low figures for the year and moderate recessions took place in various public utility, rubber, oil and packing-company bonds.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond.

INDUSTRY LIST RENEWS SLUMP

Average Beaten Down to New Low for Year

Declines Not So General as Previous Day

Few Issues Close Higher on Buying Rallies

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Further liquidation developed in today's stock market, sending the average of twenty leading industrial issues down to a new low level for the year. Net declines in scores of active issues ran from 1 to nearly 11 points, but the decline was not as general as yesterday. Sporadic rallies took place throughout the session, and while they were not very impressive, more than a score of issues showed net gains of 1 to nearly 3 points on the day. Total sales were 2,301,200 shares, as against 2,705,400 yesterday.

Banks were reported to have called about $10,000,000 additional in loans, largely for the account of out-of-town banks. One reason assigned for the recent withdrawal of funds from the call money market by interior banks was to prepare for the usual heavy demand for funds by farmers for spring planting purposes.

Heavy liquidation of Baldwin, which broke 7 3-4 points to 97 1-4, the lowest price in four years, and a renewal of selling against Hudson, which duplicated yesterday's low of 80, was rumored to represent distress selling for the account of a prominent operator who had been active on the long side in these issues during the recent bull market, but these reports lacked confirmation. Baldwin later rallied to 99¼ and Hudson to 81 3-4.

Weakness also was apparent in such issues as Allied Chemical, Columbia Gas, Foundation Company, Gulf States Steel, International Combustion Engineering, Kelsey Wheel, National Dairy Products, Union Bag and Paper, United States Cast Iron Pipe and United Fruit, all of which sold 4 to 11 points lower, although some of them made partial recovery toward the close. Kresge Department Stores, preferred, ordinarily inactive, broke 14 1-4 points to a new low record at 75 1-4 on a few sales.

Several of the motors and high-priced specialties, which were weak earlier in the week, rallied briskly when a renewal of bear selling failed to break them through their previous low levels. American Can (old stock) bounded up over 11 points to 264 and then eased to 261¾, and the new stock closed 1 5-8 higher at 43 7-8. Mack Trucks showed a net gain of 1 3-4 to 116 1-4 after selling as high as 111¾.

General Motors closed 2-4 higher at 118 3-4, although it had sold a point above that figure. Studebaker, which had been offering stubborn resistance to selling pressure, finally cracked under the strain, selling down over 2 points to 51 3-4 and then rallying a point.

Other industrials which showed good recuperative power were the Commercial Solvents issues, the H. Macey (Philadelphia company,) Savage Arms and United Drug, all up 2 points or more.

Rails received better support than the industrials, the average of twenty leading issues in that group showing a small gain on the day. Chesapeake and Ohio, Reading, St. Louis Southwestern and Southern Railway being among the issues to show net advances of a point or more.

The principal commodity markets pointed upward. Wheat rallied 1½ to nearly 2 cents a bushel, cotton 20 to 29 points and raw sugar futures 4 to 5 points. Coffee futures closed 41 points net higher to 5 points net lower.

Call money opened at 5 per cent, the highest renewal rate since March 2, holding steady at that figure all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Trading in the foreign exchanges was quiet, with the principal rates holding firm. Demand sterling ruled around $4.85 7-8 and French francs fluctuated within a narrow area around 3.50 cents. Norwegian krone were up 20 points to 21.52 cents.

Wheat Market Closes Higher on Brisk Rally

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 25.—Fluctuations in the wheat market were extremely erratic, within a range of 2½¢, with losses with eastern operations heavy sellers of May at times, and caused a break from 1.37 to 1.32¾ for May. But the decline brought in aggressive buying headed by Bunn and local shorts, and the finish was on a strong rally, with net gains of 1¾@2 cents. May closed at 1.36@1.36⅜, with July and September at 1.30@1.30¾. Corn rallied ½@¾c, with May 73¾ and July 75¾, while oats were ½@¾c higher, with May 39¾ and July 42. Rye was ¾@1c higher, with May 94¾ and July 88.

Uncertainty created by the action of the stock market in New York had considerable influence on wheat at times, but the undertone was much better than the finish on Wednesday, both bear and bull news from abroad, with Liverpool ¼@¾d higher, and May there 2¾d over Chicago at the time it closed, led to buying of futures here, especially as foreigners were taking futures. It is claimed in some quarters that foreigners are now long May and July wheat here on balances after having been short for a number of months. This marked change in position attracted considerable attention.

Many of the local traders, while decidedly bullish on wheat, are not disposed to let moderate profits get away from them, and after buying May early around 1.33, then sold around 1.37 and around 1.34 on the late break started in reluctantly their lines and caused the late upturn. Houses that usually act for Livermore were aggressive buyers at times. Smaller Argentine shipments, estimated at 3,014,000 bushels, against 3,344,000 bushels the previous week, with fewer clearances from that country, Australia and Canada pointed to a scarcity of cash wheat, and there was a buyer of cash wheat at the seaboard, taking advantage of the bullish influences abroad. Germany was reported to replace recent exports of domestic wheat.

Further reports of dust storms were received from parts of Kansas and Nebraska and indicated some buying of the deferred deliveries of wheat, as it is expected that unless rains come shortly dry weather talk will increase. Winnipeg was strong and 1¼@2c higher, while Buenos Aires closed ¼@¾c higher, with May 1.87¼ and June 1.48. Export sales in all positions at the seaboard were finally estimated at 450,000 to 700,000 bushels, with some inquiry for new-crop winters for deferred shipments, May being in out of line. Corn held within a range of ½@¾c, with trade light and the market influenced largely by the action of wheat. Eastern cash demand was fair, with sales here of 50,000 bushels. Cash basis was firm to ½c higher, with less grades showing strength. There was talk of a fair export business in both domestic and Canadian oats, but quantities were not given. Local handlers held bids from the seaboard within ¼c of a working basis. Italy and Holland were buyers at the seaboard. Trade in futures was somewhat larger, with the market receiving good support on the breaks. Reports that Duluth had sold 200,000 bushels of rye for shipment, with strength in futures in that market, had some effect here, and the market showed a firmer undertone. No export sales were reported at the seaboard.

ADDS "GAME" SPIRIT TO READING LESSON

ATMOSPHERE OF PLAY AND FREEDOM PERVADES CLASS ROOM

Pupils of days gone by who thought reading the most uninteresting of studies would do well to visit the second grade of a school in Milwaukee, says the Journal of that city.

The art of reading is an art which too few people know about, insist the teachers. Reading lessons of the old school ended in droning voices, sleepy eyes, slouchy postures and a meager knowledge of what was read.

But not so today. Each child, sitting straight in his seat, is open-eyed, alert and attentive. And it is simply because he is interested. A fairy story is about to be read by the teacher. It's the story of the wolf and the seven kids.

"It's reading time children," she says. Instantly each second grader has his book open, not upon the desk but holding it in his hands.

After the story of the wolf comes to an end, which, by the way, is read in such a manner that each child is interested first in the story and not in mere words, which must be pronounced correctly at all costs, the lesson is just beginning. That's only the first step in the reading lesson.

"This is a fairy story, isn't it?" the teacher asks. "Is it true?"

"No!" comes a chorus of voices.

"Why don't you think it's true, Mary?"

"It's only a fairy story, but do we like it all the same?" the teacher asks.

"Yes," the children declare in one voice. All the reasons given by the children are sensible. Here, at least, is no chance for the growth of superstition.

Hunt and catch with words and phrases is another part of the reading lesson. Each child must keep his eyes open, for the "game" is highly competitive.

"Find the phrase beginning with what the wolf said," the teacher tells John. "Finish the phrase beginning with chairs and tables, Tommy. What did the goat say? Billy, find me a word beginning with 'ah,' Alfred, the word beginning 'ch' and John, find the word with 'de'." Answers come as soon as the questions are asked, and so eager are the children to answer that practically all hands are raised.

Two new words were learned in the lesson, both of which were pronounced carefully and explained. Then each row of children read a paragraph of the story in turn, and in this way no one was skipped.

While class B reads, class A is having a free period. Robert and John occupy one corner of the room with letter blocks and they are spelling out their names and addresses. In the opposite corner is a round table, and piled on it are all kinds of books as well as reading, spelling and arithmetic games. There is no noise.

THE THERMOMETER AN AID IN FISHING

INSTRUMENT WOULD TELL WHETHER WATER WAS FAVORABLE

"Fisherman's luck" is a phrase which may soon be scrapped, at least as far as commercial fishing is concerned. It is now feasible to predict what the chances are of catching the staple cod or the prized haddock in a given area. The divining rod which loads the dice in the fisherman's favor is the deep-sea thermometer.

This development is the outcome of oceanographic surveys recently completed by the biological board of Canada. The codfish, the data revealed, is particular about climate. Freezing is far too cold, and 50 deg. uncomfortably warm, in the cod's estimation. But when the temperature of the sea is within the relatively narrow range of 40 to 45 deg., it is not forced into excessive exercise to keep warm, nor is it constantly on the lookout for cooler currents in the ocean.

Puzzled by queer in and out currents, hot and cold, through the Strait of Belle Isle, two teams of biologists, physicists and oceanographers patroled the 100 miles of the narrow channel which separates Labrador from Newfoundland in two specially built boats, one working along the north shore and one along the south. Observations soon showed that the strait served as a gigantic mixing machine for producing layers of tepid water and in these the codfish were found.

Icy waters from the Arctic poured into the channel along the north shore, and the warm water of the Gulf of St. Lawrence made outward along the south side. Great pools of water at 40 to 45 deg., often below the surface, occurred at the two exits of the channel, and it was there that cod were thickest.

The cold Labrador current, flowing down into the great fishing bank on the continental shelf off Newfoundland, and the upward-swinging Gulf stream together act like the currents in the Strait of Belle Isle, and produce huge areas of "codwater," the investigators believe. Here the cod exert the same preference for water of a certain temperature that they exhibit in the channel.

"If fishermen would only take the temperature of the water they would soon realize how useless it is to expect the fish to strike in any given point before the conditions are right," an official of the biological board stated.—[A Science Service Bulletin.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

Think how different things would have turned out:

If Rip Van Winkle had slept in an apartment house.

If Boccaccio had written for the movies.

If there had been censorship in the spacious times of Queen Elizabeth.

If Cleopatra had started the hair-bobbing craze.

If Goliah had donned a catcher's mask when he saw David coming.

BASE TRANSFER RUMOR AT PORT

Standard Transportation to Locate Here

Bay City to Lose Company's Headquarters

General Petroleum Merger Back of Move

The Standard Transportation Companies may transfer their Pacific Coast marine headquarters from San Francisco to Los Angeles, following the absorption of General Petroleum Corporation last week by the Standard Oil Company of New York, according to unofficial word here yesterday. They operate a huge tanker fleet under the American flag out of New York, and another under the British flag out of Hongkong.

The same rumor has it that the coastwise service heretofore operated from Los Angeles to San Francisco, Portland and Seattle by General Petroleum tankers, likely will be discontinued and oil shipments confined to intercoastal and offshore trades.

General Petroleum's important producing facilities here, are expected to prompt the loading of many more of the Standard Transportation Companies' tankers here, as well as other extensive facilities for foreign marketing.

The Standard Oil Company of New York has only a few small oil carriers in its own fleet, while the American-owned Standard Transportation Company boasts a fleet of more than sixty, including a score of big tankers, operating chiefly on the Atlantic and intercoastal runs. The British-owned company has upward of a score of tankers plying chiefly to the Orient. The absorbing company gains title to a formidable fleet operated out of here by General Petroleum, including the Tejon, Lisbon, Lebec, Yorba Linda, Los Alamos and the recently Dieselized Lio; several big barges here and at San Francisco; and long charters on two new Norwegian tank motorships, the Nordanger and the Varanger.

Included also in the deal is the new loading station just completed on Terminal Island by General Petroleum, where four big tankers can berth and load simultaneously.

JAPANESE LINER IN PORT UNDER NEW FLAG

The big Japanese liner Siberia Maru put in here this morning, via San Francisco, at 8 a.m. yesterday to discharge a general cargo and several tons of cargo, and embark more than 300 local Japanese returning to their homeland. She will sail at 2 p.m. today. On her next trip up this port she will fly the house flag of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, owning and operating her and half a dozen other liners from the Toyo Kisen Kaisha. The T.K.K. liner Bokuyo Maru, included in the sailings from here, arrived in Yokohama at 2 p.m. today, and will sail for home at the same hour tomorrow. She has 800 Japanese, Hindus and Chinese on route to their homes and colonies in South and Central America. What will happen, due to the merger of the T.K.K. officers or full-time employees of the T.K.K. in the country, is expected to be learned in a few days, following the arrival in Los Angeles harbor of Takeo Yamamoto, new general manager for the N.Y.K. in America.

Grayco & Hoot will put their three newly acquired ships on the run between the Pacific Coast and Gulf ports, according to local representatives of the Hoe rederday. The company purchased the steamers Round Bridge, Continental Bridge and Hobart Bridge early this week from the Shipping Board. They are lake type steel freighters, built for the government by the Transmarine Boat Corporation at Newark, N. J., in 1920.

The freighter Esther Dollar sailed yesterday for the Orient with every inch of cargo space filled. Her lines was loaded, and left behind. When she was laden before she came from San Francisco, she took on 40,000 cases of gasoline and kerosene, 200 cases of oil sweepboom and other supplies here.

The Norwegian steamer Lucie Nielsen put in from Vancouver yesterday to discharge a cargo of lumber for New York, with a full cargo of lumber on her last trip in the intercoastal service she recently inaugurated. She is owned by H. Stenersen Nielsen, for whom she and three other vessels were built at Vancouver during the war.

The Admiral Oriental fleet would ply to Portland, Ore., if the Admiral Oriental Steamship Company purchased it, according to proposals of R. Stanley Dollar, now at Washington conferring with the Shipping Board. The bids are to be opened April 5, with Dollar the only bidder. John Chapman's efforts to purchase the fleet for the Los Angeles Steamship Company, which has been operating out of Los Angeles and San Francisco to the Orient by Scruttons & Barry, have been stopped for the present until the Admiral Oriental deal is consummated.

The Wallenilla is due from Northern Europe today as the first Belgian vessel ever to call at this port. She has a cargo of pig iron, coke and other products for here and ports north. The Wallenilla is under charter to Balfour, Guthrie & Co. Other foreigners from Northern Europe due today are the steamer Notre Dame de Fourviere and the British steamer Canadian Progress. The Montrolite, due from Wellington on Oct. 1, has been delayed until Sunday. She is bringing a large shipment of tomatoes from Mexico.

It is asserted that millions of dollars lost in fires might be saved if smokers would observe the simple precaution of breaking the used match between the fingers before throwing it away. Then there would be no doubt of the flame being extinguished.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

WASHINGTON, Marzo 25.—Los siete años de esfuerzos educativos para persuadirles a las mujeres que hagan uso de las urnas, ya que tienen voto, y que hagan de ellas el mejor uso posible, van a tener por culminación la convención de la Liga de Mujeres Votantes, que se celebrará en San Luis, del 14 to 21 del entrante Abril. Todas las energias del estado mayor de dicha liga en Washington se están consagrando ahora a organizar esta séptima convención anual en forma tal que abarque toda la esfera de la participación femenina en los gobiernos nacional, provincial y municipal.

La Liga ha sido el resultado que produjo la campaña en pro de la igualdad de sufragio. Cuando luchaban sus miembros por este ideal, estaban animadas por un propósito directo y único, que atrajo la atención general. Hoy, que ya tienen el voto, deben atender a cien diversas tareas educativas para enseñarles a las votantes todo lo que se puede hacer con el sufragio, de que ya disfrutan. La convención de San Luis habrá de demostrar si con siete años de práctica en el uso de las urnas se han alcanzado los resultados que se preveían.

En San Luis va a planearse una nueva campaña para hacer que se manifieste todo el voto femenino, que vayan a los comicios todas las ciudadanas, en las campañas parlamentarias de 1926, así como en las varias elecciones de Estados y municipales. Los planes se llevarán acto continuo a la práctica, pues ya se avecinan las elecciones primarias de primavera en muchos Estados.

Encuéntranse Ricos Depósitos de Hierro en Méjico

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Marzo 25. Los geólogos del gobierno han señalado yacimientos de hierro cerca del río de las Balsas, en el distrito de Salazar, Estado de Michoacán, según informe publicado por el ministerio de Industria y comercio. Por la cubicación aproximativa que trae dicho informe oficial, se sabe que esos yacimientos contienen no menos de 10,000,000 de toneladas de metal.

Agrega el documento que, para llevar al mercado dicho mineral, sería preciso construir un ferrocarril, o carreteras, desde Las Truchas, sitio donde se descubrieron los depósitos, hasta la costa del Pacífico.

NOTAS LOCALES

El sheriff Shay, de San Bernardino, ha comensado hoy a hacer pesquisas para dar con Benjamin W. Ary, de 46 años de edad, tesorero de la Primera Iglesia Cristiana de Redlands, y con la señora Jewell E. Brown, de 36 años, miembro de la misma iglesia. Ambos han desaparecido misteriosamente de sus casas de Redlands, y ninguno de ellos ha sido visto desde el 13 del actual, según informes que dice poseer el citado sheriff.

La señora Brown dejó un recado a su marido, diciéndole que podía comunicarse con ella por conducto de una amiga de Long Beach, cuyo nombre y señas le escribió. Esta amiga ni siquiera ha visto a la señora Brown. Esta dejó también su anillo matrimonial en su tocador, según manifiesta el sheriff Shay.

SEVERS LEG OF MOTHER, KILLING HER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DETROIT, March 25.—George Markwardt, 35 years of age, deaf mute, was arrested today on a charge of murdering his 79-year-old mother by cutting off her leg.

The mother, Mrs. Augusta Markwardt, was killed in her home. Later, police found the son sitting beside the bed on which rested his mother's body. He made a statement to officers saying his mother had been in ill health for some time and that she was taken suddenly worse Monday night. She called him and told him of severe pains in her left leg. The son's statement explained that his mother begged him to cut off her leg to end the pain and that he decided to do it.

Mrs. Markwardt, who was suffering intense pain before the operation began, probably became unconscious before her son had proceeded far with the amputation, physicians believe.

The son showed no emotion, and in telling his story to the officers, declared several times that he merely felt he was doing his duty in complying with his mother's wishes.

Mystery Fires Raze Homes of Rich English

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, March 25.—Two more country mansions have been destroyed by mysterious fires in the last twenty-four hours, bringing the total in the epidemic to twelve in the space of four months.

Today's blazes occurred at Sopworth House, the two-century-old home of Col. Stanley, the brother of the Earl of Derby, in Wiltshire, Col. Stanley and his wife were in London at the time of the fire, and their two small children were rescued by servants.

The other fire occurred at Hinwick Hall, Bedfordshire, the Elizabethan residence of Gilbert Robinson, the London department-store magnate. The causes of the fires are not known, but probably resulted from defective flues.

Accused Banker of Minneapolis Arrested Here

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MINNEAPOLIS, March 25.—Merchant P. Buzzell, former president of the University State Bank, Minneapolis, is in custody in Los Angeles, held for Hennipin county authorities on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree.

He is charged that he procured from Karl Scheurer, head of the violin department at the University of Minnesota, a note for $1925 through misrepresentation and sold it.

A deputy sheriff will leave tomorrow for Los Angeles with a warrant and the extradition petition of Gov. Christianson.

Dempsey Loses in Madera Bout With Speed Cop

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, March 25. — Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and his chauffeur, Robert A. Gates of Los Angeles, were arrested for speeding at sixty-eight miles an hour in Madera county late today by Traffic Officer Harrison of Madera county.

Officer Harrison reported that Dempsey's machine traveled at from fifty-five miles to seventy-five miles an hour before it was overtaken.

TOKIO REGENT SAVES KOREAN FROM DEATH

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, March 25.—The Prince Regent has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence passed yesterday on a Korean and his Japanese wife for plotting against the throne in 1923 and attempting to import bombs from Shanghai. The commutation was granted on grounds of humanity and to show that Japan has no feeling against Koreans.

Be Better Looking — Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.—[Advertisement.

STEAM QUELLS OIL FIELD FIRE

Damage of $200,000 Done in Long Beach Blaze

Many Derricks Threatened by Flaming Gasser

Dynamiting Near as Victory Comes to Fighters

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 25.—Live steam and tons of liquid mud, shot through pipe lines and hose, late this afternoon stopped what promised to become the most disastrous oil-field fire in the history of Southern California. The end came while firemen and oil men skilled in the use of dynamite, were preparing to resort to high explosives in an effort to halt the devastation which caused more than $200,000 damage through the destruction of three wells, four storage tanks and a group of boilers.

Oil drillers were endeavoring to turn a giant stream of flame seventy-five feet in length and fifty feet wide from a horizontal to a vertical position, preparatory to dynamiting the huge high-pressure torch and thereby cut off the tremendous flow of gas. The derrick of the Julian-Laughlin No. 1, directly north of the gasser, was torn down to make room for the dynamiting operations.

IGNITED BY FRICTION

The Wilbur, McAlpin, Craig No. 3 well, Locust avenue and Cameron, cause of what operators describe as one of the greatest oil-field disasters in the history of Southern California, blew in as a gasser shortly before 2 o'clock this morning while drillers were engaged in removing the cement plug, preparatory to completing the well. Friction, caused by the blowing out of the plug, ignited the 10,000,000 cubic foot flow of gas and in an instant the huge stream of flame shot southward at a level of five feet above the ground and engulfed surrounding wells.

The derrick of the Keck-McWherter No. 3, thirty feet south of the W. A. C. No. 3, fell a victim to the flames from the neighboring well and both rigs burned and collapsed at about the same time. Members of the crew of the W. A. C. leaped for their lives and five members were blown from the drilling floor, out of the rig. None was injured.

Operators working on the Keck-McWherter No. 3, heard the roar of gas from the neighboring well with the first shot of flame and jumped for their lives, all escaping injury. E. J. Johnson of the crew tarried long enough to shut off the gate valve on his well.

Flames, whipped about by the force of the gas pressure in much the same manner that a heavy pressure fire hose is whipped, spread to derricks in every direction. Every available bit of fire apparatus in Long Beach responded to alarms and prompt work by the firemen, under Acting Fire Chief Minter, saved the other rigs from destruction. Time and again the derricks of Keck-McWherter No. 4, directly west, and Julian-McLaughlin No. 1, to the north, were ablaze and firemen concentrated on these and other rigs throughout the day. Relaxation of vigilance for a few minutes at any time during the day would spell destruction of a derrick, it was said.

Summary of the damage made by operators affected following the killing of the menacing torch flow, revealed the following losses:

Wilbur-McAlpin Craig No. 3, $60,000.
Keck-McWherter No. 3, $100,000.
McKeon No. 4, $10,000.
Julian-McLaughlin No. 1, $20,000.
Four tanks owned by Keck-McWherter, $15,000.
A total of $205,000.

AX IN PORT CLEAN-UP TO FALL TODAY

Three Pilots, Including Chief, Slated by Burge to Lose Jobs Following Quiz

Storm clouds that have hovered over the pilot house at Los Angeles Harbor for weeks past are scheduled to break this morning with the ousting of three port pilots, including Capt. C. N. Krog, chief pilot. The discharge of the three is recommended in a report to be filed with the Board of Harbor Commissioners by Commissioner Burge. Inasmuch as Burge was appointed by the board several days ago to investigate and "clean up" the port pilot situation after charges of drunkenness and illegitimate solicitation of business had been made, his recommendation carries executive power.

Besides Capt. Krog, Capt. Harry Miller and Capt. Ollegreen are slated to go, it was learned last night.

Commissioner Burge, it was said, has investigated conditions at the port "thoroughly, efficiently and without prejudice" and his recommendations "undoubtedly will meet with the approval of the entire board."

In the report, Capt. Miller is charged with drunkenness. Not less than fourteen protests on his handling of ships entering the harbor, came to the attention of the board, it was said. On at least one occasion, it is charged, the commander of a ship entering port refused to give him the helm.

Capt. Krog, according to the report, was aware of Miller's condition, as well as the refusal of ship masters to trust their vessels to him, but "failed to make a report." This was the reason assigned for Capt. Krog's removal. Capt. Ollegreen, it is charged, spent too much time soliciting patronage from ships for favored supply houses. In addition, he is accused of piloting an incoming liner into a sandbar.

Commissioner Burge recommended Capt. T. G. McFarland, chief pilot of the Los Angeles Steamship and Drydocking Company during the war, as the successor to Capt. Krog. The three new appointees, as recommended, are Capts. Brown, Henry Anderson and George Anderson.

A requested pay rise of $50 per month for pilots will be met to the extent of $25 monthly, if Burge's recommendation on that score is approved.

STREET WIDENING BLOCKED

Supreme Court Sustains Objection to Improving Tenth on Grounds of Illegality

A twenty-page decision knocking the props completely out of the city's plan for the extension and widening of Tenth street from the east to the west city boundaries was handed down at San Francisco yesterday by the State Supreme Court.

The court sustained the decision of the trial tribunal here, which held the proposed improvement illegal.

The decision yesterday was written by Justice Shenk and concurred in by the other members of the court. It sustained virtually point for point the objections raised to the improvement by the O. T. Johnson Corporation. The court held that the notice of improvement was illegal in that it did not properly describe the property to be condemned.

The court also declared that the city should name specifically the fund out of which the money for the improvement was to come and that the city also should state just what percentage of the cost of the improvement it would pay.

A suit growing out of the same project filed by Viola Bogue and others was not passed upon by the Supreme Court in view of its decision on the corporation's suit.

City Attorney Stephens said last night the court's opinion came as nothing short of a shock to him. The city confidently expected to be sustained in its contentions. As to just what course of action his office will take, Mr. Stephens could not say until he has studied the opinion and digested its contents. In so far as this particular opinion and case is concerned, Mr. Stephens said, only one thing can be done by the city, and that is to ask the court for a rehearing. The State Supreme Court is the court of last resort as far as the case at hand is concerned, he said.

There is nothing, however, to prevent the city from starting all over again with the Tenth-street improvement project, said Mr. Stephens. It is entirely possible that this will be done, the city moving under the provisions of the new improvement act, which eliminates much of the "red tape" which cluttered up the old act, and which was considered as partly responsible for the difficulties encountered in the present case.

WILL VISIT AT RANCH

Former Mayor Meredith P. Snyder and Mrs. Snyder will leave Los Angeles today for their Modesto ranch with Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Montgomery of Battle Creek, Mich., as their guests for a week or ten days. Mrs. Montgomery was the widow of C. L. Post, head of the Post Cereal Company. She and Mr. Montgomery are spending the winter in Los Angeles, as has been their custom for a number of years, and are stopping at the Biltmore. They are owners of the Post Tavern at Battle Creek. Mr. Snyder is president of the California Guaranty corporation.

COUNCILMEN GET TUNNEL PLAN TODAY

Pedestrian Bore Location List to be Considered as Revised by Board

The Council is scheduled today to consider a report from the Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee carrying a revised list of locations for pedestrian tunnels. The list was revised and five locations abandoned at the recommendation of the Board of Public Works, Board of Education and Automobile Club of Southern California.

The recommended locations are as follows: Under Sunset Boulevard at Casell Place, under Brooklyn avenue at Breed street, under San Pedro street at Sixty-seventh street, under North Broadway at Thomas street, under Pacific avenue at O'Farrell street (San Pedro,) under Sunset Boulevard at Gardner street, under San Pedro street at Twenty-eighth street, under Glendale Boulevard at Clifford street, under Hollywood Boulevard at Wilton Place, under Dayton avenue at Loreto street, under East First street at Savannah avenue, under Western avenue at Thirty-sixth street, under Van Ness avenue at Maplewood avenue, under Pasadena avenue at Avenue 22, under Venice Boulevard at Seventh avenue, under Temple street at Edgeware Road.

The locations discarded were: Under Vine street at Barton avenue, under Jefferson street at Sixth avenue, under Main street at Fifty-second Place, under Main street at Ann street, under Main street at Seventy-fifth street. These locations were abandoned due to engineering difficulties, such as conduits, storm drains and sewers.

The Board of Public Works will be asked to call for bids on the sixteen locations above.

"First Easter" Pageant to be Presented Again

"The First Easter," a pageant written by John Steven McCroarty, poet and author of the Mission Play, will be presented for the fourth consecutive year on Easter morning at 9 a.m. on the grounds of the Huntington Hotel at Pasadena. The pageant deals with the first Easter celebrated in California.

A cast of 100 persons will appear in the pageant. This will include the Mission Play performers. The general public is invited.

NOLAN NEW HEAD OF BANK

Hellman Announces Appointment of Attorney as Successor to Late Benjamin E. Page

E. J. Nolan, 37 years of age, for ten years attorney for the Merchants' National Bank, yesterday was appointed president of the Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Benjamin E. Page. For the past two years he has served as director and active vice-president of the former institution and became a director in the Hellman Bank of which he is now president in the early part of the current year. Announcement of his appointment was made by Marco H. Hellman, chairman of the board of directors.

Not only were Mr. Nolan and the late Mr. Page close personal friends, but they were business associates as well in many financial affairs, being partners in the law firm of Page, Nolan, Robe & Hurt. Mr. Hellman unqualifiedly expressed the belief that the newly appointed president is ably fitted to carry on the program of expansion and progress begun by the late president.

E. J. NOLAN.

"Mr. Nolan brings to his office a vast fund of financial experience and a broad knowledge of banking," said Mr. Hellman. "In addition to his association with the Merchants' National Bank and the one of which he is now president, he is a director in several local banking institutions, including Banks-Huntley & Co., the Guaranty Discount Corporation and the Mortgage Surety Company. He also is president and director of the First Bank of Maywood and director of the Bank of San Fernando."

Mr. Nolan's connection with the Hellman Bank dates from its establishment, when the affairs of the old All Night and Day Bank were taken over by the Hellman interests, for it was through the law firm of which he is a member that the bank organization plans were consummated. Because he has been in such close and constant touch with the bank's management, Mr. Hellman bespeaks a continuation of administrative policy under the new leader.

The new president was graduated from the University of Southern California in 1911. He is a prominent member of the California Club, the University Club and the Los Angeles Country Club. He is unmarried.

ANYHOW, we are getting better; That's something.

TAME TEA

If the truth were known, there will not be so many low sad songs of grief from the publishers as might be imagined.

I know of at least one "confession" magazine that was about to give up the ghost, anyhow. The publishers thereof were gracefully getting ready to slide from under by starting a magazine devoted to stories of the wide, free West, where men are men and the cowboys roll their own.

Orders have gone out to the kept writers of another confession magazine to "can the sex stuff."

MORAL TURPITUDE

The trouble was that the wicked magazines were not really up to the required brand of depravity. There wasn't enough turpentine in the moral turpitude.

The magazine cover of the artist's model, apparently taking off her last rag, gave promise that failed of fulfillment in the contents. The story usually turned out to be tame and sappy.

MADE TO ORDER

A friend of mine once had the honor and distinction of being present when one of these confession magazines was being cooked for the trade, so to speak.

A dozen or more mild and bored old hack writers sat around a long table—peacefully ruminating, no doubt, about their Saturday golf scores, or about the coming election in the volunteer fire department over in New Jersey. The brisk arrival of the editor. He shuffled a pack of index cards, and then handed one or two to each.

Each writer read his assignment on the card. One sighed as he saw that he was stuck again to be the artist's model who had nearly to confess. Another tired old chap found that he was to confess for the bootlegger's bride, etc., etc.

GOSSIP

Anyhow, I can't believe the mushroom growth of these confession magazines was due to the inherent cussedness of the rising generations.

Rather it was due to a repressed appetite for gossip.

In the little-town days of our glorious country we used to gossip over the back fence with Mrs. Cassidy; and find out what her old man said when Clarice stayed out until after midnight.

Now we all live in apartment-houses and so on—and, gosh! we have got to find out these intimate domestic details somehow or other.

THE NEW BIOGRAPHY

It is the same instinct that gave rise to the new school of "intimate biography."

It is nothing more or less—all these Col. House letters and the Queen Victoria letters, and so on—than finding out the back-door gossip that Mrs. Cassidy used to peddle while she hung her old man's flannel nighty on the line.

G. H. WELCH GOODCELL'S SUCCESSOR

Long Beach Insurance Man Nominated as Collector of Internal Revenue Here

President Coolidge yesterday nominated Galen H. Welch of Long Beach to be Internal Revenue Collector here succeeding Rex B. Goodcell, resigned, according to dispatches from Washington.

GALEN H. WELCH

Mr. Welch is chairman of the Ninth District Republican Congressional Committee, a post he has held for many years. He long has been active in Southern California politics. He is a large property owner and moved to Long Beach in 1914, where he has been engaged in the real estate and insurance business. He is a native of Iowa. Under Long Beach's first managerial form of government he was elected to the City Council. He is a member of the Palos Verdes Masonic Lodge.

During the war, Mr. Welch was Federal Food Administrator for Los Angeles county. In 1920 he organized the League of Republican Voters and has been re-elected its chairman at each biennial election.

The support of the Federal Building's Republican "Four Hundred" is understood to have been solidly behind Mr. Welch, whose nomination was forecast in The Times exclusively more than a month ago.

Mr. Goodcell said that he has not received notice of Mr. Welch's nomination but that he wishes for his successor as much pleasure and co-operation in the position as he has enjoyed.

"The service has a real efficient organization in this district," Mr. Goodcell said, "and I hope the new collector will not too greatly disturb it."

DRINK BLAMED IN FATAL CRASH

One Killed and Four Hurt as Cars Collide

All Three Occupants of One Auto Arrested

Liquor in Car, Say Police; Speeding Charged

In a motor collision yesterday in which a drunken driver figured, according to a police report, C. W. Kessinger, 21 years of age, of 3072 West Avenue 35, was killed and Fred C. Raiser, 30, of 1663 Waterloo street, suffered internal injuries. Detective Lieutenants Parsons and Stanford and Officer Fleming arrested all three of the occupants of the other car on suspicion of manslaughter.

They were Charles Bockius, 28, real-estate man, of 1149 Heliotrope Drive; Charles Campbell, 30, of 323 East Fortieth street, and John Murphy, 24, of 115 West Fourteenth Place. Bockius, the driver, and Campbell were intoxicated, according to the police and the report of Police Surgeon Dunsmoore; Murphy was sober and showed no indications of having been drinking. The officers declared they found a bottle of Jamaica ginger in Campbell's pocket and a smashed gin bottle on the floor of the car.

Bockius and Campbell suffered cuts and bruises in the accident and Murphy, concussion.

According to the version of the accident obtained from Raiser and corroborated, police said, by several witnesses, Kessinger and Raiser were driving north on Alvarado street, just south of First, and Bockius was driving in the opposite direction, at a speed estimated at sixty to seventy miles an hour. As Kessinger's light car swung to the left to pass a milk cart, though still remaining on the right-hand side of the street, it was declared, the heavy car driven by Bockius swerved diagonally across the street and struck it head on.

Kessinger was killed where he sat and his car was completely wrecked. His body was sent to the burial rooms of Sharp & Sons, where an inquest will be conducted at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

According to the arresting officers, Bockius, Campbell and Murphy were all seated in the front seat of the heavy car. The officers declared the first-named two were so much under the influence of liquor they had to be assisted out of the car.

MISSOURIANS TO HAVE NIGHT AT BIG PARADE

Missourians visiting here and former residents of the "Show Me" State will share honors with Barker Brothers' employees in the celebration of Missouri night on Monday evening at Grauman's Egyptian Theater. The reception committee welcoming the visitors will include King Vidor, representing the directors of cinemaland as host, and Marceline Day, Wampas star of 1926, as the star hostess. A large proportion of the membership of the Missouri State Society, of which James A. Lang is president; David Small, secretary, and G. V. Le Sieur, treasurer, is planning to join in the celebration, which will be given in connection with the evening presentation of "The Big Parade."

Special attention will be given the accounting methods in use and later the students will discuss these methods and other of their observations as part of their regular class work.

FAILED TO BREAK WIFE'S SPIRIT

So He Broke Furniture, Woman Contends, in Winning Decree

Laurence Fred Himmelgrau was determined to break his wife's spirit and, failing that, he broke the furniture, Mrs. Enor Himmelgrau told Judge Gates yesterday.

"He smashed all the furniture," she testified.

"Why did he do that?" inquired Judge Gates.

"Because he could not break my spirit, which was what he said he had set out to do," replied Mrs. Himmelgrau. Judge Gates awarded her a decree on her cruelty charges.

RAIL-GRADE CROSSING TO BE ALLOWED

Council Accepts Deed to Redondo Boulevard Right of Way from Electric Line

Frank Karr, attorney for the Pacific Electric, yesterday delivered to the city a deed for a grade crossing across the Pacific Electric tracks on San Vicente Boulevard at Redondo Boulevard. The city also is trying to get a grade crossing over the Venice line at Venice and Redondo Boulevards.

The Council, sitting as a committee of the whole, voted to instruct Assistant City Attorney Bryan to advise the State Railroad Commission that the city wished a grade crossing across the Southern Pacific tracks at Fletcher Drive, with the understanding that within three years the grades would be separated. This crossing was desired so that a by-pass might be available when the time comes to separate the grades where the Southern Pacific crosses Brand Boulevard and Los Feliz Boulevard in Glendale.

The Council also made it clear that a grade crossing will be asked at Pico Boulevard and Cochran avenue. These crossings eventually will be separated. It was brought out that care must be exercised in opening grade crossings, as these must be separated eventually at huge costs.

"The best and safest place for transportation is on the surface of the ground," Mr. Karr told the Council. "When you go into the air or below the surface your cost of building the line increases from ten to forty times."

The Pacific Electric will co-operate as much as possible with the city government, he promised, but he warned the Council against the opening of an excessive number of grade crossings.

MAYOR CONFERS ON CITY'S CHEST GIFT

Mayor Cryer yesterday conferred with representatives of the Community Chest, while on his desk lay the contract whereby the city agrees to appropriate $24,750 for the care of poor and indigent children. The money was provided by action of the Council, and is the city's contribution to the Community Chest, but on advice of the City Attorney the use to which it will be devoted is specified. The other party to the contract is the Community Welfare Federation of Los Angeles, of which R. W. Pridham is president and George Babcock secretary. The contract was not signed by the Mayor yesterday.

Mystery Veils Suspect's Real Identity

Mrs. Margaret King

GIRL IN NET PUZZLES POLICE

Asserted Accomplice of Auto Thieves Held for Trial in Santa Monica on $2800 Bail

Several mysterious features are still attached to the case of Mrs. Margaret King, 25 years of age, arrested at Santa Monica on suspicion of being the accomplice of two men who were said to have been trying to steal an automobile.

According to Mrs. Ella Brown, Santa Monica police matron, Mrs. King said to her: "If they knew who I am they wouldn't keep me in jail half an hour."

Late yesterday afternoon, it was said, Mrs. King, in tears, told Chief of Police Webb of Santa Monica she married her husband last November despite the objections of her family in Detroit. She did not give his first name or his address. She had previously said she had gone to Santa Monica to see her husband. Police are inclined to believe she comes of a prominent Detroit family.

According to her attorneys, Vincent C. Hickson and Thomas P. White, she had complained that the first night she was detained at Santa Monica, police officers awakened her every fifteen minutes to question her. This annoyance ceased after Chief of Police Webb had been informed of it, it was stated.

Mrs. King had given her address as 3904 West Sixth street, which house, police said, is occupied by Bert Busterna, known as Bert the Barber, who was the proprietor of the place where Farmer Page killed Al Joseph. Yesterday, it was stated, Mrs. King declared she does not know Busterna and Busterna declared he does not know her.

Mrs. King was arraigned before Police Judge Spencer at Santa Monica yesterday charged with acting as accessory to two men driving a car without the owner's consent, a felony charge and possessing a car with an altered motor number, and two charges of possessing revoked license plates. The latter three charges are misdemeanors.

Bond was set at $2500 on the felony charge and $100 each on the three misdemeanor charges. It was stated bond will be furnished. Hearing on the felony charge was set for April 7, and the misdemeanors will come up April 1.

Santa Monica police said Mrs. King was arrested when she appeared to be trying to aid two men who fled from a machine owned by Robert Armour, manager of the Majestic Theater at Santa Monica. Police said they found several license plates in her car, of which she professed ignorance. One of these plates, they said, belonged to a car which had been stolen and later found stripped. Mrs. King's car was registered to her, but police declared the engine number had been altered.

Santa Monica police stated last night that they had checked up the license numbers on the plates said to have been found in Mrs. King's car, finding they had been issued to George L. Lanix, 1619 West Forty-sixth street, Los Angeles; E. S. Wagner, 1246 North Hayworth street, os Angeles; H. H. Hill, San Francisco, and Savoy Hotel Los Angeles; and George R. Adams, San Bernardino. One number was not traced, it was said.

Dredge and Tug Damaged in Fire at East Basin

The dredge San Francisco was burned to the water line and the tug Jean, moored alongside, was considerably damaged in a fire early yesterday. The dredge and tug were in the east basin, engaged in deepening the channel, and the dredge caught fire. It is supposed, from an overflow of oil in her engine-room. The blaze spread quickly and set fire to the tug.

Only one man, a watchman, was aboard at the time; he was rescued by fireboat No. 2 when she arrived.

Both vessels were owned by the United Dredging Company. The damage was estimated at $135,000, $125,000 on the dredge and $10,000 on the tug.

BREAKFAST CLUB TO HONOR W. W. MINES

The Breakfast Club's testimonial dinner to W. W. Mines will be tendered tonight in the organization's headquarters, 3213 Riverside Drive. More than 150 of the civic and business leaders will attend. President Maurice DeMond of the Breakfast Club will preside and William May Garland will act as toastmaster. During the regular breakfast this morning the club will entertain most of the leading merchants of the city. James C. Haggarty will be host.

Giving 'Lift' to Chinese Lands Couple in Jail

Emmett Chote and Mrs. Hollis Young—to use the names they gave Federal immigration officers in Colton yesterday when they were arrested charged with smuggling Chinese across the border from Mexico—are now in the County Jail here while an investigation is being made.

Two Chinese were found in the automobile when the couple were arrested in Colton, according to Federal agents, who asserted that Chote and Mrs. Young had brought the Chinese across the border at Mexicali and were on their way to San Francisco when taken into custody.

Chote said last night that Mrs. Young is his wife and told local authorities that they had merely given a lift to the Chinese shortly before they were arrested on the Federal charge.

FAT DAMAGE SUIT FILED BY JULIAN

Says "Times" and Corporation Commissioner Conspired Against Him

C. C. Julian, as the Western Lead Mines Company, yesterday filed suit for $350,000 damages against Corporation Commissioner Daugherty, Deputy Corporation Commissioner Earl C. Adams, Walter D. Abel, the commissioner's engineer; Edward F. Dishman, investigator for the commissioner; Harry Chandler, publisher of The Times; Ralph W. Trueblood, executive editor; W. H. Bryan, advertising agent, and A. M. Rochlen and Albert Nathan, reporters for The Times.

Mr. Julian asserts that the Corporation Commissioner and his agents and The Times and its agents conspired together to destroy the market for Western Lead stock upon the sale of which the company depended for funds to finance development work. The suit charges that the action of Mr. Daugherty in summoning twenty Los Angeles stock brokers to answer questions regarding the sale of Western Lead stock was the result of this "conspiracy." The whole purpose of the move, according to Mr. Julian, was to force down the price of Western Lead stock. It is charged that Section 182 of the Penal Code was violated. This section makes it a felony "falsely to move or maintain any suit."

The suit charges that the defendants have been moved by malice toward Mr. Julian for three years and that, when he was president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, Mr. Daugherty ordered $2,000,000 of the company funds impounded to embarrass him and then secretly agreed to release the money if the transaction were kept quiet.

As a result of the "conspiracy" the suit sets out that the price of Western Lead has been forced down from a high of $2.30 to $1.50 and that the plaintiff is out about $350,000.

The suit was filed by Attorneys W. I. Gilbert and Frank Doherty.

BAY CITY IN DEMAND FOR CARPENTERS

Three Months' Contract, Guaranteed Pay Offered Efficient Workmen

Efficient carpenters who wish to procure employment in San Francisco under a three-months' contract with guaranteed pay for that time may do so at an office opened in Room 526, San Fernando Building, Main and Fourth streets, by the San Francisco Industrial Association, its representatives announced here yesterday.

San Francisco this year has undertaken a building program twice as great as last year, the announcement said, and carpenters for there will be contracted with on the basis of $8 for an eight-hour day, forty-four-hour week, time and a half overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays. No fee is charged and transportation is free, it was announced.

The Industrial Association understands that union carpenters in the Bay City intend to quit work April 1 on orders from international officers of the union who are said to hope that by this means they can make San Francisco a closed-shop and union town as to carpenters. Some of the local union officials are reported to have opposed the international headquarter's order, but without success.

Since 1921, it is declared, the building industry in San Francisco has been on an open-shop basis with union and non-union carpenters working, as now, side by side on the same job. Since that time, according to the association's representatives, no violence has marked the keeping of the trade on an open-shop basis.

Union leaders are understood to contemplate the walk-out April 1 as a last effort to recoup their waning power.

State Closes in Oil-Stock Sales Trial of Pair

The prosecution finished its case against Floyd White and Albert Chandler, charged with having obtained $544,000 through sale of oil stock to Mrs. Catherine Bayne Stephens of Pasadena, in Judge Hahn's court yesterday.

Defense attorneys made a motion that the jury be instructed to dismiss the charges. The motion was still being argued when court adjourned.

Three-Gun Thief Suspect Accused on Dozen Counts

Complaints carrying eleven counts of robbery charges and one of carrying concealed weapons were filed against Edward J. Ketchum, dubbed by police the three-gun bandit, by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McIsaac yesterday.

The jobs credited to Ketchum include holding up of the El Patio dance hall and are said to have been performed between February 6, last, and the 19th inst.

CHIROPRACTOR TALKS ON SPINE ADJUSTMENT

"The adjustment of the vertebrae to prevent pressure on nerves will cure 90 per cent of curable cases, and proper diet and hygienic living will cure the other 10 per cent of curable cases," said Dr. Charles A. Cale last night at the meeting of the American Naturopathic Association in Music-Arts Hall. Dr. Cale quoted from a medical journal which admitted chiropractors had achieved some "successes."

FIRE QUELLED IN OIL FIELD

in local history. Assistant Chief Jewell of the Long Beach department sustained a wrenched leg, but returned to duty after receiving medical attention. Chief Earl Kelly of the Signal Hill fire department was overcome by the heat before daylight and had to be relieved for a time, later returning to duty. Fire Drillmaster Charles Jones was overcome at noon and was treated at fire headquarters.

The cause of the fire, according to Mose Killingsworth, head driller for the W. M. C. Company, was due to friction caused by the cement plug being blown out during a test being conducted by the drilling crew shortly before 2 o'clock this morning. The tremendous gas pressure blew Killingsworth and four other members of the drilling crew out of the derrick floor and out of the rig. The well derrick became a seething mass of flames a moment later.

Members of the crew of the Keck McWherter No. 3, which had just been completed as a producing well yesterday, leaped for their lives. The prompt work and heroism of E. J. Johnson, who remained long enough to shut off the control valves at the Keck McWherter well saved his company more than $100,000, it was said.

Crews rushed to the gate valve of Keck McWherter No. 4, thirty feet to the west and shut off that well in time to save it. Flames which licked the structure finally burned off the top, destroying the crown block.

The bitter fight of city firemen to save the derrick of the Julian Laughlin No. 1, twenty-five feet to the north of the gusher, went for naught when at noon it was decided to sacrifice the valuable rig to make room for dynamiting crews.

More than 200 oil workers concentrated from wells in various parts of the field were thrown into the battle to stem the devastating flow of fire, and liquid mud lines and live steam from a battery of sixty boilers finally was thrown into the blaze, close to where it emerged from the ten-inch casing. This fighting equipment had been planned for use as the first step in clearing the way for the dynamiting crew. It was soon apparent this afternoon that the force of the mud and steam was sufficient to cut off for an instant at a time the roaring flame. Reignition from molten metal, however, started the blaze afresh each time. Heavy streams of water then were added to the steam and mud lines and when a cut-off was finally effected, the water had done its work sufficiently well to prevent reignition. Danger of reignition from other sources still existed this afternoon because of the inability of the operators to cut off the flow of gas, which was still roaring out its 10,000,000 cubic feet bellow late today.

In spite of the hour which the fire started, police soon faced a difficult task in coping with spectators, huge crowds of people aroused from their slumbers by the roar, having hurried to the scene in automobiles. After sun-up crowds were increased fifty-fold and every available policeman under command of Lieut. Dovey was hurried to the oil field to handle traffic and keep back the spectators.

Willard Bust Requested for Chamber Hall

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, at their meeting yesterday, passed favorably upon a request tendered by the past directors of the Chamber Association, through their secretary, George Rice, Jr.

The past directors' association placed before the board a request that a bust, similar to that of Frank Wiggins, and placed in the niche directly opposite in the main entrance of the new Chamber of Commerce Building, be made of Charles Dwight Willard, who, the association contends, for his work for the Chamber of Commerce at its inception and during its early years, deserves that honor.

George Rice, Jr., Robert N. Bulla, J. O. Koepfli and D. K. Edwards, past directors of the chamber, sponsored the movement of placing the bronze. Plans are now under way for the forming of a committee to take the necessary steps.

Daughter Born to Agnes Ayres of Film Fame

The daughter was named Maria Eugenia Reachi. Mother and child were reported doing well.

The child has been widely known not only as a screen juvenile but also as a very pretty little girl appearing in playlets, at public programs and as a favorite over the radio. Among some of her screen appearances were parts in the following: "Can a Woman Love Twice?" "The Sunshine Trail," "Wandering Husbands," Marshall Neilan's "Patsy," "Compromise" and "Daddies." She was one of the official mascots at the late Shrine convention.

MUSIC WAVES MADE VISIBLE

onance produced by any musical instrument comes from overtones, and overtones, the audience was shown during the lecture, are additional waves superimposed on the simples waves to build up complex but orderly combinations. The musician's problem, he declared, is to get quality of overtones. His danger lies in producing too many, for they, he showed, will produce discord.

Whether you are lulled and soothed by McDowell's "To a Waterfall," or urged into a Charleston outburst by "Sweet Georgia Brown," standing waves carry the tone, it appeared from what the scientist said and showed. He warned his audience genius, and not mathematics, will determine the final quality of music.

A succession of experiments illustrating the lecture kept the gathering in an enthusiastic mood. The Tyndall organ pipe flame, with which the speaker illustrated standing waves, drew the first outbursts of applause. Tiny jets of flame shooting upward through holes on top of a section of brass pipe were made to change their length by sounding a whistle against one end of the pipe. The sound waves, Prof. Tileston explained, outlined their form by interfering with the scape of the gas and changing the size of the flame tongues.

The visualization of sound waves was accomplished by the apparatus designed elsewhere but improved and simplified by Victor Neher and Mr. Campbell under Prof. Tileston's direction. This instrument, a large box-like affair with a megaphone attached to an ordinary telephone forming one of its visible parts, threw a spot light on a silvered screen on the wall of Mason Hall, where the lecture was delivered.

This spot, the size of a silver dollar, was reflected from a tiny mirror fixed to a coiled spring at the end of the sensitive telephone-like contrivance. The vibrations set up by the sound waves set the mirror in motion. The vibrating mirror threw its tiny beam of light on a cube-like mirror of larger dimensions, and this in turn was made to revolve at great speed. The result was that instead of a stationary spot of light the audience saw a streak—something like a stream of water shot from a hose. And different sounds caused the stream-like line to describe waves so that the audience could see them.

A violin, 'cello, oboe, clarinet, cornet, flute and French horn, each gave out characteristic waves. The sewer pipe contributed its share of resonance, and this, also, was recorded on the screen. And the burst of applause that followed each demonstration showed in wriggling, zig-zagging lines the appreciation of the audience.

That the condition of a person's health may some day be determined by the individual's ability to distinguish high-frequency sounds was suggested by Prof. Tileston tonight. A normal person should have no trouble in hearing frequencies as high as 17,000, he said.

The physical and physiological course of a musical sound were pictured by Prof. Tileston at the close of his lecture. Standing waves are set up in a musical instrument. Overtones create quality. These overtones strike the human ear and impinge themselves on the liquid in the ear. There, something like 2000 nerve endings, each one probably tuned to certain frequencies, respond and carry the message to the brain. The nerve endings and the brain thus analyze the waves and out of the complexity bring out order, beats, resonance and music, he said.

COLISEUM'S USE SURE ON JULY FOUR

Co-operation for Pageant and Celebration Voted by City Council

The City Council yesterday officially voted co-operation with civic and patriotic societies sponsoring an Independence-Day celebration and pageant in observance of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The Council's action assures the use of the Coliseum for the event.

Councilmen Workman, Allan and Sparks were named to serve on the executive committee in charge of the celebration as the city's representatives.

Chairman Edwards Davis of the executive committee called a meeting for Monday evening in the Hollywood Masonic Temple. Officers of all organizations interested in the celebration are invited.

The celebration, it is expected, will include not only a historic pageant by film stars, but ideas of the American Legion and the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, which previously had planned independent observances.

Final papers of all aliens applying for citizenship will be held up to July 4, when they will be presented at the Coliseum.

Temporary headquarters of the celebration will be at the Hollywood Masonic Temple offices of the Two-Thirty-Three Club.

INVENTORS MEET TONIGHT

Inventors of Southern California will discuss with the Los Angeles Chapter, National Association of Inventors, the possibilities of holding a convention of inventors and exhibit of inventions in Portland in June, in conjunction with other inventors of San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver, at a meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the ninth floor of the Chamber of Commerce Building.

MINERS SWARM DIGGINGS

Sixty Carloads of Men Stake Claims in Kramer Hills After Strike of $1-a-Pound Ore

From thirty-four miles south of the mining town of Randsburg in the Kramer Hills on the Mojave desert two days ago came reports of a rich gold strike and already an old-fashioned California gold rush is under way. Yesterday morning sixty automobiles loaded with miners were reported at the new strike with additional automobiles arriving every hour.

The strike, according to reports received in San Bernardino and Randsburg, was made by Ed Herkelrath and his cousin, John Herkelrath. The two working over an old placer claim followed the placer, according to the report, and uncovered a quartz formation of high-grade ore.

Information given out in Randsburg yesterday by Kent Knowlton, a mining man, was to the effect that the two miners have driven a shaft to the depth of fifty-seven feet and there uncovered a vein of gold-bearing quartz estimated to run about $1 a pound. The vein is said to be more than two feet in width.

From the information available yesterday there are now four claims being worked in the district. Two of them have been put into operation since the strike. Hundreds of additional claims have been staked out by the new prospectors who are arriving hourly.

The history of the Kramer Hills district dates back to the days of the famous Yellow Aster strike. At the time a number of placer claims were being operated around the present strike, but were worked out or abandoned after the richer discovery strikes near the Yellow Aster.

The two men who are reported to have reopened the old mining district have been prospecting in the Kramer Hills for a number of months. According to the reports here they followed up the old placer deposits and traced the free gold back to the quartz formation.

The Kramer Hills are thirty-four miles south of Randsburg and on the Adelanto-Randsburg road, which branches from the Old Trails National Highway at Summit.

PLANS HOSPITAL WING

Officers to Be Elected April 5 by Children's Institution

The annual meeting of the Children's Hospital will be conducted at 2 p.m. April 5, next, it was announced yesterday. On the same day the hospital will have open house from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in commemoration of its silver anniversary, and friends of the institution are being urged to bring a gift of silver for the occasion. Officers and directors for the ensuing year will be elected at the meeting, and plans for the building of a new 100-bed wing and a new nurses' home will be outlined. During last year, it was said, the hospital was compelled by lack of space to refuse almost as many patients as it admitted.

Says Greatest Rheumatic Medicine in All The World

Hundreds of Bottles Being Sold, Declares—A—Who Guarantees It and Is Dispensing It To Many Sufferers In This Vicinity.

"It does not matter to me whether you are disabled with cursed rheumatism or have only occasional twinges," says James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y. "I know that Allenrhu, my own discovery, will stop the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and reduce the swollen joints."

"I know it will dissolve the uric acid deposits that have become deeply imbedded in joints and muscles and quickly drive every trace of rheumatism from your body. I know this because I was crippled for years and many times was unable to work, and Allenrhu made a well, robust, healthy man of me."

"I know because since I cured myself, hundreds have taken Allenrhu and speedily rid themselves of this agonizing disease."

Allenrhu is no laggard; it starts right in at once; it gets into the blood, searches out the poisonous uric acid deposits and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that cause rheumatism, out of the body through the natural channels.

"The blessed relief this marvelous prescription quickly gives, has made for it thousands of friends," say Los Angeles Druggists who have been appointed agents in your city. It is Mr. Allen's own discovery. If you live out of town ask him to send you full particulars.

A REAL DICTATOR

An English tourist in Florence who called Mussolini a tyrant was fined 1500 lire and sentenced to jail for eight months. Thus proving that the Englishman was right.

SKIN AND EARS

Now science shows that it is possible for the deaf to hear by means of an understanding of the vibrations that reach the skin. To a certain extent the skin has ears. But supposing a man has just been skinned. Will he hear about it?

HIS LONG SUIT

Now we are told of a man who has been wearing the same suit of clothes for twenty-five years and has not only kept out of jail, but been admitted to the French Academy. A man who can keep his duds running for two decades is entitled to a decoration of some kind if it isn't anything but a derby hat.

THE MOUNTAIN TOP

The French aviator who will seek to soar over Mt. Everest has picked out the loftiest mark for his aim. The world will hope he makes it, but much apprehension will be felt. Any sort of a forced landing would doubtless mean annihilation. This Callizo has reached an altitude of nearly 40,000 feet, but this was above the soil of sunny France. The Himalayas are largely unsolved territory.

HAD HIS PAY RAISED

The salary of President Von Hindenburg of Germany has been increased to something like $15,000 and twice that sum is available for the upkeep of the office and mansion of the Executive. This is putting the job on a paying basis and giving it a touch of dignity. President Ebert had to plug along on about $200 a month, which is hardly enough to keep a lusty family in clothespins.

PRICE OF KNOWLEDGE

The people of the United States will this year spend $3,000,000,000 on education—for the upkeep of their schools and colleges. Before the war the annual outlay was around $700,000,000. We are now paying more than four times as much and it is to be earnestly hoped that we are getting the worth of our money. Judging from the number of our young men who have learned to play the saxophone, we are.

KEEPING IT FILLED

Anyhow, a lot of prisoners must like our new jail. They set their faces tightly against the lure of the open. They refuse to walk out, even if the front door is left open. There are actually 1190 on the rosters of those present. The jail was built to hold 1400 on a pinch, but it seems crowded—even with all the recent deliveries. The great problem of the day appears to be to find jails enough to detain our criminal classes. Here we create a new one at a cost of some $6,000,000 and there are overflow meetings on the porch already.

KEYSTONE POLITICS

There will be some spice in the Pennsylvania Senatorial campaign and it will not all be furnished by Senator Pepper, either. In his race for re-election he will have some spirited opposition. Not only is Gov. Pinchot after his seat, but Congressman William S. Vare of the First Philadelphia District is very much in the running. The first two are listed as drys, but Representative Vare is wet to the core and persists in making the Volstead Act the issue in the campaign. That is why the race will be a spirited one—with the Congressman appearing for the ardent spirits.

THE SHREWISH WIFE

In his last will and testament a Philadelphia man told the world that his wife had nagged him daily for more than twenty years. It, therefore, gave him final pleasure to will the lady the sum of $1 with which she might purchase a rope and hang herself. This was a rather gruff message to leave with his partner, but perhaps he had some moments of vast satisfaction while penning the same. There possibly is some difficulty in getting even with a shrewish wife in this world and by passing half of the task on to his executor this Philadelphian has done as well as could be expected.

AMONG THE GUNNERS

There is no doubt whatever of this hijacking being a low game. Sometimes a single shipment of booze becomes at different times the property of a chain of half a dozen plunderers. There may be honor among thieves, but there is none amid bootleggers. They will pluck one another at the slightest opportunity. Usually at some stage of the thieving there is a regular or a dummy prohibition agent involved. There are hundreds of raids that have no official sanction. They are really made by hi-jackers and bootleggers upon one another. It has become a mighty coarse sport.

CORRODING AMBITION

Commenting on the Senatorial campaign in Pennsylvania, the Riverside Enterprise says: "If Pinchot ever had the sturdy qualities attributed to him by his admirers he is now a discouraging example of the corroding power of ambition." This characterization not only depicts Gov. Pinchot but a number of other more or less prominent politicians who took part in the Bull Moose campaign of 1912.

Most of the issues on which Roosevelt sought to form a third party are dead and forgotten. In fact, they were never alive. About the only one which was not an old issue expressed in different words was the recall of judicial decisions. How many affirmative votes would such an issue receive at the present time? We have since passed through the period of war hysteria and realize the unjustness at times of popular clamor. A wave of passion or prejudice sways the masses like a storm passing over the surface of the ocean. For the moment the surface is troubled and navigation is perilous. But the waters below are undisturbed; the rays of the sun return and the blue sea again reflects the untroubled purity of the heavens.

And a people is like the sea; the surface waters may be lashed to fury by wild winds, but the depths remain unmoved. A recall of judicial decisions would be to substitute popular clamor for justice. The issue is dead; but the aspiring politicians who sought to use it as a means to power are still thrashing about—some like wounded serpents.

Ambition—the kind that rises earlier than virtue and retires later than vice—still drives them on. But they are only poor copies of a great original. They are examples of "the corroding power of ambition." Disappointment has rendered them bitter. They are filled with resentment that others have succeeded in doing what they tried to do and failed; and there is no more embittered hatred than that of failure for success.

Pinchot, Johnson, Reed, Borah, Beveridge: corroded ambition has left its trace upon them all. The heights which they sought to attain have remained inaccessible to them; and it is because they followed a false trail, one that led upward for a time, but ended at the foot of a towering wall of granite. Only wings could reach that height above and these they lacked. Serpent like, they could only crawl; and there were no crevices in the wall to which to cling.

Now they feel their impotency. The only path open to them is that which leads back to the masses in the valley below. And it is a charming valley where life and love are fair. The heights are only for those gifted by destiny with wings; and on the heights is solitude. Happiness is the little blue flower that blooms for each one in the valley who knows how to find it. But these political adventurers trod upon it in their ambition to mount; and now for them it is dead.

Perhaps these men are to be pitied. They all possess certain talents; but, blinded by ambition, these talents have been misapplied. They are derelicts on the sea of public life; and only communities ignorant of the sea will trust their fortunes to such vessels.

And we do not have to go so far as Pennsylvania for a striking example. The greatest handicap to national legislation to aid in the flood control, power and reclamation projects relating to the Colorado basin is the fact that the bill carries the name of Senator Johnson. The administration has given its support; but the President cannot erase from the minds of the Senators the memory of the bitter and malicious attacks made upon them by Senator Johnson during the debate over the World Court and on other occasions. He is the victim of corroding ambition; and the State which has intrusted to him vital interests likewise suffers.

PEDIGREED STOCK

Prince Henry and Lady Mary Scott are announced to be married as soon as a reasonable interval elapses after the death of Queen Alexandra.

And then follows a lengthy pedigree of each; Prince Henry is the third son of King George of England. He is 25; sportsman; best princely dancer in his country; graduate of Eton; belongs to Royal Rifles; Thirteenth Hussars; Tenth Hussars.

Lady Mary is 26; Scotch; sportswoman; "most beautiful daughter of a Scottish duke;" hostess Dalkeith, Bowhill, Drumlanrig and Boughton.

Naturally the Prince and his fair Lady cannot help it; but they are fearfully handicapped. The marriage of a prince is much like a business transaction and the description of it like a bill of sale for a piece of property.

Pola Negri says she does not like the word "engaged;" it sounds too much like a business contract. Pola ought to know; she has had experience; and is also a queen in another realm.

There is little wonder that the best types of the race spring from among the humble, where love prompts marriage. If a prince would marry after his heart he must abdicate his throne.

Affection is a better chooser of a consort as far as eugenics are concerned. The heart usually chooses opposites in temperament. Where dukes and princes make selections anaemics are usually the product.

Kings thin out in physique and character after a few generations. The "poor prince" and the "poor rich man" are no idle definitions. A little honor and meager means with lovers are great gain.

A crown causes ingrowing of the head and a scepter is a boomerang, beating down all hope. There are plenty of people who are willing to take the chances, because there are many fools.

And now we hear that Prince Yasuhito of Japan, who is traveling in Europe, has the measles. American youth have so many other things that the measles are inconsequential and occasion no comment.

With season tickets for the opera going at $100 per each and jazz coming hot off the air for nothing it is predicted that Irving Berlin will knock Wagner for a goal.

TESTS OF LOYALTY

Senators Borah and Reed have a right to form a party of their own based upon opposition to the World Court, but they have no right to take the rostrum as Republican and Democrat, respectively, for the purpose of denouncing or defeating party candidates who have supported the World Court proposition.

They are themselves definitely deserting the organizations to which they had once pledged allegiance.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties were committed to the World Court in their platforms and declarations, and the petitions of millions of voters had been received. In the last Congress the House of Representatives approved American connection with the World Court by a vote of 301 to 27. In this they had the hearty approbation of the country.

President Coolidge was elected as a champion of the World Court and it became an administration measure in the present Congress. It was virtually the test of fealty in both camps. Republicans loyal to the administration and party platform gave it their unquestioned support. It certainly requires colossal nerve on the part of Borah and Reed to be campaigning against Senatorial or other candidates who gave their allegiance to the World Court by charging them with a surrender of their Americanism. The champions of the World Court are almost branded as traitors by these gloomy sons of thunder.

It is ancient history at best. By a substantial majority the United States Senate has authorized American participation in the Court. It is all over so far as Congress is concerned. The Senators cannot retrace their steps if they would—therefore, threat of punishment is ridiculous. But in the Court agreement there were reservations designed to further protect our national position in the Court. These reservations are still to be passed upon and accepted by the other parties to the Court. We are not yet actively identified with the Court, but Congress has performed its function in the program and there is no recall. The Senators who voted for this participation were true to their party, loyal to the administration and faithful to their constituents. Those who opposed it were not.

Therefore, it is monumental effrontery for the disloyal politicians of the Borah and Reed stripe to advertise their purpose of "punishing" those Senators who gave their allegiance to the administration and the World Court. They have a right to affiliate with young La Follette, Shipstead, Johnson, Brookhart and Frazier and form a party of isolation on their own account, but they have neither warrant nor excuse for attacking the party loyalty or patriotism of the statesmen who gave their votes and support to the Court as an administration measure. As an agency for permanent peace it is worthy of international confidence.

LEGAL AMENITIES

Lord Aberdeen, in his recently published book, "Tell Me Another," has a story about a celebrated lawyer named Curran. During the proceedings of a court on circuit in the country on a summer day the windows were wide open. While Curran was addressing the court a donkey in an adjoining field brayed loudly. The judge, interrupting, said, "Excuse me, Mr. Curran, one at a time, please." Curran bowed acquiescence, then proceeded with his address. Later, when the judge was delivering his charge to the jury, the donkey brayed again; on which Curran arose and said, "I'm sorry, Your Honor, but there seems to be such an echo that I can scarcely make out what you are saying."—[Argonaut.

VISIONS AND VAPORS

People who build air castles have no trouble in heating them. They always have a supply of hot air.

SEWAGE

It is reported that seventy-three magazines are considered taboo by the temperance board of one of the great denominations. It also lists fifty-one books that "should not be in any public or commercial library."

If it were not for the fact that ninety-four American magazines and other publications are excluded from the borders of the Dominion of Canada this might be regarded as fanatical.

Septic swill is hardly what the people want for their sons and daughters. Few parents care to have the minds of their youth turned into sewers of the vilest literature.

That this stuff is allowed to flow through the channels of trade is amazing. A few rodents set the city astir to catch rats. A dump pile in somebody's back yard becomes a target for a relay of inspectors. A heap of refuse in the street brings the police patrol in a hurry.

But piles of pollution on news stands in the most public places that are both contagious and infectious, producing the worst forms of moral delinquency and disease, are permitted to solicit unwary boys and girls without check or even comment.

We blame the rising generation for the crime wave and then dump the most hateful refuse into the muddy waters. We preach law abidance and then foul the sources of patriotism.

We permit the salacious to peddle septic swill at will in the city and then blame prohibition with lowering the criminal age from 40 to 20.

The garbage man in soiled breeches and a big wagon is a saint in white wings compared with these sewer rats spreading pestilence. The garbage man is in honorable occupation and cleanses the world.

THE EXPLORER

By James J. Montague.

Today he breasts the gale that blows
Across some Arctic bay
And forward through the grinding floes
He takes his daring way.
Tomorrow, from some dizzy height,
He tranquilly will stand
To watch the fowls that wheel their flight
Across an unknown land.

Let others seek content and ease,
He rather far would roam
On distant and uncharted seas
And call the world his home.
His track is where the ice peaks raise
Their blue and gleaming spires,
And strange, unheard-of peoples gaze
Upon his burnt-out fires.

Through tropic jungles, dense and deep,
His ax has cut a trail,
No cliff too towering and steep
For his young strength to scale.
Through stinging cold or withering heat,
'Neath clear or lowering skies,
Each day he turns his fearless feet
Where new adventure lies.

But he grows weary of the trail
When will and strength are spent—
The slatting of the frozen sail
The wind-rocked shelter tent.
And when the twittering robins seek
The tree that hides their nest,
With mother's kisses on his cheek
He cuddles down to rest.

"SUPPORTING THE PRESIDENT"

Gifford Pinchot is so much a national figure that his candidacy for United States Senator from Pennsylvania is of country-wide interest. Mr. Pinchot's early activities were so largely in the Western States that he is of especial interest on the Pacific Coast. Those who have been his admirers in California will be necessarily a bit mystified by that part of his Senatorial proclamation in which he says he is a supporter of President Coolidge.

Gov. Pinchot's support of the President, the titular head of the national Republican party, has been manifested mostly in the form of political hand grenades and infernal machines. That these in every instance proved to be duds was not due to any lack of zeal for their explosive purpose on the part of Mr. Pinchot. He put into them everything he had of a deadly nature.

President Coolidge had hardly taken his place in the White House when there emanated from the Pinchot personal and political household a whispering campaign designed to "explode the Coolidge myth." From the same intimate source information was disseminated to the effect that "Gifford is to be a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1924." To help along this candidacy there began a sniping campaign against the Coolidge administration. It culminated in Pinchot contributing Francis J. Heney of California to the Vanderlip plot for the discrediting of Secretary Mellon. The uncovering of this underground attack resulted in Pennsylvania Republicans overwhelmingly rejecting their Governor for delegate at large to the national convention.

Just before the election in November Gov. Pinchot threw another bomb, this being a letter to Secretary Mellon calculated to stampede the dry vote from Coolidge. This, too, proved to be harmless to everybody except Pinchot.

Now he is appealing for the support of Pennsylvania Republicans on the ground that he is a supporter of President Coolidge. Such a plea is hardly the kind the public would expect from the fearless leader of the righteous that Pinchot has set himself forth to be. But it is quite in keeping with Pinchot politics as exemplified since his election as Governor of Pennsylvania. If Pinchot ever had the sturdy qualities attributed to him by his admirers he is now a discouraging example of the corroding power of ambition.—[Riverside Enterprise.

CANADA'S FIRST LAND GRANT

The man who received the first free grant of government land in the Canadian West is still alive, hale and hearty. His name is John Sutherland Sanderson, aged 85, and is still residing on the property, near Portage la Prairie, which he acquired well over fifty years ago. Sanderson was born in 1840 at that historic spot, Prestonpans, in East Lothian, and in 1867 received to seek his fortune in Canada. For a time he farmed in Ontario, but in 1872 he came West, arriving by scow at the site of this city. His homesteading days were a succession of hardships, although, as Mr. Sanderson says, he did not at that time expect anything like the standard of comfort we know in these days. Potatoes, pemmican (made from buffalo) and bannocks were the staple diet; often the latter two were missing from the menu, but potatoes grew abundantly.

LETTERS TO The Times

Preparedness

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is with deep regret that I note your editorial in today's issue entitled "Tremendous Trifles" and its plea for unpreparedness.

You state "There has always been time before war was declared to make ready." Let me tell you that had Germany invaded the United States instead of France we would have paid dearly for just such bunk and propaganda as is being inflicted on our country today. There are plenty of sinister organizations at work along this line and if supposedly patriotic publications are going to aid them may God help us in the next emergency—for we won't be able to help ourselves.

The writer entered the war as a private in November, 1917, and found that the War Department was short of arms, artillery material, uniforms, blankets, horses and everything needed for training an army, except food.

But the greatest handicap of all was the shortage of trained officers. We marked time for six months in my artillery outfit while our officers went to school and learned the rudiments of the game.

The schools and colleges today are helping to guard against a similar situation in the future by training young men to be officers and it is the best investment this country can make. Mighty cheap insurance; and what the country needs today more than anything else is support of her military program by thinking people.

This letter is written in a spirit of constructive criticism by one who has subscribed to your paper for many years.

Hat Tyranny

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] They wear straw hats in Florida the year around, when the weather is propitious, but here in California we are told that, regardless of summer weather the year around, we will not be permitted to buy and wear straw hats until May 15. Somebody with sufficient nerve to go into the business of bootlegging straw hats would make a fortune.

FRANK P. CLARKSON.

Sacred and Profane

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Rev. E. E. Helms says all laws are sacred and must be obeyed or enforced; meaning, of course, only one law. He cannot refer to the Fifteenth Amendment, nonobservance of which is notorious; at least I have not noticed anything he has said on the subject. Nor have I seen any protest from him over the nonobservance by Congress of the third section of Article I of the Constitution, requiring a Congressional reapportionment every ten years; nor of the truculent violation of a similar provision of the California constitution.

The fact is, as Mr. Helms well knows, that laws and constitutional requirements are not equally sacred and that he himself is bound to affirm it. The blood of the martyrs, seed of the church of which he is a shining light, was spilled because of their defiance of the various Roman laws repressing their faith. The early Christians were bootleggers of a belief as abhorrent to the Romans as rum to Mr. Helms.

J. K. MARTIN.

Peace Money

ALBERHILL, March 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Recent events in European and some other countries show that the people (mankind) are not entirely weaned away from war yet. Satan certainly hates to give up his greatest game on earth.

Soon after the war, when this country was considering what to do about collecting the debts owed her by the various nations, I wrote to several papers, to Congress and also to the national assembly of Women's Clubs in Los Angeles the following peace plan.

The United States to give every debtor nation a moratorium of two, five or ten years on principal and interest—provided they spend or use no money or security of any kind whatever for arms or ammunition except enough for defense of their homeland. This amount to be determined by the United States or the League of Nations. It may be too late now to bring up such a proposition, but it does appear to me that if money rules the world (and I think it does) the United States should use it in helping the "Prince of Peace" instead of Satan. The United States has done wonders along such lines (prohibition is one great item,) but there is much to be done yet, even though some of our Congressmen think this country is not its "brother's keeper."

DON'T PUSH!

Summer, please don't push!
Give spring a chance
To occupy the stage
With song and dance.

Wait until your turn,
Take your warm days
And hide them out a while,
Then we'll give praise.

Spring has just stepped forth
With grass and flowers,
Birds nesting everywhere,
Swift, drenching showers.

Be generous, Summer!
Don't spoil Spring's chance.
She only has three months
In which to dance.

There's a limit to the size of pancakes

You don't make pancakes fifteen inches in diameter. Nor do Hills Bros. roast Red Can Coffee in bulk! Most foods cooked in small quantities are better. Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted a few pounds at a time by our patented continuous process. This exclusive method permits even temperature and constant ventilation, and develops that wonderful flavor that has made Red Can the pride of the coffee-loving West.

To get this finer flavor, ask for Hills Bros. by name and look for the Arab on the can. It's quite important. Your free copy of "The Art of Entertaining" will tell you how to make a better cup of coffee. Write for it, to Hills Bros., San Francisco.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SHAW SET TODAY

Widow of Mill Owner Dead at Age of 91 Resided Here for Two Decades

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Jane Shaw, 91 years of age, who passed away Wednesday night following an illness of three weeks, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. from the undertaking rooms of Garrett Brothers, 1237 South Flower street. Interment will be in Inglewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Shaw, the widow of Thomas Shaw, Michigan lumberman and mill owner, who died twenty-seven years ago, had been a resident of California for the past two decades. A native of Maine, she spent a major portion of her life in Michigan, whence the family removed.

She achieved the age of more than four score and ten, not only retaining all her faculties, but was active and possessed of excellent eyesight. She was able to read ordinary newsprint without the aid of glasses.

Mrs. Shaw leaves one daughter, Mrs. Christina Armstrong. She outlived four other children.

PHYSICIAN NAMED AS GANG AIDE

Herbert Wilson Testifies That Dr. T. C. Williams of Vallejo Sheltered Bandits

Herbert Wilson, preacher and bandit and now serving life sentence at San Quentin, evoked a new sensation at the trial of Tom Robinson on charges of conspiracy to rob the mails yesterday in United States Judge James's court.

The bandit leader, while undergoing a cross-examination at the hands of defense attorneys seeking to batter down his testimony against Robinson, named Dr. T. C. Williams, superintendent of a hospital at Vallejo, as the man who had harbored four members of the Wilson gang after the $1,500,000 mail robbery here in 1921. These four men, Wilson declared, were protected by Dr. Williams at the hospital until they made their escape.

A few minutes later, in response to another question, Wilson declared that Dr. Williams had promised to use his influence with prison officials and others to have Wilson placed on the prison road camp for a year and a half and then to have the matter of his parole taken up.

The unexpected testimony linking Dr. Williams, a widely known physician, with the Wilson band, created a sensation in court. It was the first time that Dr. Williams's name had figured in the case.

Defense Attorneys Soren and Otto Christensen kept Wilson on the stand the entire day in an effort to discredit his testimony given Wednesday, when he declared that Robinson had acted as a fence for the gang and was known to all its members as a fence.

At the end of the day, however, Wilson's testimony stood almost unshattered. Harry Greneger, serving a life sentence at the Virginia State penitentiary, who was brought here by the government as another witness against Robinson, is expected to take the stand for the government some time today.

LIQUOR CASE SHOTS ALL BULLSEYES

Southern District Trials for February Set Record of 100 Per Cent Conviction

During February United States prohibition operatives in the Southern District of California and Arizona set a national record by obtaining 100 per cent of convictions in eighty-six criminal cases developed by them and tried in United States and police courts, according to a report made by the chief field agent to Assistant Administrator Anderson, who is in charge of enforcement.

In addition to the criminal investigations the government dry sleuths made 277 permissive inquiries. Of this number 178 were drug-store inspections, twenty-eight denatured alcohol plant examinations, twenty-five tax-free (hospitals) inquiries, six wineries, five rabbis and thirty-five doctors.

Six arrests were made yesterday by Adams and his men. They were:

C. L. Fushia, 227 East Twenty-seventh street, on charges of possessing 145 gallons of alcohol and seventy-five gallons of moonshine.

Hervey Cole, 1038 West Seventh street, had his automobile seized and ten gallons of moonshine, twenty-six pints of moonshine and one gallon of alcohol taken from him.

At 4457 West Fifth street, Dallas Young was arrested and his Ford coupe confiscated when officers reported they found six quarts of sherry wine in the machine. Entering the house they arrested Jack Shrole and Lloyd Jones on charges of possessing a small quantity of liquor.

OFFICERS IN FATAL FIGHT SUSPENDED

Inquest Set for Today in Killing of Ray Keithley by Prohibition Agent

County Enforcement Officers Dunn and Payne yesterday were suspended by Acting District-Attorney Fitts pending the outcome of the inquest into the death of Ray Keithley, which will be conducted at the Neel & Towne Undertaking Company at Watts today.

The two officers, it is said, had found liquor in a grove at One Hundred and Thirtieth street and Central avenue. Payne was said to have been attacked by Keithley upon endeavoring to question the man, in the course of which Dunn was declared to have shot Keithley.

Shrine Luncheon Session Becomes Fun Convention

Keeping more than 600 Shriners laughing for an hour, a group of wise-crackers headed by Edwards Davis, president of the Two-Thirty-Three Club and film character, presented a program of fun-making at the weekly Shrine Club luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday.

The luncheon took on the aspect of a wisecrackers convention with every speaker seeking to outdo the other in telling mirth-provoking anecdotes. Chairman Davis introduced as his assistants Harry D. Howell, president of the Hollywood Shrine Club; John Ince, Alexander McMillan, secretary of the Two-Thirty-Three Club; Maurice DeMond, president of the Breakfast Club; Roy Stewart, Kenneth Harlan and Herbert Rawlinson, film stars; and William Beaudine and James Horne, directors.

Roy Heacock of Denver, secretary to Imsprial Potentate Burger, was a guest at the luncheon. Benjamin Laletsky's orchestra furnished the msical entertainment.

Suspect Held in North for Local Police

Capt. Cato of the robbery squad yesterday received word from San Francisco police that Walter J. O'Connell had been arrested there for the local department.

O'Connell is suspected of several hold-ups here. On the 15th inst., he and another man, armed with revolvers loaded with blank cartridges, held up an asserted gambling house at Sixth and Fremont streets, police charge. O'Connell is suspected of holding up a taxi driver later that evening, police say.

Relatives and Friends Honor Aged Publisher

Honoring Col. William Preston Brown, retired publisher, a score of relatives and friends gathered at his home at 5287 Sunset Boulevard last night and assisted him in observing his birthday. The guests spent the after-dinner hours in visiting.

Col. Brown, who is 84 years of age, has been a resident of Los Angeles the past ten years, coming here from New York where he held an executive position with the New York Reporter. He formerly owned and published the Columbus (O.) Record which he disposed of in 1900.

Present for the occasion were his two daughters and son, Dr. Mary H. Brown, Miss Jessie Brown and W. Ballard Brown, all of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hunt of China, and former State Senator C. Beach whose attendance at the party marked his first appearance in public since being seriously injured in the Rose Tournament grandstand crash New Year's Day at Pasadena.

Highland Park Police Station Now Receiving

The new Highland Park police substation, the fourth to be provided from the bond issue for that purpose, was opened yesterday at 6045 York Boulevard. The building cost $80,000.

The station has a capacity of sixty prisoners. Eight trusties were sent from the Central station yesterday to do work at the station. The new station's first prisoner was Dr. Franklin E. Kerr, who had been at liberty on bond since his conviction last June on a charge of sending poison candy through the mails to his estranged wife.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the attractive affairs of the week was the luncheon with which Mrs. A. H. Armstrong entertained Tuesday afternoon in the Cocoanut Grove of the Ambassador, the affair honoring a group of her friends from Lincoln, Neb., where Mrs. Armstrong formerly made her home.

Those present included Mrs. Samuel McKelvie, wife of the former Governor of Nebraska, Mrs. John B. Wright, Mrs. R. L. Doyle, Mrs. E. E. Henkle, Mrs. H. E. Sidles, Mrs. S. H. Burnham, Mrs. Charles Burr, Miss Gertrude Aitkin, Miss Grace Aitkin, Mrs. Ed Baum, Mrs. Frederick J. Whipple, Mrs. Joseph Walt, Mrs. Charles Seyler, Mrs. W. W. Richardson, Mrs. D. T. Robbins, Mrs. Thomas H. Benton, Mrs. H. E. Franklin, Mrs. Adair Galusha, Mrs. Fred Jones, Mrs. A. L. Shelhorn and Mrs. Leon C. Crandall, Mrs. Thomas Rousseau Hudson, Mrs. Snow of Philadelphia, Mrs. Frederick Herbst, Mrs. R. P. Shea, Mrs. C. L. Anderson, Mrs. Nell Skinner, Mrs. John McKern, Mrs. J. R. Jacobs, Mrs. Frank H. Bell, Mrs. M. J. Henchy, Mrs. Charles Eastoh, Mrs. K. R. Weavers Mrs. Frank J. Leher of Oakland, Mrs. Anna Collings, Mrs. Joseph Bartles, Mrs. Helen Boole of Seattle, and Mrs. Morris Randall.

Home Wedding

Among the prettily appointed weddings of the week was that of last evening when Miss Marianne Brandimore, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Brandimore, of the Westlake Hotel, became the bride of Alfred Schuck, the ceremony being read at the home of cousins of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone B. Kellogg in Santa Monica, at 5 p.m. Rev. M. Howard Fagin officiated.

The house was beautifully decorated with a profusion of spring flowers and foliage and Mr. Brandimore gave his daughter into the keeping of the bridegroom at the improvised altar built in the living-room.

Miss Madelon Cherry of Portland, Or., sang several songs preceding the ceremony and following there was a wedding supper.

The bride was most charming in her gown of white faille silk, with trimmings of rose pointe lace, she wore a spray of orange blossoms in her hair and carried an arm shower of orchids, and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Benjamin Hood assisted as matron of honor wearing a gown of faille silk in the Madonna blue tones and carried sweetheart rosebuds and ferns, while Albert Gargiulo served as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Schuck left after the wedding supper for a two weeks' honeymoon trip and after their return will make their home at 457 North Ardmore avenue.

Houseguest

Judge and Mrs. Carlos Hardy of Lafayette Park Place, are entertaining as houseguest over the week-end Paul Rader, the evangelist. Mr. Rader will remain with the Hardys until he leaves early in the week for his home in Chicago.

Home Again

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tatum of St. Andrews Place have just returned from a delightful visit at Hotel Del Coronado where Mr. Tatum played in the golf tournament.

For Bride-Elect

Among the delightful affairs being given in honor of Miss Polly Hampton, bride-elect of next Wednesday, will be the informal tea with which Miss Jane Mann is entertaining this afternoon at her home in Crenshaw avenue. Spring flowers and ferns will adorn the tea tables and thirty guests, intimate friends of the young honoree, have been bidden.

The wedding of Miss Hampton and Walter D. K. Gibson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. K. Gibson of San Francisco and Coronado, will take place at 8 p.m. next Wednesday in the Beverly Hills Presbyterian Church and will be followed by a reception and wedding supper at the home of the bride's father, Benjamin B. Hampton, 614 South St. Andrews Place.

Alpha Chi Entertains

Alpha Chi Chapter of Delta Zeta sorority, at University of California, Southern Branch, is entertaining this evening with its spring formal dance at Encino Country Clubhouse. Patrons and patronesses of the evening will include Mr. and Mrs. Clare Woolwine, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Forsythe, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Leidenroth, Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Brush, Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Bjork and Mrs. J. M. Brown.

Delta Zeta presented its pledges at a delightfully planned tea the 23rd inst., at the home of Miss Jessie Ray, 445 North Berendo avenue. The honored pledges included Miss Eloise Logan, Miss Claudine Emmons, Miss Evelyn Christman, Miss Althea Martin, Miss Ruth Emerson, Miss Phyllis Babcock and Miss Winifred Clark.

Dinner Party.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Sharpe Cheney entertained last evening at their home in Norton avenue with a dinner party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Brown, who are leaving in April for a six months' trip abroad. Their itinerary will cover the British Isles, Germany, France, Holland and Italy.

Those included were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Salsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baldrich, Mrs. Allison Barlow, Mrs. W. C. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newell, who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Biby-Stephens

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Biby in Rimpau avenue will be the scene of a beautifully appointed wedding ceremony this evening when their attractive daughter, Miss Marjorie Biby, becomes the bride of John Stewart Stephens, son of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Stephens of Alvarado street. Rev. John A. Eby will officiate and the dainty bride will be assisted by Mrs. Theodore Off (Dorothy Miller) as matron of honor while Miss Ruth Montgomery has come down from Stanford to be the maid of honor, and Miss Kathryn Stephens, sister of the bridegroom, will be the bridesmaid.

Little Janet Elizabeth Biby and Helena McCoy will stretch the white satin ribbons which form the aisle for the bridal party and Mr. Biby will give his daughter in marriage.

Philip Stephens, Jr., will serve his brother as best man and the ushers will be Theodore Off and Herbert Miller.

After a short wedding trip Mr. Stephens and his bride will go north to Palo Alto where the bride will be graduated from Stanford in June. Mr. Stephens, who is an alumnus of Stanford, is taking a special course in the Lane Hospital, San Francisco.

CITY BONDS DELIVERED

A telegram stating that he has delivered $9,825,000 of Los Angeles bonds to the First National Bank of the City of New York was received by the Council yesterday from City Treasurer Powell.

Plans Dinner Dance at Parents' Home

Miss Dorothy Cooke
[C. Elmer Grove Studios]

ONE of the attractive hostesses of the week is Miss Dorothy Cooke, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Bennett Cooke of South Gramercy Place, who is entertaining tomorrow evening with a dinner-dance at her parents' home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bryant (Marjorie De la Verdne.) This is one of a series of similar affairs with which Miss Cooke is entertaining this season.

Quaker Oats "stands by" you through the morning

That's why doctors urge it to start every day

To feel right through the morning, you must have well-balanced, complete food at breakfast. At most other meals—that is, at luncheon and at dinner—you usually get that kind of food.

But at breakfast the great dietary mistake is most often made—a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder; 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamines and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Food that should start every breakfast in your home.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers.

Important! Science has made A-DOF-LUS available to you

What Every Doctor Knows

Acidophilus Milk is used by the medical profession in effort to treat formation of the flora of the intestines, eliminate the putrefactive bacteria and substitute in their place a desirable, health-giving flora.

Acidophilus Milk is prescribed and is acknowledged to be a specific therapy in cases of intestinal toxemias, chronic constipation, chronic diarrhoea and other intestinal disorders. Also recommended in treatment of rheumatic conditions and facial eruptions, traced to intestinal origin, and in stomach disorders and other intestinal toxic conditions of infants.

The privilege of good health is offered all who will use A-Dof-Lus regularly.

A-Dof-Lus is that same Acidophilus Milk, that delicious, easily-digested food-drink that has long been known to the medical profession for its wonderful success in eliminating intestinal disorders by natural methods. Heretofore the price has been too high for popular use, and hence the public has been ignorant of this highly beneficial product. Now we are producing it in our especially-constructed laboratory and delivering it fresh and cold at about commercial milk prices.

THE TIMES SALAD

Peel three medium-sized chayotes, cut them in strips and cut the strips in even-sized dice. Boil the dice in boiling salted water until tender, not soft; drain in a colander, and rinse in cold water, drain and place in the ice box until cold. Peel an eight-ounce avocado, cut in halves and cut the halves in strips; cut the strips in dice and place in a cold bowl, add the chilled chayotes and mix lightly with a seasoning of salt and paprika, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and six tablespoonfuls of good olive oil. Mound on cold, lettuce-covered plates and sprinkle lightly with finely chopped chives.

FIG TAPIOCA

Cut twelve dried figs in small pieces and cover with warm water, let stand three hours, add half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, the sliced peel of half a lemon, and half a cupful of sugar; bring to a boil and simmer ten minutes. Place in a double boiler half a cupful of fine tapioca, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of hot water, and two cupfuls of hot milk; boil fifteen minutes; mix with the cooked figs and pour into a cold dish. Let stand in a cold place for three hours. Serve with cream or orange custard sauce.

MANHATTAN SOUP

Place in a saucepan four tablespoonfuls of diced potatoes, four tablespoonfuls of diced carrots, four tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, and two tablespoonfuls of butter; cook slow fire until the onion is lightly browned; add two quarts of hot water and cook until the vegetables are soft; press through a sieve, return to the fire, add one teaspoonful of sugar, one cupful of strained tomatoes, one cupful of boiling water and stir in three tablespoonfuls of butter rubbed in a smooth paste with four tablespoonfuls of flour browned flour and half a cupful of cream; cook five minutes, season to taste, serve in bouillon cups with a teaspoonful of whipped cream on each serving. Season with salt, paprika and a little more butter.

HAM AND RABBIT PIE

Remove the bones from a cooked Belgian hare and cut the meat in strips; cut enough cold cooked ham to make a pound of ham and rabbit; cut two slices of bread in dice and allow three tablespoonfuls of butter. Place layers of the meat, bacon and hard-boiled eggs in an earthenware baking dish, sprinkling each layer with a seasoning of salt, paprika, chopped parsley and grated lemon rind; add enough hot water to cover, sprinkle with one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and one of Tabasco sauce; cover with an inverted cup; roll out enough dough, brush with melted butter and bake one and a half hours in a moderate oven. Good Friday.

SOUR CREAM PIE

Beat one cupful of sugar and beat into it one egg, three tablespoonfuls of strained lemon juice, one cupful of sour cream, one tablespoonful of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour mixed with one teaspoonful of mustard, and a pinch of paprika. Place the mixture in a double boiler and stir over the fire until thick and smooth. Cool before using.

BABY RASHES

"Dear doctor: I wonder if you can recommend anything that will do away with dry skin on my 6-months-old baby. He's a healthy fellow, not exactly little, however, for he weighed eighteen pounds at 5 months of age, and in spite of itchiness is very happy and good natured. He is breast fed on a four-hour feeding schedule. I thought perhaps it is caused by the richness of my milk. But now I have started him on carrots and spinach, pureed through a sieve, and, of course, he has been taking orange juice for some time. His stomach seems rashy, also the fat part of his legs below the knee, and from the elbow down. His face is chapped, rough and seems like rough skin. I do not give him a water bath more than three times a week at the most. Other times I rub cocoa butter over him. I am just starting him on cod liver oil as a means of clearing his skin. He does not always have regular bowel movements and never more than once a day. I do not seem to have much success in breaking off his two night feedings. MRS. M."

There are several things that cause rashes in babies, Mrs. M.: overheating of the skin by too much clothing, overfeeding and underfeeding; then, of course, there are the rashes that come in diseases like measles and scarlet fever, etc.

It is not uncommon for artificially fed babies to have rashes with some fever. It is not contagious and is probably due to some slight intestinal disturbance. The condition is known as roseola infantum, or the rose rash of infants. The striking feature of this roseola infantum is that the child usually does not seem to be ill and wants to play. Sometimes there may be some signs of irritability and nervousness, if the fever is high. Usually the eruption comes after the temperature falls.

(Of course, the mother should see her physician, especially if the rash is accompanied by fever, to rule out measles, scarlet fever, etc.)

Ball Given for Visiting Beauty Shop Owners

As a compliment to the out-of-town beauty-shop owners who have been in Los Angeles this week attending the lectures at the National School of Cosmeticians, Ruth J. Maurer of New York, national head of a beauty-training school, last evening gave a ball preceded by a splendid program.

Judge Georgia Bullock spoke on the legislation which California needs in order to keep all beauty shops sanitary; Helene Sullivan, picture actress, spoke on the necessity of knowing the art of make-up and students of the local Marinello school gave a one-act play. Others on the program were the Kelly Kids, juvenile musicians; Muriel Dae, violinist; Marion Bemis Wilson, soloist, accompanied by Miss Taylor; Esther Campbell, whistling soloist; W. H. Alger, impersonator; Mrs. Gene Duvall and Miss Laura Duvall in duets, and Miss Clemes Apperson, Miss Ruth Bronson and Miss Frances Young in trios. A buffet supper was served after the dancing.

Tomorrow, Mrs. Ruth Maurer, Mme. Lucille and Ellen Bell, eastern beauty experts, who have lectured this week, and the manager of the tour, E. M. Nolan of Chicago, will visit the Fox studio and take sightseeing trips about the city.

Playwright to Give Course at Summer Session

Frayne Williams, director of the Literary Theater, and author of the play, "Windows," will be a member of the faculty of the University of California summer session in Los Angeles. He will give a course in play production.

Mr. Williams will analyze the productions of such men as Max Reinhardt, Granville Barker, Hopkins, Gordon Craig and Jessner of Vienna. Setting, lighting, stage movement, conduct of rehearsals and plot-making will be considered.

Mr. Williams started his Literary Theater under the auspices of the University of California extension division in 1922. Before coming to America, he directed, with Granville Barker's co-operation, the activities of the Literary Theater, Hampstead, London.

His first appearance in Los Angeles was with Richard Ordynski, when he directed Schnitzler's "Anatol," and enacted Forgael in William Butler Yeat's "The Shadowy Waters."

CONSTITUTION'S WANE SEEN

Former Nebraska Governor Says Confusion and Too Many Laws Follow Desertion of Principles

Growing class consciousness, more politicians than statesmen, and general confusion have resulted from the trend in this country during recent years toward a departure from fundamental constitutional principles, declared Samuel R. McKelvie, former Governor of Nebraska, in an address before the Optimists Club luncheon meeting at the Biltmore yesterday.

"The founders of our government based its organization on certain changeless fundamental truths and the progress of the country during the period that those principles were strictly adhered to is evidence enough of their soundness," said Mr. McKelvie.

"During the last two decades, however, there has been a tendency to disregard the principles of the basic law in our legislation and the results have not been reassuring. In fact, the late Col. Roosevelt stated a short time before his death that if this trend continued during the next twenty years as it had been going on, the future of this country would be doubtful."

Among the evils due to departure from fundamental principles, the speaker referred especially to the multiplicity of laws.

"During the last ten years Nebraska, for instance, has enacted more laws than during any two previous decades in its history," he said. "The aim of most of these has been to improve social conditions, or, broadly, to make better citizens. But they don't appear to have had that effect, for our penal institutions were never so crowded as at the present time. We don't need more laws. What we do need is more competent leadership and stricter observance of the fundamental truths enunciated in the Constitution."

Mr. McKelvie was the principal speaker on the program, which included also a number of musical selections by Miss Helen Kaplan, cornetist, accompanied on the piano by Miss Esther McElvain.

The INTERVIEWER

"Sudden death from apoplexy and heart disease would be less frequent among business executives, if these men would relieve the tension under which they work by riding horseback daily," said Henry Sachs, Colorado Springs financier, who is at the Ambassador.

"I know from experience what I'm talking about. Twenty-three years ago I was a physical wreck, due to overwork. I then lived in Boston and was interested in an executive way in a number of enterprises. Competent eastern physicians declared I had not much longer to live.

"I slowed down in my strenuous business activities, moved to Colorado Springs, and, as I had always been interested in horses, began to ride anywhere from ten to thirty miles a day. And here I am, in better health today at the age of 64 than I ever was in my life before.

"I attribute my recovery in part to the Colorado climate, of course, but much more than that to my letting down in my strenuous application to business, and especially to my horseback riding. I have kept up my daily rides ever since moving to Colorado and even during my vacation in California I never miss a day.

"Aside from the healthful exercise provided by riding a horse, I have also discovered that when you're in the saddle you can think out solutions to business problems with far less effort than if you are bent over a desk in an office. I have by no means retired from business. At this moment I have in my pocket a number of telegrams and letters relating to business matters that will require my undivided attention in order that they may be answered properly. I will give them that attention and arrive at decisions on several important points during my ride this morning."

Dumb Audience Terrible

"It's awful to face a dumb-bell audience," said Anna Curtis Chandler, New York comedienne, who is at the Biltmore.

"My line of work is to amuse people. I have worked for years trying to perfect myself in that art. I take great pains in the preparation of my comic songs and characterizations. I practice assiduously many hours a day before presenting a new stunt.

"And then, not infrequently, when my performance is over I am greeted by a stony silence from a sea of faces as void of expression as the countenance of a hippopotamus. They've missed the point, which to me seemed so plain when I prepared my stunt that I was afraid I might be accused of lacking in subtlety. It's terrible."

City Hardwood Market

"Los Angeles is the greatest market for hardwood lumber in the United States," said H. L. Bruce, lumber manufacturer of Memphis, who is at the Ambassador.

"Our firm specializes in hardwood lumber, particularly oak flooring, and we sell more of this material in Los Angeles than in any other city, not even New York being excepted.

"The South is virtually the only section where hardwood timber still abounds in sufficient quantity to provide raw material for the operation of a sawmill. Time was that some of this variety of timber was procured in other sections, but the supplies have been largely depleted everywhere but in the Southern States.

"The time may come when all our hardwood supplies will have been exhausted, but it will not be for a good many decades. In the meantime, steps are now being taken with a view to reforestation, particularly in the matter of protection of young timber."

ACTION PROMISED ON STREET BANNER BAN

Definite action within a short time to remove advertising banners, whether canvas or electric, which have been strung across the public streets, was promised yesterday by Councilman Randall when he asked on the floor of the Council as to the present disposition of an ordinance drawn for that purpose. Councilman Zahn, chairman of the Building and Safety Committee, stated that the ordinance had been transferred from his committee to the building and safety commission. Councilman Randall said he will make a motion to have the matter taken out of the hands of the commission if a report were not forthcoming soon.

CAFE NOTES

Eddie Brandstatter will celebrate screen writers' night at his Hollywood Montmartre Cafe this evening with Eve Unsell as guest of honor. Miss Unsell recently made the screen adaptations of "Siberia" and "Sandy" for Fox films and during the last few years has written and adapted many others.

Since Brandstatter inaugurated screen writers' night several weeks ago with a special program for the scribes, the Montmartre has grown more and more to be a rendezvous for scenario writers.

Miss Unsell will act as judge of the screen writers' dancing contest and present a trophy to the winning couple, while an impromptu vaudeville entertainment of special appeal to the writers will be presented.

Many reservations have been made by film writers for the evening.

The musical program will include the rendition by Moore's orchestra of "The Scenario Writers' Blues."

The "Mesmarole," little known but intriguing dance of the famed old quarter of New Orleans, is to be introduced to Los Angeles by Carolynne Snowden and her troupe of thirty "Creole Cuties," in connection with her "Black Bird Revue of 1926" at Lyman's Cafe Alabam'.

The terpsichorean novelty is described as a fascinating combination of the "Shimmie" and the "Charleston," and the entire company tonight will give demonstrations of their individual skill in the entertainment.

In connection with the introduction of the new featured dance, the "Quality Serenaders," Afro-American aggregation of jazz musicians, will present an entire new program of dance numbers reminiscent of the romantic district of the Southern city.

R. L. Bixby, manager of the St. Ann's Inn in Santa Ana, announces that a special Easter Sunday dinner will be served in that Inn Easter day from 12 noon to 8 o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Bixby has received a number of reservations to date for the Easter dinner as well as for several parties who intend arriving there the Saturday before to spend the Easter week-end in Santa Ana.

Such favor has attended the fashion revue staged as entertainment features at Tuesday and Friday luncheons at Miller's Cafe Lafayette that Harry M. Miller, the proprietor, has decided to continue them indefinitely.

Dainty mannequins demonstrate the latest wraps and gowns for spring and summer in variety, under the supervision of Breen, Inc. Miller plans an embrasive display of novelties for milady's wardrobe in the series of revues.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Fresher Water

Always let the water run for a few minutes in the morning before filling the kettle or making the coffee. The water will then be more wholesome.

Spring Materials

When buying a colored material to combine with white goods, it is far wiser to get a sample at first and wash it to see if it is going to run when combined with the white. So many lovely dresses have been ruined by the colored material running into the white.

O. K. Next Year

Before putting away the velvet dress be certain there are no grease stains to attract moths. If you find any, apply a thick layer of French chalk and let it stay on the spots for several hours. Then shake and brush. If the spot has not entirely disappeared try another application.

A Remembrance for Baby

An inexpensive but very useful gift may be made for the new baby by cutting four thicknesses of gauze to the size of a handkerchief. Then hemming or blanket-stitching in pink or blue may be put as a finish around the edge. Mother will enjoy the gift, too, as they are so soft to bathe baby.

BUSINESS MEN TO GIVE SHOW TONIGHT

With a cast of more than 100 business men, the second annual minstrel show of Hermosa Beach will be presented tonight at the Metropolitan Theater in the beach city under the auspices of the Hermosa Beach Chamber of Commerce. Profits of the show will be turned over to the organization to aid in carrying on its activities during the balance of the year. Grange S. Thatcher, vice-president of the First National and First banks of Hermosa, and president of the South Bay Clearinghouse Association, is director of the cast. Capt. C. H. Salinas, postmaster, is interlocutor.

To Look Younger

follow this simple rule in skin care

By NORMA TALMADGE

Copyrighted 1926 by P. O. Beauty Features.

By preserving youthful skin texture, it is making thousands look younger than their years

A WELL-KNOWN artist recently asked, "What's become of the 'middle-aged' woman; has she completely disappeared?"

What's really happened is this: women have found that looking their years is a needless folly. Thus nearly everyone stays young these days.

The simple rule below has safeguarded natural complexion charm for more women than any other method known. Thousands employ it. Leading skin specialists urge it. Try it for one week. Let it prove its effects to you . . . the softening olive and palm lather of Palmolive Soap, used this way:

THE RULE—MAKE IT YOURS STARTING TODAY

Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away. Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely—naturally colorful and clear.

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.

BE SURE YOU GET THE REAL PALMOLIVE

It costs but 10c the cake! — so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Note what one week of its use brings you. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois. 2134A

CITY'S EXPENSE WITHIN INCOME

Eight Months' Expenditures Total $13,762,665

Controller Makes Report to Council and Mayor

The actual cost of operating the general city government for the eight months from July 1, 1925, to last February 1, was $13,762,665, according to a report submitted yesterday to the Council and Mayor by Controller Myers.

During that time the income of the city was $20,339,210. This was derived as follows: taxes, $15,080,806; licenses, fines, permits, $2,627,810; interest earned, $861,360; police court fines, $718,445; rents, $133,041, and franchise revenues, $370,762.

Of the amount disbursed the largest portion, $10,715,510, went for wages and salaries. Materials and supplies cost $2,373,973; land, $82,729; buildings, $169,405; equipment, $421,046.

Thirty-five departments shared in the revenues. Among the larger departments the disbursements were as follows: engineering, $5,090,894; police, $3,569,435; fire, $2,275,463; electrical, $782,191.

These figures do not represent the revenues and expenses of certain of the municipal departments which maintain their own budgets, such as the Department of Water and Power, Harbor, Library, Parks and others.

HAIR TONIC PUT PEP IN FEET

Prisoner Sentenced in Car Tampering Case After Internal Dose

Fred J. Bowles, charged with tampering with an automobile, told Judge Burnell yesterday that he had imbibed hair tonic and that the next he knew he had jumped into an automobile and stepped on the starter.

"It's a good thing for your hair you took it internally," said Judge Burnell, sending Bowles to the county detention camp for ninety days.

COLLEGE TO SELL BEACH LAND TRACT

Pomona Will Get $600,000 for Las Flores Property, Near Santa Monica

Arrangements for the sale of the Las Flores Beach property, comprising 160 acres near Santa Monica, by Pomona College to the Southern Counties Land Company for $600,000, were completed yesterday. The land, which was once the property of Eli P. Clark, Pomona College trustee and benefactor, is near the Malibu Ranch.

The amount realized will be placed in the general endowment fund of the college. The property carries three-quarters of a mile of beach front, with 125 cabin leases on the beach at the present time.

The sum of $100,000 will be paid on the transfer of the property, the remainder within ten years. The transaction was arranged by Trustees Clark and Arthur S. Bent.

Dramatist to Open His Own Theater Here

Ernest Vajda, Hungarian dramatist, yesterday announced that he is planning to build a theater of his own here, in which he intends to produce and stage his own plays. Vajda, who is now writing a series of screen originals for Paramount, stated that his present plans will not permit him to leave Hollywood for at least a year and that he may make this city his permanent home.

ERNEST VAJDA

He added that he felt impelled to write a number of plays for the stage, the ideas for which have been in his mind for some time. For this reason, he said, he planned to produce his own plays and present them on his own stage. He expressed confidence in his ability to find sufficient financial backing and public support to build the theater here and continue his motion-picture work at the same time.

Dugat Granted New Trial for Manslaughter

Asserting that a miscarriage of justice had resulted in the erroneous admission of evidence, Justice York of the Second District Court of Appeals yesterday ordered a new trial for Louis Dugat, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of Leo Hurley in San Diego.

During the trial the District Attorney referred to the manslaughter charge as murder and introduced evidence which might show previous motive, according to the opinion. This, Justice York stated, was a violation of the defendant's constitutional right of defense and resulted in a miscarriage of justice.

Laborer Dead From Injuries in Truck Crash

Pete Krolovich, 35 years of age, a laborer, died at the Receiving Hospital yesterday from injuries suffered when a truck on which he was riding was caught between two street cars at First and Soto streets.

George Sasic, 42 years of age, of 446 North Concord street, driver of the truck, and his brother, Mike Sasic, suffered minor bruises and were detained on suspicion of manslaughter charges.

IDENTIFY VICTIM OF AUTO MISHAP

A man killed by an automobile at Avenue 61 and Pasadena avenue Sunday night was identified yesterday as Alvin Kelly, 52 years of age, oil worker, who lived at 6101 Echo street. Amos Simpson, 20, of 848 North Avenue 61, driver of the automobile, yesterday was absolved of blame for the accident at an inquest at the Los Angeles Undertaking Company.

LOCAL TRAINING CORPS PRAISED

Three High School Units Inspected

THE Reserve Officers' Training Corps of three Los Angeles high schools were inspected yesterday by Maj. Harry L. Jordon of San Francisco, in charge of these activities in the Ninth Corps Area. He was accompanied on the inspection by Col. Elmer W. Clark, in charge of the Los Angeles district, and Maj. D. M. Chaston of Hollywood.

Fairfax, Hollywood and Harding were the high schools inspected yesterday, the Fairfax being one of the newest battalions. Maj. Jordan highly complimented the showing made by the students, and expressed satisfaction at the progress being made at the Fairfax High School, which is in charge of Sergt. Frank J. Naughton.

COMPLETE JAIL AUDIT REQUESTED

Grand Jury Ordered to Make Detailed Accounting of Construction Fund

The grand jury yesterday was asked by Acting District-Attorney Fitts to make a complete audit of all money spent in the construction of the $6,500,000 Hall of Justice.

Former Jailer Croushorn and William Davidson, superintendent of the mechanical department of the county, appeared before the grand jury in its investigation of the construction of the Hall of Justice and the management of the County Jail.

A special meeting, the purpose of which was not announced, will be held in connection with the investigation today.

CHIEF HEATH TO RECEIVE HIGH HONOR

Chief of Police Heath will be the guest of honor at a banquet at the Biltmore Wednesday evening, the day he retires to private life. Chief Heath, whose term ends at midnight Wednesday, at the close of the banquet officially will turn over his office to Provisional Chief Davis.

John G. Mott will preside. Addresses will be made by Mayor Cryer, Maurice DeMond, Dr. Paul E. Bowers, Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, Dr. E. C. Moore and O. E. Monnette.

Five hundred persons are expected to attend. The committee in charge consists of Police Commissioner Birnbaum, chairman, James Woods, Civil Service Commissioner Fryman, Walter B. Allen, Bernal H. Dyas, Robert Parker, Walter M. Murphy, W. W. Mines, Police Commissioner Webster, B. B. Sugarman and John G. Mott.

A chest of silver will be presented to Chief Heath.

ROBBERS BLAMED IN DEATHS OF AMERICANS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—A statement was issued at the American Embassy today, giving an account by American Consul Blocker at Mazatlan of the slaying at Ixtlan, State of Nayarit, on the 14th inst., of Rex McIlhone and the serious wounding of E. Heidenkamp, both Americans and employees of the Utah Construction Company. The statement expressed belief that the two men were attacked with robbery as the motive, as pockets of both were rifled, and McIlhone frequently handled large sums for his company.

INSURANCE ACT AND PAY LAW UPHELD

El Centro Contractor's Attacks on Two of State's Statutes Fails

The constitutionality of the State Compulsory Compensation Act and the semimonthly pay law were upheld, in effect, here yesterday when Division Two of the Second District Court of Appeal denied Theodore Lohman, an El Centro contractor, a writ of habeas corpus.

Lohman was convicted on a count of failing to obtain compensation insurance for his employees, and was fined $50 and ten days in jail. The latter was suspended on condition that he pay the medical expenses of Frank Silva, an injured workman. He based his appeal on the grounds that the sentence was illegal imprisonment for debt.

He was sentenced to spend thirty days in jail on a joint conviction of failing to observe the law requiring employers to pay their employees semimonthly and seventy-two hours after a demand for unpaid salary. He attacked the validity of the law on the grounds that it is special legislation and void.

Both cases were tests of the respective laws, according to State Industrial Accident Commissioner Carrigan, and will materially assist the commission in the enforcement of the laws.

Hall Sentenced When He Admits Robbery of Bank

Howard Hall, charged with two counts of bank robbery, yesterday pleaded guilty to one count when he was arraigned before Judge McLucas of the Superior Court. The court found the robbery to be first-degree and through his attorney, S. S. Hahn, Hall waived time and was sentenced to serve five years to life in San Quentin penitentiary.

Hall was a co-defendant of Jimmie Thompson, who will go to trial in May on charges of robbing three branches of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank and one branch of the Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank.

Hall entered a separate plea of guilty to participating in the holdup of the Hoover-street branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, and the other count against him was dismissed on motion of the District Attorney.

List Nine Cases of Smallpox in City During Day

Nine new cases of smallpox were reported in Los Angeles between midnight Wednesday and 5 p.m. yesterday, according to City Health Officer Parrish. Corrected daily reports at the health department this week were: Sunday, three; Monday, four; Tuesday, four, and Wednesday, six.

There have been a total of 177 cases reported this month, making the total for the year to date 711 cases. Last week's total was thirty-five cases. Totals for preceding weeks were forty-eight, sixty-one, fifty-five and 113 cases, respectively.

Will Discuss Child Problems

The April meeting of the Survey Club will be conducted in the Windsor Tea Room, twelfth floor of the Brack Shops, 527 West Seventh street, April 1, next. Miss Louise Drury, executive secretary of the Juvenile Protective Association, will speak on "Child Placing in Los Angeles," and Judge Bertin A. Weil, formerly Juvenile Court judge, on "Adoption and Adoption Laws in California." A musical program will be given. Dinner will be served at 6 p.m.

WILL URGE BOULEVARD EXTENSION

Engineer Favors Street from Figueroa to Grand, Between Sixth and Seventh

City Engineer Shaw today will recommend to the City Council that it grant the petition to cut a new street through from Figueroa street to Grand avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets, as a three-block extension of Wilshire Boulevard and to widen the boulevard now existing from Figueroa to Westlake Park. He will request instruction to proceed with the work, which is described as a "very important project."

"The opening of this thoroughfare," Mr. Shaw said in his report on the petition, "is of such great importance that, in my opinion, the city should render all the assistance possible to the furtherance of the project."

If the Council adopts the report and recommendation today, the petition will pass to the Council's Street Opening and Widening Committee, of which Councilman Barnes is chairman, for public hearing and study as to what action it will recommend be taken.

"The widening of the boulevard," Shaw's report says, "long has been contemplated and is undoubtedly a very important project and one which will open up a new direct artery to the west from the central business district."

He said it is contemplated to build a bridge over Westlake Park to connect the ends of the boulevard now on either side of the park and said that once it was proposed to erect such a bridge as a memorial to soldiers.

"In my opinion," Shaw's report says, "the bridge can be constructed with but little detriment to the park and can be so designed as to fit into the landscape."

The Shaw report points out that the major traffic report says that if the city should open the boulevard clear through the central district and across the city it would create a traffic artery of great value and then the report says the opening of the boulevard as proposed, for three blocks, would cover a part of the plan mentioned in the traffic report.

The petition, which was filed recently, is not a majority petition and Shaw recommended that the bond of its sponsors be fixed at $2500. The petition itself does not mention the bridge proposal. The first step toward carrying out the petition, the engineer's report says, is condemnation proceedings.

It is proposed to widen the present boulevard from sixty to 100 feet.

MAQUARRE TO CONDUCT AT CONCERT

Solo Flutist Will Wield Baton Sunday Afternoon at Dime Symphony

In speaking of athletic teams, it is frequently said they are no stronger than their substitutes. It is interesting to apply this test to a symphony orchestra, for it gives a new idea of the complete resources within itself which the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra boasts.

ANDRE MAQUARRE

"At the second Coliseum concert on the 14th inst. Sylvain Noack, assistant conductor and concert-master of the Philharmonic, wielded the baton and at the third concert, to be played next Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Coliseum, still another member of the orchestra will conduct—Andre Maquarre, solo flutist, while at the final concert of the series, scheduled for the afternoon of April 11, Henri De Busscher, solo oboeist, will conduct.

It is improbable that any other symphony orchestra in the world has in its playing personnel so many qualified conductors.

Mr. Maquarre is French by birth though American by choice and has been a famous figure as a flutist for thirty years. He has also won laurels as a composer and for the last twelve years of the twenty he was connected with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and conducted the orchestra in its pop concerts.

For the Sunday afternoon concert Mr. Maquarre has chosen a program of broad appeal, largely made up of selections from operatic works.

Hellman Roof Garden and Sun Parlor Opened

Several hundred women employees of the Herman W. Hellman Building yesterday noon attended the opening of the new roof garden sun parlor and lunch room.

According to A. S. Thompson, manager of the building and responsible for the sun parlor, it is planned to serve daily lunches at cost on the roof. Also, employees who wish to bring their food from home will be provided with a pleasant place to spend their noon hour. About 500 women are employed in the building.

Marco H. Hellman made a short address, expressing the hope that the sun parlor will prove enjoyable to the women employees.

A governing board with Miss Olive E. Schweitzer, chairman, and Mrs. M. B. Arnold and Mrs. E. M. Rose was appointed.

MERCHANT PLUMBERS DINE

The Sanitation Development League of Southern California gave a dinner at the Elite Cafe last night. About 300 merchant plumbers of Southern California were present. R. Holtby Myers, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles Mutual Building and Loan Association, spoke. An entertainment program was provided by the Washington Iron Works.

THINKS CONFIDENCE SECRET TO SUCCESS

Betty Boyd

"Confidence is the keynote to success," avers Betty Boyd, who in less than a year has risen from the ranks of an extra to that of a featured player.

"A young girl just starting in film work is too prone to lose all belief in her ability to act when single honors are thrust upon her. She may be entirely at home in a throng, but as soon as the camera is focused on her alone she loses confidence.

"That is quite the wrong attitude for in truth a person who makes a wrong move in a mob scene is often more noticeable than if a featured player had made an error. The public does not know what action to expect of a principal, whereas the conduct of the mob is anticipated."

Miss Boyd is now playing one of the important roles in "Fig Leaves," Howard Hawks's new picture for Fox films.

"Daffy Dills" is Will King's New Production

For his sixth and probably most hilarious week at the Broadway Palace Will King will offer "Daffy Dills."

"Daffy Dills" is just what the title implies, the dizzy, daffy adventures of two young men who stray behind the walls of an insane asylum and can not find their way out.

Will King and Lew Dunbar will handle most of the comedy output with the assistance of the other favorites.

Another notable feature of the new show is that the eighteen musical and dance numbers are the initial effort of Nellie Harding, the musical comedy producer just acquired by Will King.

Hermie King and his Super-Soloists will present another jazzonic novelty "Around the Town in Melody." The feature photoplay will be "The Primrose Path," with Clara Bow and Wallace MacDonald.

Sarah Padden Tops Next Bill At Hillstreet

Sarah Padden is to head the new bill at the Hillstreet Monday in her dramatic success, "The Clod." Ward and Van are also features and offer twenty minutes of riotous but musical fun.

Jean Bosdell is the spritely little miss who can sing and dance in an eccentric way. Ray Hulong presents his famous seal in a novelty.

Another special feature for this bill is that of Don Meany and his Mid-nite Frolic who have entertained over the air. There are eighteen members of the frolic, each an artist in his own way.

Hubert Dyer and company will offer a novelty called "The Brainless Wonders," a comedy skit.

Harold Bell Wright's latest novel, "A Son of His Father," in which Warner Baxter, Bessie Love and Raymond Hatton appear, is the film unit.

BIG CARNIVAL FOR GLACIER ICE RINK

Saturday night will again be carnival night at the new Glacier Ice Palace, with the rink offering the third of its special programs for the spring season.

Interspersed in the regular skating session, a number of special events have been listed, of a variety and quality to rival the opening night.

As one of the unique specialties, Eileen Percy, Hollywood's skating movie star, and Margot, the world's premier skateuse, will give a demonstration of the Charleston on skates, proving that the knee-wiggling, hop-skip-and-jump dance can be done as efficaciously on ice as on the ballroom floor.

Mary Campbell Taylor, 4 years old, and the tiniest fancy skater extant, will give an exhibition with Robert Ukalla.

"Renny" Renfrew, stunt man of the movies, and Harry Swanson, skating expert, will present a comedy act in which Renfrew will demonstrate some plain and fancy ski-jumping. Bert Clark will also present an entirely new comedy number. Special exhibitions will be given by Charles Ukalla, Margot and Mme. Rochelle, and there will be some surprise numbers in addition.

PLAYS DUAL ROLE IN "THE COPPERHEAD"

Two separate and distinct characterizations are portrayed by Mabel Julienne Scott in her role opposite Lionel Barrymore in "The Copperhead" at the Playhouse.

In the first part she plays a middle-aged wife and mother who learns that her husband is a traitor and her son has fallen in battle. She runs from the stage in hysterics then returns in the next act as a sweet young thing, granddaughter of Milt Shanks.

One wonders how Miss Scott makes such a change of characterization. She, herself, believes that change of costume helps her to get into the mood. She runs off the stage crying real tears at every performance of "The Copperhead," and explains that, somehow, the minute she puts on the blonde wig, she feels as though she had really changed into that young girl. Even her voice takes on a different intonation.

'TUMBLEWEED' WILL BE SCREENED AT TALLY'S

"Tumbleweed," William S. Hart's latest production, which opens at Tally's Theater Saturday, has as its basis, the nation's greatest land rush, the famous stampede for homestead sites in the Cherokee Strip between Kansas and Oklahoma. It is a stirring romance with much spontaneous and legitimate comedy and some thrilling and highly dramatic moments. And with Bill Hart and his two guns, his horse and his inimitable personality, all these things make of this, a typical Hart picture, the finest of his long career.

BILLY DE REX SHIES AT CINEMA CONTRACT

Miss De Rex was given a screen test and offered a contract by a New York producer. She refused to sign on the dotted line, however, because of her theatrical plans. But negotiations have not been dropped entirely, it is understood, and Billy may yet be seen on the silversheet.

IT'S A BEAR

HEAVEN'S SAKE, DON'T MISS "FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE"

By Grace Kingsley

"For Heaven's Sake" lives up to its name and hits the sky.

For Heaven's sake don't miss "For Heaven's Sake."

This is Harold Lloyd's latest, and to me, his best comedy, the ultimate in quality of everything he has done before.

"For Heaven's Sake" opened yesterday at Grauman's Million-Dollar to the usual jam.

Harold warms up to this comedy with more than the usual humanness, too. Probably nobody but himself or Charlie Chaplin or Ray Griffith could take a rescue mission as the basis of his comedy, and, without losing one drop of comedy, all the while win sympathy for himself and his gang, and add to, rather than detract from, the appeal of such an institution.

You see it's this way with Harold. He is a rich boy who loves Jobyna Ralston as the little slum mission girl, and so to her tearful statement that "nobody that needs our help comes in here," he right gallantly offers to pluck the brands from the burning and hurl them into the midst of this soul service station.

That's where a chase, the good old standby of the laugh-pagers, glorified to a real use by this inspired young comedian, comes in handy. Harold goes forth and knocks down a few toughs, who all start chasing him.

Even the cops merely help, because, just when you think those toughs will probably beat him up or at best vamoose, up come the policemen, and the toughs fall to, singing lustily from the hymn books in order to pretend they are converted.

A wow of a sequence, though mayhap one all too easily fortuitous, is that in which Harold goes into a side room to look for more hymn books. He is followed by a tough, bent on beating him up, but in which every time he tries to hit the hero, some piece of furniture happens to hit him.

But maybe you'll shout most gleefully at the trip of the stolen auto-bus in which the toughs, completely won by Harold, who has "put the mission on a praying basis," come to his rescue when he has been kidnaped by his club friends on the eve of his marriage to the little mission girl.

This is more like the hilarious doings of a bunch of funny college boys, as related by some brilliant raconteur, than it is like the doings of toughs.

I don't want to spoil it for you by telling you the gags and stunts. You won't miss this show, I'm sure.

Jobyna Ralston is clever and lovely, as usual.

Just let me add, however, that there is a quite indescribable and yet very definite change in Lloyd's acting. There are a new and fine depth, charm and skill in his work.

I'm not just crazy about presentations, anyhow. I'll admit, and especially does the comedy in the acts always appear tiresome.

But I dare say that "Thanks for the Bus Ride" is done as well as anybody could do it.

George Givot, with his bell pants, is one of these squirrel food entertainers. The Chin Toy Sisters are sweet and quite harmless, and the two dancing darkies are very good indeed.

It does seem too bad that this theater should have to resort to cheap advertising of motor companies and oil syndicates, however.

PARAMOUNT TO FILM T. DREISER TRAGEDY

Everybody has been wondering when, if ever, and by whose efforts Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" would come to the screen.

We may now stop worrying, as the filming of this masterpiece of the author's will be in the inspired hands of D. W. Griffith.

Mr. Lasky stated in making the announcement that the picture will be probably the most ambitious effort ever put forth by his company.

The cast is not yet selected, but it seems quite certain that Carol Dempster will, by virtue of her splendid work in Griffith's later pictures, have the leading feminine part.

Paramount Bulletin

There are so many companies going and coming on location trips at the Paramount studios that any news about that studio reads like a travelogue.

Let us pause for a moment, however, in relating the commuting stuff, to nounce that Ernest Torrence has been cast in one of the leading roles of "Mantrap," the picturization of Sinclair Lewis's latest novel.

Clara Bow and Percy Marmont have the other two leading roles. Victor Fleming will direct.

Just for once, Torrence isn't to be either a heavy or the hopeless Patsy of the story. He has a nice wife, but we have to admit that Marmont cuts in on him.

I understand there is a possibility that the location may take place entirely at sea, if the vessels can be fitted up to provide adequate quarters for the company.

Due to the delay in having to sail out to sea at four knots an hour every day, and return, the shooting time is limited, and Cruze is looking for a chance to speed it up. He is now figuring on a two-weeks' voyage, sailing around in circles, well out of sight of land, and shooting from sunrise until dusk.

The "Beau Geste" company is working on location in the sand dunes twenty-eight miles outside of Yuma, Ariz. There are 1750 men in the camp, representing French and Riffian soldiers. No women are in the camp.

John Waters is on location in the wilds making Zane Grey's "Born to the West," and Raymond Griffith is working at Beverly Hills on his current picture.

Hedda Hopper Writes

I have a nice little letter from Hedda Hopper, written en route to New York, whither she went on a day's notice to appear in "The Cherry Tree."

"And with me," writes Miss Hopper, "I brought Laura LaPlante, who has never seen New York before, though New York has often seen her! She is a darling about it all—declares she has goose-flesh up and down her spinal column already at the prospect of seeing Broadway."

Warner Brothers Cast

With a highly dependable cast, "Footloose Widows" got away to a lively start yesterday at the Warner studio under direction of Roy del Ruth. Louise Fazenda, Jacqueline Logan and Jason Robards head the cast, and in support are Andre Beranger, Neely Edwards, Douglas Gerrard, Jane Winton and Arthur Hoyt.

Jack Ford Travels

SURPRISE CONCERT AT UPTOWN THEATER

Katherine M. Cocke will resume her Saturday concerts for children tomorrow with a "surprise concert" at the Uptown Theater at 10 a.m.

The children and their parents will be entertained free of charge, with a series of motion pictures and filmed stories of musical subjects, which will be accompanied by suitable organ selections and in addition with a recital program by some remarkably talented children assisted by Sol Cohen, the violinist.

The West Coast Theater Company and the Motor Transit Company will co-operate with Miss Cocke in making this a rare treat for musically inclined children.

F.B.O. OFFICIALS ON WAY TO HOLLYWOOD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Colvin W. Brown, vice-president of F.B.O. in charge of distribution, left for Los Angeles in advance of the home office contingent bound for the sales convention.

Edward McNamee, director of sales promotion and publicity, leaves today and the large party departing Saturday will include executives from the New York office, which will be joined in Chicago by division and branch managers from the South and Middle West. The gathering will be further augmented at Kansas City and El Paso.

The convention begins April 1, next, and continues for two days thereafter, the homeward journey being scheduled to begin April 4.

Vilma Banky With Valentino

Vilma Banky, the "Hungarian rhapsody" of the screen, is once more appearing opposite Rudolph Valentino in "Son of the Sheik," his new starring photoplay which has just gone into production at the Pickford-Fairbanks studio in Hollywood. Their dual popularity in "The Eagle" prompted Producer John W. Considine, Jr., to arrange with Samuel Goldwyn for Miss Banky to again appear with the star.

John Barrymore's Leading Woman

Dolores Costello,

Beautiful young actress, who has made a hit in "The Sea Beast," now in its second month at the Figueroa. The love scenes depicted are declared to be quite the most charming ever screened.

Lou Tellegen is to Appear on Criterion Stage

When Lou Tellegen makes his appearance on the stage of the Criterion Theater during the engagement of "East Lynne," which opens tomorrow, he will be supported in his one-act play by William V. Mong, who will assume the role of the husband.

The vehicle, "Her Husband's Friend," was written by Robert Edeson, and will be personally staged by Emmett Flynn, director of "East Lynne." Miss Cornelia Lynn has the role of the wife.

Tellegen's appearance at the Criterion is the first of a remarkable line-up of film luminaries who will appear from week to week on the stage in one-act plays.

"MERRY WIDOW" AT WEST COAST HOUSES

Seldom does a picture create such widespread interest as has "The Merry Widow," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, which opened yesterday at the West Coast Boulevard and West Coast Belmont theaters.

The title role, in which Miss Murray is featured, furnishes this piquant actress with the best role of her career. John Gilbert, one of the most popular men on the screen today, invests the part of Prince Danilo with a brilliance and dash which has come to be associated with this actor.

Both orchestras, which includes Gene Morgan and his orchestra at the Boulevard, and Dave Good and his Belmont Syncopators at the Belmont, offer musical entertainment which is ideally suited to "The Merry Widow."

"THAT ROYLE GIRL" ON UPTOWN SCREEN

The potent lure of D. W. Griffith drew a large crowd to the West Coast Uptown Theater last night, where "That Royle Girl" is now showing.

Carol Dempster, W. C. Fields, James Kirkwood and Harrison Ford, have the leading roles in this production.

Of course, in order to correspond with the picture, something snappy in the way of musical entertainment was expected of the stage offering at the Uptown. This was well taken care of by Charley Melson and his Play Boys.

WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 25.—Abe Stern today left for Chicago to attend the Universal convention, which will be in session for three days in Detroit, in New Orleans and Chicago and then Los Angeles.

Dorothy Mackaill in Person

Dorothy Mackaill, feminine star of Michael Arlen's "The Dancer of Paris," which comes to Loew's State today, will appear in person at the theater as guest of honor.

WINS OJAI QUARTET PRIZE

The prize for the best quartet submitted to the Ojai Chamber Music Festival judges has been awarded to Albert Huybrechts of Brussels, Belgium. Honorable mention was awarded Arthur Farwell of Los Angeles and Jean Rivier of Paris.

It is a fact worthy of comment that Arthur Farwell was the only American to be mentioned out of some seventy who submitted manuscripts from every part of the world.

His quartet is semimodern and was inspired by an ancient ceremony of the Pawnee tribe. He has called it "The Hako."

On the last program of the three-day festival the San Francisco Chamber Music Society will play this quartet along with the prize-winning composition by Huybrechts and one of Mozart's.

The Ojai prize of $1000 is being given by Frank J. Frost of Ojai. Mrs. Elizabeth Coolidge, national godmother of chamber music, is co-operating in the festival which is to take place April 16, 17 and 18.

VAN GORDON GOOD TO SEE AND HEAR

Opera Singer Gives Concert of Varied Songs; Displays Power

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

She has a large mezzo-contralto of wide range and it is very easy to credit the reports of her success in Wagnerian opera after hearing her in recital.

Opening with Verdi's "L'Abborita Rivale" from "Aida," arranged for her by Harry Rowe Shelley, she created immediate interest by her stunning appearance. Being at least six feet tall and garbed in white and crystal (the dressmaker was duly credited on the program,) Mme. Van Gordon's appearance was not a small item in the performance.

Her voice is somewhat throatty and her enunciation is uncomfortably vague. She does not bring her words to her lips and too many of her tones are intercepted by the roof of her mouth. Among other things, she has a bad habit of singing with her shoulders.

She has undoubted vocal and magnetic power and certain tones are surpassingly lovely. As an opera singer and as a social queen she must be a great success, but as a recitalist she leaves something to be desired.

The third numbers were not sung according to the program. Kathryn Whitfield's "I Lie Awake" came first, with the Herbert song from "Natoma" second. Cadman's "Moon Behind the Cottonwood" was left out, and two encores, "La Petit Bateaux," (Lily Strickland,) and Cadman's "The Land of the Sky-Blue Water" were given.

The fouth group consisted of Schoenberg's "Erheburgh," "Tree Yeaux" and "As We Part," by Ilgen Frita.

The balance of the concert was sung as programmed, with several encores, some of which were played as well as sung by Mme. Van Gordon.

DRAMATIC SKETCH GARRET HIGHLIGHT

Varied Program Marks Artistic Enterprise of Little Theater Group

Comedy, intense drama and more comedy.

This was the theatrical sandwich offered by players of the Garret Club, who last night presented three little plays at the Club Theater on Spring street.

The meat of the sandwich—the drama—is a perfect little play from every standpoint. It is just a slice of life behind jail doors and depicted only four toughs with the shell cracked off. Just four toughs thinking about the electric chair—"the stove."

Edward H. Smith is author of the piece, called "Release." He has developed a single situation with the sure simplicity of an artist.

Ross Sperry played one of the gang, who looked upon "the stove" without shrinking. Stuart Lewis played "the rabbit." The character contrast as handled by the two gave the situation a firm dramatic background. George B. McNulty, Edward Davis and Paul Spier completed the cast.

"His Poor Wife" was a frothy piece rich in well-placed satire, clever and original. It was written by Doris Anderson. Will Reynolds, Catherine Ogden and Marie Chapelle were excellent in their parts.

"The Very Naked Boy," by Stuart Walker, with Gordon Moss, Constance Everman and Jerry Rich in the cast, is a little play that can always be depended upon to win its share of laughs. This piece was directed by Charles Moore, while Marjorie Driscoll directed "Release" and Ken Chamberlain, "His Poor Wife."

AMERICANS WON'T WAIT AND WORK

Marshall Says Tales of Discrimination Are Not Strictly True

"American singers are just as popular as foreign ones if they do the work," says Charles Marshall, leading tenor of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, in Los Angeles for his appearance today with the Philharmonic Orchestra. His success in heroic roles gives him authority with which to speak.

"The only reason foreigners succeed more often in our operahouses is because they are willing to work and wait and many American singers expect recognition without those preliminaries," he continued.

Charles Marshall looks like a typical American baseball magnate. He has an infectious smile and a huge voice that reminds the listener strongly of Caruso.

His success with his own countrymen and in Canada has been phenomenal and his present season has been so filled that he cannot get away even to visit Europe although he speaks with longing of Mary Garden's invitation to come to Monte Carlo, where she has a villa well stocked with champagne.

Mrs. Charles Marshall is here with her eminent husband enjoying Southern California after a siege of Miami, which the Marshalls admit is aptly described by Will Rogers's remark, "It's the only town in the world where you have to get a stepladder to get into the ocean."

Marshall leaves after his performance tomorrow night, but will return in the fall for an engagement with the Los Angeles Opera Company and may return again if the Chicago Opera Company comes out on tour next season.

He will sing an aria from "Pagliacci" this afternoon.

WILL STAGE "LITTLE WOMEN"

The Long Beach Community Players will offer their first production, "Little Women," by Marian De Forest, adapted from the story by Louisa M. Alcott, tomorrow evening and Monday evening, in the George Washington School Auditorium, Eighth street and American avenue, Long Beach.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

CROP TOO BIG IN SAN JOAQUIN

Lack of Shipping Facilities Costly to Ranchers

Thousands of Cars Never Get to Market

Valley Ships 30,350 Carloads of Juice Grapes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, March 25.—As the result of congestion in shipping and harvesting of the 1925 grape crop in the San Joaquin Valley, 7540 cars of table grapes and 4040 cars of raisin grapes were left on the vines.

This was the substance of a report made today at a meeting of grape growers and shippers here under the auspices of the agricultural department of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce, with R. Parker Frisselle presiding.

Total grape production was 181,279 cars, of which 88,571 were raisin grapes, 32,458 were table grapes and 30,350 cars of juice grapes, according to a report by a fact-finding committee, the personnel of which was Fred P. Roullard, Horticultural Commissioner; Leslie Einstein, a director of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers, and Ward B. Minturn, president of the California Peach and Fig Growers.

One of the causes for congestion in the eastern markets, it was said, was the tendency to ship raisin grapes as table grapes, a total of 19,524 cars of Muscats, 4040 cars of Thompson juice grapes and 3757 cars of Thompson table grapes being shipped.

Among those who addressed the meeting were Wilmar Selg, manager of the California Fruit Distributors; P. W. Reed of the California Fruit Exchange; H. H. Hazeltine, American Fruit Growers; R. L. Nouharet, viticulturist; W. S. Connelly, California Development Association, and a number of growers and shippers, including B. M. Hopper, prominent Fresno county vineyardist.

As the result of today's conference it is expected that some plan will be evolved whereby the congestion of grapes in the eastern markets may be obviated to a degree where the experiences of the 1925 season will be eliminated making more certain profit from fresh-grape shipments.

Chamber Favors Bond Issue for Park Purposes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, March 25.—Directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, meeting in special session today, recommended to the City Council a bond issue of $250,000 for parks and equipment.

The board previously had indorsed a proposal to submit the question to voters, but had not made a recommendation as to the amount of money that should be asked.

It is the opinion of Chamber directors that the sum will be ample to provide two park sites and equip them in a creditable manner.

W. C. Jerome, County Auditor, has been drafted on the board of directors, his appointment being announced today, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of O. A. Haley, who served the chamber last years as president.

George Reid, A. E. Hargrove and Ed Smith, representing the Anaheim Valencia Show, appeared before the board and asked that Santa Ana be represented at the show by a feature exhibit.

The date for the display is May 13 to 22. The suggestion was taken under advisement pending investigation of finances of the chamber to determine whether the sum of approximately $500 would be available for an exhibit.

AMNESIA VICTIM IN CUSTODY OF POLICE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 25.—A woman who says that she does not know her own name or where she lives was taken into custody here on Colorado street this afternoon by Patrolman Smith, who found her in a dazed condition and took her to the police station for questioning and identification. The woman is about 32 years of age, weighs 120 pounds and is about five feet tall. She was dressed in worn hiking clothes and had but a few cents in her pockets. In one of her boots was found a marriage certificate of Ruth B. Curtis and Lee Warner of Fowler, Cal., dated Fresno, 1922.

INTEREST HIGH IN FULLERTON CAMPAIGN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

FULLERTON, March 25.—With two candidates for election to the Fullerton Union High School Board of Trustees and two to the Fullerton Grammar School Board and one vacancy in each group of trustees, interest is unusually high in the voting here Friday.

W. J. Travers, incumbent, and Carl H. Seumans are candidates for the High School Board. Mrs. Lulu C. Lauser and Mrs. Myrta L. Wildman are Grammar School Board candidates.

TO OPEN STREETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, March 25.—Proposals to open either I, H or G streets through to the fair grounds north of Bakersfield, which were recently purchased by the county, were made today by membes of the Bakersfield Realty Board. The original suggestion was made by T. H. Derby, president of the board, who, together with other members, was of the opinion, "that if the fair grounds are worth $100,000 they are worth a few dollars to open a new thoroughfare to them from the business district of Bakersfield."

LONG LIVE THE LONG FAMILY

Baby Girl Has Birthday Party Featured by Seven Grandparents

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, March 25.—Gale Emily Long, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Boyd Long of Chatsworth celebrated her first birthday in Glendale with a gathering at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Horace Davenport, 1437 Winchester avenue, at which seven of her grandparents were present.

Three generations from each side of the house were among the guests in addition to Gale Emily herself. On the father's side there were A. Boyd Long, the father; Mr. and Mrs. James I. Long, grandparents, and Mrs. Frederica Langendorf, her great-grandmother.

The mother's side of the family was represented by Mrs. R. Royd Long, mother; Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Kline, grandparents; Mrs. Sarah F. Kline, great-grandmother, and Harrison Strang, great-grandfather.

BANQUETERS COME FROM WORLD OVER

Guest at Church Supper Represented Many States and Foreign Countries

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

WHITTIER, March 25.—Representatives from thirty-eight States and four different nations, totaling nearly 700, assembled at the first Friends church last evening for the concluding church night supper of the season, with Charles H. Parsons, secretary of the California States Society, and Mrs. Addison Stewart, daughter of the founder of Whittier, as special guests.

Placards bearing the names of the States were placed on the tables in the large banquet room, and around these the former residents of the Eastern States were grouped. Benjamin F. Arnold was given a special badge, as he lived in Iowa when the "tall corn" State was still a territory.

Each group sang their State song, California having the largest chorus; the Iowans sang "That's Where the Tall Corn Grows" which created such a furor last fall when the Iowa football team played in the Coliseum. Some of the States had their representatives give short sketches, among these being North Carolina, which was ably and humorously represented by the Rev. Eliza Armstrong Cox, accredited minister of the Friends church and an ardent "tar heel."

Nations represented at the banquet were the United States, Mexico, Japan, England and Canada.

Mrs. Stewart, one of the honor guests, is the daughter of the late Aquilla Pickering, who with a group of Quakers, many of them from Chicago and the Middle West, came to California in the late '40's and founded the Quaker city of Whittier, named for the celebrated Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT

Woodlake Plans Exhibit Showing Advance of Civilization

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WOODLAKE, March 25.—Henry Ford has been invited to attend and participate in the tranportation division of the Woodlake-Three Rivers pageant to be presented on May Day in a natural amphitheater near Twin Buttes, north of here. The famous manufacturer has been asked not only to be present, but to drive his first automobile.

An Indian squaw with her papoose on her back will head this division, which will have seventy-five exhibits depicting various steps of progress in transportation. An airplane will close the march of progress.

The pageant will be a historical presentation of development of "The Valley of the Sun," with a cast of 800 and a chorus of more than 200 voices. From before the coming of the Indians, through days of the redmen, the Spanish and American periods, to the present era of progress will run the thread of the story.

Prof. Hicks, principal of the Woodlake High School, and trustees of the Woodlake Union High School district comprise the executive committee.

NARROW ESCAPE

Automobile Dragged by Train; Occupants Uninjured

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 25. — Mr. and Mrs. William De Young narrowly escaped death today when their automobile skidded into a Santa Fe train at the Los Robles-avenue crossing and was dragged about fifty feet along the right of way before coming to a stop in a badly damaged condition.

The occupants of the machine, who escaped injury, failed to hear the warning signal, they said, and did not notice the approaching engine until it had started across the street. De Young set his brakes but the slippery pavement caused the car to crash into the side of the train. Fortunately, the car became disentangled from the side of the train before it overturned.

WHITTIER, March 25.—As a closing event for a successful tour of near-by towns, and a preliminary to the most extensive tour yet undertaken, the Men's Glee Club of Whittier College will give the annual home concert of the high school auditorium here Friday evening.

The club leaves April 2 for the annual tour, returning April 13. The men will sing at San Diego, Imperial, Yuma, Phoenix, Prescott, Flagstaff, Grand Canyon, Williams, Needles and Riverside, the trip to be made by chartered auto bus.

Prof. Howard L. Hockett, head of the department of vocal music at Whittier College will accompany and direct the club. Prof. Eugene Knox, also of the faculty, will add to the attractiveness of the entertainment with humorous and dramatic readings.

There are twenty men in the club and aside from the ensemble work, there will be a trumpet quartet, a cornet duet, a Hawaiian trio composed of steel guitar, Spanish mandolin and Ukulele; an instrumental trio of 'cello, violin and piano, saxophone soloist, vocal quartet and other attractive numbers. The collegians' repertoire includes humorous and classic numbers.

Recently they sang at Pasadena, Santa Ana, Los Angeles, Montebello, Glendale and Yorba Linda, and have met with an ovation wherever they have appeared in concert.

Driver Escapes Serious Injury in Acrobatic Car

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, March 25.—J. E. Dalton of 1075 Bluffside Drive, Los Angeles, narrowly escaped serious injury about 2:45 oclock this morning when the light coupe in which he was riding south on Spadra Road near Palm street, this city, turned turtle on a sharp curve and caught fire, according to report on file at police headquarters.

The Anaheim fire department was summoned to the scene and extinguished the flames. Fullerton police officers, who witnessed the accident, rushed the injured man to the Fullerton General Hospital where emergency treatment was given.

It was found that the man had suffered lacerations about the face, the car in which he was riding turning turtle several times and being practically demolished before catching fire, it is said.

According to Dalton's story he failed to see the sharp bend in the road until too late to make the curve. He threw his car out of gear and applied his brakes, causing the machine to turn end over end, he said.

HURRIED TO WORK

Ontario Plumber Gets on Job Just as Scaffold Falls

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, March 25.—Because his sense of duty triumphed over his love of music, Charles Cornelius of the plumbing firm of Cornelius Brothers, 112 East Transit street, was tonight confined to his bed at home, 853 East A street, suffering from a fractured right wrist and lacerated head and other injuries.

Shortly before the accident which resulted in his injury Mr. Cornelius, with many others, was at City Hall Park awaiting the arrival of a professional orchestra slated to give a complimentary concert there during the noon hour. The musicians were late and when 1 o'clock arrived and the orchestra was still absent Mr. Cornelius remarked that he must get to work and, despite the protests of friends, departed.

Five minutes later a scaffolding on which he was working at the new Emmons Building, Euclid avenue and C street, overturned and plunged him head first to the floor some fifteen feet below. The injured man was taken to the office of Dr. S. A. Craig, who reduced the fracture, and later he was removed to his home.

SCHOOLMASTERS TO MEET NEXT MONTH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, March 25.—Plans are progressing for the annual convention of the Schoolmasters' Association that will be conducted here on April 24, in the auditorium of the San Fernando High School. The local Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations here are arranging the entertainment program. While the sessions are on the delegates will be taken to the New St. Francis dam, in San Francisquito Canyon, to the old Mission and other places of interest in this part of the valley. Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Schools, is scheduled as one of the principal speakers before the convention. As now planned, it is expected that more than 500 school-teachers will attend the sessions.

CONSERVE RIVER WATER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA PAULA, March 25.—Spreading of the water of the Santa Clara River over the river bed has begun at Saticoy, where the county's steam shovel is at work making dams. It is planned to distribute the water over the gravel so that none of it shall go to waste but will be soaked up and made available for irrigation next summer by underground storage. When the river has been dammed at Saticoy, similar action will be taken at Piru.

HEADS DEMOCRAT CLUB

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, March 25.—A. R. Gann, prominent Oildale Democrat, was elected president of the Oildale chapter of the Kern County Democratic Club at a meeting held in the Oildale Community Hall last night. R. D. Chubbick, editor of the Oildale Progressive, was elected secretary of the organization. With the founding of the Oildale club there are now four chapters in the county organization, including the parent Bakersfield unit.

Taxpayers Will be Consulted on Zone Proposals

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, March 25.—For the benefit of property owners on Victory Boulevard who have inquired, it is now announced that G. Gordon Whitnall of the City Planning Commission, is in the East, but is scheduled to return in the near future. While he is absent it is stated that no action will be taken on the proposed zoning of Victory Boulevard in this section of San Fernando Valley, in the matter of segregating a business district from what later is to be designated the district for homes.

Before departing, Whitnall stated that nothing definite could or would be done until all property owners have been consulted. Whitnall on his return from the East will come to Van Nuys and hold a half-day session on the zoning proposition.

Victory Boulevard is one of the principal residence streets running through Van Nuys. It is also one of the important highways running east and west through San Fernando Valley. Some certain property owners are under the belief that drastic zoning laws ultimately are to be made to apply on certain sections of it. According to Whitnall's statement nothing is actually to be done until the entire matter is gone into with all property owners involved.

CITY MAY PROFIT

Ventura Sees Possibility of Oil Well Royalties

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, March 25.—The possibility that Ventura may duplicate in some measure the experience of Long Beach through obtaining a substantial income from municipal oil wells, was forecast here today by scouts for big producing companies. With the predicted extension of the Rich avenue oil field to the east and south by the completion of new wells, lands owned by the city and county on ex-Mission Hills are in line for possible exploitation.

Part of the city's land is in Grant Park, which was deeded to the municipality by the Grant estate, and this parcel, it is said, could not be drilled under the terms of the gift, without reverting to the heirs. However, there is other land owned by the city adjoining and also some under county ownership that oil men forecast may some day be producing territory.

WIFE TO CARRY ON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEWPORT BEACH, March 25. Mrs. Miriam S. Porter was last night appointed City Treasurer to succeed her husband, J. A. Porter who died Tuesday, morning at Glendale. Mrs. Porter is a nominee for the office of treasurer at the coming municipal elections. She was appointed at a special meeting of the Board of City Trustees. Other offices held by Porter probably will be filled at the next meeting of the City Trustees April 5. John Welch, deputy City Marshall, is now heading the police department.

Realty Brokers to be Guests of Board in Valley

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, March 25.—Members of the Van Nuys Realty Board tomorrow will act as hosts to about seventy-five brokers of the West Hollywood Realty Board, who are coming to spend all day in Van Nuys and in other parts of San Fernando Valley. Members of the local board will meet the brokers on their arrival here and will take them for a tour to all valley towns. Special trips will be made over newly-paved highways and into farming sections that have been opened up because of the new roads leading into them. Lettuce fields, orchards, cabbage fields, oil well operations and other items of industrial interest will be seen. Following the tour that is expected to take the party from San Fernando and Pacoima as far west as Chatsworth, guests and hosts will repair to the Encino Country Club where lunch will be served. There also will be a short musical program, and speaking by various members of the party. The occasion is intended to be one of the best efforts put forth in some time by the local board to give a broader idea of the growing advantages of all sections of the valley.

CHILD CLINIC

Estate Provides Addition to Long Beach Hospital

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 25.—The Adelaide Tichenor School and Clinic for Crippled Children, an enterprise sponsored by the late Adelaide Tichenor, is to be opened at Community Hospital on Saturday, it was announced today. The announcement was coincident with the order of Superior Judge Reeve that the Tichenor estate be settled and approved.

Attorneys for the estate reported that, through careful investments by the executors, the funds to be turned over to the school and clinic will be greater than the assets of the entire estate at the time of the death of Mrs. Tichenor. When all legacies and expenses have been paid, close to $250,000 will remain for the school. The estate at the time of Mrs. Tichenor's death was said to amount to $313,000.

Saturday's formal opening will be for crippled children only, and not for the public.

SEWER BONDS UP TO VOTERS AT LA HABRA

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LA HABRA, March 24.—A bond election for the sanitary district has been called for Wednesday, May 19. This will include all cities interested in the sewer problem included in the sanitary district. La Habra's bond issue will be $40,000, this is to cover all needed expenses. Her quota for the combined districts is $17,300. This extra cost is made necessary primarily by the order from the State Board of Health requiring the outfall sewer to be extended 800 feet farther into the ocean. This is estimated by the engineers to cost an additional $342,000.

IS PRISONER AT STOCKTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, March 25.—Chief of Police J. F. Sawyer received word today from Stockton that Juan Marriona, wanted here in connection with the burglary of the ranch home of J. C. Clark, Ninth street and Central avenue, burglary of the residence of Owen B. Atwood in West Sixteenth street, and the theft of a motor car from T. Kirk Vernon, San Antonio avenue and Sixteenth street, has pleaded guilty in the northern city to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder and will be sentenced to Folsom penitentiary Saturday.

Marriona was taken into custody by a Pomona officer who stopped him while looking for bootleggers. He was handcuffed, but succeeded in making his escape, leaving a woman companion and a motor car filled with loot from the Clark home behind.

The woman is still held in the San Bernardine County Jail. Shortly after this, on January 30, burglary of the Atwood home and the theft on the Vernon car were reported to the local police. A week later, word came from Stockton that Marriona had been captured in that city after a gun battle in which he attempted to murder several officers, and with the motor car and much of the Atwood loot in his possession.

Bunton Talks on Aims of Booster Body in Valley

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, March 25.—At the regular meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce tonight, one of the principal speakers was George W. Bunton, manager of the Greater San Fernando Valley Association, who spoke at length on the aims and purposes of his organization. A large number of Van Nuys Chamber members and others heard the talk. In recent meetings of the Greater San Fernando Valley Association it has been apparent that there has not been an entire accord in the program as announced by the organization for the future development of San Fernando Valley. This is especially in the matter of flood control and other urgent improvement needs of this section, none of which, it has been stated, may be accomplished until all civic leaders combine in their efforts. There has even been the proposed amalgamation of the organization with the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the valley ultimately, with the end in view. In his address last night, Mr. Bunton in bringing out the aims of the Greater San Fernando Valley Association, for some length dwelt on the need of everybody getting together, if the work of the organization was to succeed.

HONOR KING COTTON

Bakersfield Fiesta to Be Among State's Greatest

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, March 25.—With Pasadena's Tournament of Roses and Fresno's Raisin Day celebration, California's "Cotton is King" festival, to be held in Bakersfield on May 17, next, will take its place among the great fiestas of the Pacific Coast.

Actively laying plans for the event, the "Cotton is King" executive committee, of which T. H. Derby is president, met in the office of Barlow & Hill yesterday. State-wide enthusiasm is being shown over the announcement of the festival, it is said, and thousands of visitors from all parts of the State will throng the gaily decorated streets to witness the giant "Cotton is King" parade, in which novel floats from all the cotton districts of California will be entered.

ESTABLISHED RECORD AS MASONIC MASTER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA PAULA, March 25.—William Henry Allen, for thirty years a resident of Santa Paula, died this morning aged 85 years. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of Santa Paula Lodge, No. 291, F. and A. M.

Mr. Allen was a native of Auburn, Ky., and was for twenty years master of the Masonic Lodge there, said to be a record in Masonic circles. He came to California forty years ago, and after a brief period spent in Newhall and Carpinteria, settled in Santa Paula and has lived here ever since.

For many years he was engaged in farming, until his age prevented him from doing active work. He is survived by his only child, Mrs. A. M. Ransdell, and his son-in-law, A. M. Ransdell.

SHOW INTEREST IN SCHOOL ELECTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, March 25.—The vote in Oxnard's grammar-school election tomorrow is expected to be larger than usual on account of the race between Dr. H. M. Staire, who is a candidate for re-election, and E. W. Power, well-known citizen, who was recently nominated for election.

Dr. Staire has served on the board for many years. It is expected the race will be a close one. Dr. Staire is also president of the High School Board and is announced for re-election. He has no opposition in this election.

HIGH PRICES AT AUCTION SALES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, March 25.—Good prices for hogs continued this week at auction sales in San Joaquin Valley cities by the California Farm Bureau Marketing Association, the highest price being secured at the sale here today, $13.95 per hundredweight, a shade under last week's top price.

Two hundred and forty-seven hogs were sold today, also twenty-six cows and forty calves. The association started calf and butcher cow sales two months ago and the largest yet held was here today when twenty-six cows were sold at prices from $12 to $80, and forty calves at $5 to $25.

Announce Dates for Contests in Eisteddfod

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, March 25.—Major group contests to be staged during the Glendale district Eisteddfod were announced at a dinner last night by the executive committee of the district, when it was stated that seven high school glee clubs, both boys and girls, would compete on the night of April 14 in the Broadway High School in Glendale. Four schools will be represented, Glendale, Burbank, Highland Park and San Fernando, Burbank sending two club and each of the others two clubs.

Service clubs from various points in the district will compete on April 20, and the next night, April 21, the high school bands and orchestras will hold their contests at Franklin High School at Highland Park, this date having been designated Highland Park Day.

The elementary school glee clubs and orchestras will compete on April 23 and on the closing night, April 27, the Glendale Symphony Orchestra, Burbank Choral Club and the oratorio section of the Glendale Music Club will compete. Individual and other group contests will be held on other dates yet to be announced.

TALK CONSERVATION

Speakers Address Interested Meeting at Delano

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DELANO, March 25.—Before an enthusiastic audience that filled the auditorium of the new Delano grammar school last night, Arthur S. Crites and C. A. Barlow of Bakersfield spoke on the necessity of conserving the State's water supplies by the California State Irrigation Association, of which Mr. Barlow is president.

In his address, Mr. Crites declared that the shortage of water is not a problem felt in the San Joaquin Valley or Southern California, alone. The speaker said that in his work he had been compelled to take extensive trips through the State and that in the north as well as the south he ran into appeals for the relief of water shortage.

Mr. Crites intimated that the growth of the State will undoubtedly be greatly retarded unless the leaders of the State join hands in the co-ordination and careful distribution of water in the future.

Injured Workman Has Chance for Recovery

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, March 25.—Pete Gorggo, Italian employee at the magnesite mines east of here, who lies in the Porterville Hospital with serious injuries as the result of a cave-in beneath which he was buried for some time yesterday, is believed to have a chance for recovery today, according to report of Dr. J. W. Nicholson, attending physician.

Much of the pile of rock and dirt, weighing several tons, which rushed down upon Gorggo as he was at work, caught on a wheelbarrow under which he partially fell. This is believed to have saved his life. He sustained a fracture of the right hip, two fractures of the right leg and numerous body lacerations. Twelve other men whose lives were threatened dug out the imprisoned man. This was the first accident at the local mine in three years.

PREHISTORIC OCTOPUS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, March 25.—A shriveled reminder of prehistoric days when Kern county was submerged beneath the waters of the Pacific, the nearly petrified remains of an octopus were found today in the sage-brush lands three miles south of Bakersfield and one mile east of Cottonwood Road, by Marvin Hicks.

The sea creature, measuring two feet across its body, was in a fair state of preservation, though the coyotes had apparently gnawed at the eight stiff tentacles which radiated from its body.

ACTRESS TO RETURN IN POLA NEGRI FILM

Marie Mosquini

After an absence from the screen of more than a year, Marie Mosquini is about to return to the Kliegs in a dramatic role with Pola Negri.

It was announced yesterday at the Famous Players-Lasky Studios that Miss Mosquini had been signed for an important role in Pola Negri's next picture.

Miss Mosquini had appeared almost solely in comedies up to the time of her temporary retirement. The forthcoming picture will be her most important venture into the dramatic field.

Recreational Hall Opened at County School

With elaborate ceremonies, featured by the presentation of Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird" by members of the school, the new recreational hall and school building at El Retiro School in the San Fernando Valley was officially dedicated last night.

The feature presentation of the program followed a speech of dedication by Dr. Miriam Van Waters and speeches by Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Superintendent of Schools, and Judge Archbald. Miss Alma Holzschun, superintendent of the school, also made a short address.

A diversified program of music and other entertainment features were given between the scenes of the play, various members of the school taking part.

The El Retiro School, a Los Angeles county institution, now has more than sixty girls, the majority of whom are wards of the Juvenile Court.

Real Estate Man Accused by Girl in Suit

Charging he had betrayed her with promises of marriage and expressing the belief that he is now engaged to marry another woman, Miss Rose M. Sessions yesterday brought suit in Superior Court against William H. Elwell, a retired real estate man, for $50,000 damages.

Served with the summons in the complaint as he entertained friends at his apartment at 2410 Leeward street, Mr. Elwell emphatically denied all charges made by Miss Sessions in her suit.

"I am engaged to marry another girl," Mr. Elwell declared, "and this is purely a scheme to get money. There was never anything between Miss Sessions and me that could possibly lead her to believe that I contemplated marrying her. It's ridiculous and I deny the charges in toto."

In her complaint Miss Sessions asserts she was betrayed by Elwell after they became engaged on October 12, 1923. She further declares that on the 15th inst. she asked Elwell to marry her, but that he refused to do so.

Miss Sessions's complaint was prepared by Atty. Isador Morris.

SAN QUENTIN TO RECEIVE DOWNS

Goodyear Official Sentenced to One to Ten Years

Pleads Guilty to Embezzling Fortune from Company

Colorful "Confession" About Blackmailers Disbelieved

William F. Downs, former treasurer of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California, who recently pleaded guilty of embezzling large sums of money from the company, yesterday was sentenced by Judge Keetch to serve from one to ten years in San Quentin penitentiary.

Although the aggregate of the sums Downs was specifically charged with misappropriating is only $6605.08, the actual amount he took from the company is estimated to exceed $150,000.

Discovery of a shortage of at least $15,000 was made by auditors working on the rubber concern's books early in the year, and was exclusively announced by The Times. It was first stated that Downs, the treasurer, was ill, and that the investigation would be delayed pending his recovery. He was stated to be suffering from a nervous breakdown.

COMPANY PROTECTED

The inquiry was begun, company officials announced, when John W. Mapel, assistant to the president, and A. F. Osterloh, vice-president and general manager of the California company, became suspicious and ordered a general audit. It was also made clear that the concern was amply protected by a surety company against loss.

It was on February 8, last, that Downs confessed embezzling some $150,000 of Goodyear funds. In extenuation, he told a dramatic story of paying blackmail money to a gang of eastern crooks. This colorful tale later was practically repudiated. He admitted, also, that he was the William P. Downs who in 1909 was arrested in Baltimore charged with embezzling $50,000 of municipal money. The blackmailers, he stated, were under the direction of a "master criminal," a pickpocket, who shared a cell with Downs in the Baltimore jail.

"I had held a minor office with the city government," Downs told the officers in making his "confession" of the blackmailers' hand. "I was very young at the time, and was made the goat by unscrupulous Baltimore politicians. Finally, after having faced four juries, I was acquitted and left the city.

WANTED TO BEGIN ANEW

"I thought I would start life all over again. With my father I went into business in another eastern town. But before long members of the blackmail band found me. They demanded money, threatening to reveal the past I was trying to live down. Finally, I fled from the town.

"I went from city to city, continually trying to escape the 'mob' of criminals who had known me in jail. I paid them every cent I could spare, but their demands were never fully met.

"In 1909 I went to Akron, O., taking a position with the Goodyear Rubber Company. It was in 1919 that I came to Los Angeles. By dint of hard work and strict attention to business I worked up to the place of treasurer."

All apparently was going well, according to the "confession," until Downs was found at his Venice bungalow by the blackmailers.

"When I was appointed treasurer, they increased their demands," Downs asserted, "to $10,000 a month."

The long series of defalcations, he told Sheriff's officers, was made in an effort to keep the secret of his past from being revealed by the Baltimore bandits.

KEPT PALATIAL HOME

Investigation by the officers, however, revealed that in spite of the asserted large contributions Downs was making to the blackmailers, he maintained a palatial home on West Boulevard, drove a large automobile, and was a well-known figure in the gayest cafes both in Los Angeles and at the beaches.

The Sheriff's office gave little credence to the highly colored narrative of a criminal band levying blackmail from a terrified victim. An extensive investigation in eastern cities failed to substantiate the story, and it is considered by the officers to have been an interesting fabrication.

When he was arraigned before Municipal Judge Blake on the 2nd inst., Downs waived a preliminary hearing on embezzlement charges.

FITZGERALD PLEA DENIES DEATH GUILT

Prisoner Who Escaped from Jail Heavily Guarded on Appearance in Court

Charles Fitzgerald, charged with shooting to death Policeman Elmer Griffith of San Gabriel on the night of February 7, last, pleaded not guilty in Judge McLucas's court yesterday. His trial was set for May 4, next.

Fitzgerald, who, according to deputy sheriffs, was the leader in the recent escape of six prisoners from the County Jail and who was captured single-handed by Deputy Sheriff Stensland, was heavily guarded when taken into court. Resolved to take no chances, Sheriff Traeger and Jailer Dewar stationed guards outside the courtroom as well as within. Fitzgerald was kept in iron chains throughout the proceedings, with heavily armed deputies standing by him.

He admitted in court that he was convicted in 1908 in Fresno county on a charge of burglary and that he served a sentence in the Montana State prison for second-degree murder. His conviction in Montana occurred in Silver Bow county in 1911.

Antonio Rojo and Louis Delorme, facing joint charges with Fitzgerald, and who last week pleaded not guilty, also will be tried on May 4.

BOY SAVED FROM JAIL BY MOTHER

Woman Pleads for Youth Found Guilty on Rum Count; Fine Cut in Half

The plea of a mother yesterday saved Anthony Whitley from a jail sentence after Whitley had been found guilty of possession of liquor and had stated he had no money to pay a fine and would have to serve his time in jail.

Municipal Judge Turney found Whitley guilty. He imposed a fine of $200. When the boy stated he could not pay his fine, Judge Turney gave him an alternative of twenty days in jail. After his statement the aged mother of the boy came forward and begged that she might serve the sentence.

"My boy isn't guilty," she stated. "I put the liquor in his room and he knew nothing about it."

Deputy City Prosecutor Thoms investigated the case and found that the son had been the violator and that the mother was merely attempting to shield her son. But he also found that the family was in severe financial straits and for that reason he requested Judge Turney to reduce the fine. Whitley admitted that he might be able to raise $100 and he was allowed to go free on condition that he pay that sum.

FARM COLLEGE LAND REFUSED

With the board of managers of the United States Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle refusing to sell 160 acres of land situated near by, and the board of regents of the University of California, Southern Branch, declining to lease the property under terms advanced by the former institution, university heads last night were forced to look elsewhere for a site upon which to erect the contemplated $1,000,000 College of Agriculture.

When it developed that the board of managers could not be interested in selling the property in question, university representatives broached them on the possibility of leasing it. The managers consented to lease it to the university for a year, subject to a renewal of ten years at the expiration of that time, and with succeeding options of ten years' renewals thereafter. The leasing figure mentioned was $32,000 per year.

Such terms could not be accepted, said university officials, the university could not afford to erect buildings at a cost of approximately $1,000,000, under an agreement involving such a limited tenancy. The minimum period they would consider was fifty years, they asserted.

Representing the university at the joint meeting were Edward A. Dickson, chairman, and James R. Martin, and Walter L. Barlow, Dr. George C. Clements, W. S. Rosecrans, A. C. Hardiston and Paul Dietrick represented the Farm Bureau.

Gen. George H. Wood, as chairman of the board of managers, headed the representation from the United States Soldiers' Home. Other members were Col. John J. Steadman, Maj. James W. Wadsworth, Col. Roy L. Marston, Capt. John C. Nelson, Capt. William Albright and Joseph S. Catterwood.

Boy Scouts and Magazine Boys Will be Feted

Boy Scouts and Saturday Evening Post carriers will join in a Curtis-Scout celebration tomorrow at 9:30 a.m., in the auditorium of the Y.M.C.A. Building, it was announced yesterday by John Irwin, vocational director of the Curtis organization.

Troop No. 60 of the local Scout organization will act as host at the affair and the Boy Scout Band of fifty-three pieces, will give a musical program.

Tom Mix, motion-picture star, and H. Soma, Japanese archer and holder of the world's archery title, will be featured on the extensive entertainment program. Fred L. Letten, Los Angeles Scout Commissioner, will give the principal speech of the day. Leon Ramon, 5-year-old radio entertainer, and Bobby Harris, juvenile mathematician, also will appear, while Boy Scouts will give exhibitions of fire and camp craft. Two vaudeville acts have been obtained for the program.

PALAIS HOCKEY TEAM WINS OVER CULVERS

The Palais de Glace hockey team took the lead in the play-off for the local championship by defeating the Culver City 100 per cent Club six, 5 goals to 1, last night at the Glacier Ice Palace. About 5000 fans witnessed the game.

CHECK STUBS HIS DOWNFALL

This little tale ought to be balm of Gilead to Everywife, who listens to the monthly tirade of Everyhusband about writing a stub for every check so that she may know what became of her allowance.

For Chester Newson Sherrod was one of those meticulous persons who never writes a check without a stub, and thereby Edna Irene Sherrod found out about Betty—Betty Arnold and the dress and the hat, and subsequently the pair of shoes and the new pocket book, according to the story Judge Summerfield heard yesterday.

"He always kept such a careful account of everything," Mrs. Sherrod told the court. "And one day I found his check book. I found out from the stubs that he had paid for a hat for Betty Arnold, and a dress.

"I confronted him with the evidence and he promised to give her up. But later I found a pair of her shoes in his car, and still later a new pocket book he had bought as a gift for her. That was enough."

A witness, who had once taken Betty home from a party, testified the girl had not known Sherrod was married until Mrs. Sherrod had made her discoveries.

Judge Summerfield awarded Mrs. Sherrod a divorce.

WHACK AT QUACK

Radio Fans Don't Like City Park Duck Symphony

Radio fans in Colorado and Montana and on ships at sea have been annoyed by the quacking of ducks during broadcast hours at the city station in Westlake Park, it was revealed yesterday at a meeting of the Park Commission, when letters registering complaints were discussed.

"We like your programs, but do not like the interference of the static ducks," one writer complained, according to Commissioner Griffith.

The novel feat of broadcasting which has been accomplished unwittingly by the park department evoked a discussion as to what variety swans should be purchased. After seriously considering the complaints, the commissioners decided that hereafter only "mute" swans and quackless" ducks should be bought for park purposes. An order for four pairs of swans at a total cost of $240 was authorized.

HANCOCK IN AUTO HOUSE DEAL HERE

Man Who Helped Financier in Tragedy Shares Plan to Buy Herbert Agency

Verification of a report that G. Allan Hancock, local capitalist, is negotiating for the purchase of the automobile business of the W. P. Herbert Company was given yesterday by Mr. Hancock. The deal is not complete, he said, but negotiations have progressed to the point where final details are under discussion.

If the purchase is consummated, Jack Rose, close personal friend of Mr. Hancock and an automobile executive of long standing, will come into possession of much of the stock of the selling organization.

Although Mr. Hancock said there was absolutely no significance in the fact, Rose played an unforgettable part in the most tragic moment of Mr. Hancock's life.

Mr. Hancock's son, Bertram, was killed in the partial collapse of the Arlington Hotel during the earthquake at Santa Barbara. While Mr. Hancock was recovering from injuries which he himself suffered in the crash, Rose directed the work of rescuing the body of Bertram from the ruins.

The W. P. Herbert Company is distributor for Chandler and Cleveland automobiles. The main salesroom is at Eleventh and Flower streets. The fact that negotiations had been instituted was admitted at the Herbert company but it was said nothing definite had been decided. The consideration likewise was not given.

OLD CORRESPONDENCE STYLE TO BE REVISED

The old familiar "I beg to say" and "With reference to your favor of recent date" soon will be relegated to the dim past in correspondence circles if plans laid yesterday by a group of advertising men are carried out. At the meeting, which was that of the general committee of the Direct Mail Advertising Association, it was declared by several speakers that the forthcoming all-western direct mail convention will be the means of establishing an individuality of thought in business correspondence. The convention will be held from April 7 to 9 in the Ambassador.

Once Associate of Bill Nye Dies of Heart Attack

Ending an illness of one month, death came yesterday to David Wells Baird, once associated with the late Bill Nye when the latter was editor of the Laramie Boomerang, at 3541 South Flower street, where he was visiting.

Mr. Baird, who was 59 years of age, at the time of his death, was chairman of the board of auditors of the International Typographical Union.

Death was caused by cardio renal disease, according to Pierce Brothers' undertaking parlors, from where the body will be sent tonight for burial in Laramie, Wyoming.

Mr. Baird leaves a widow, Mrs. Ellen Baird, and two sisters, one living in Los Angeles and the other in Wyoming.

SLAIN BROKER'S KIN VANISHES

Harry Katz's Brother Object of Police Search

Carried Fortune in Jewels to Show Customer

Reticence of Diamond Owner Baffles Investigators

Reported as missing since early Wednesday evening with diamonds valued at $15,000 in his possession at the time, Morrie Katz, brother of Harry I. Katz, wealthy musician and art collector, who was mysteriously slain at his apartment more than a year ago, last night was made the object of a police investigation on the theory that he had met ahe same fate as his murdered brother.

Katz, who lived at 618 South New Hampshire avenue, in an apartment immediately below the one occupied by the slain art collector, was last seen by his brother, Sam Katz, with whom he resided, early Wednesday evening, according to the brother's statement last night. Since that time he has not been heard from, either by the brother, their mother or Jacob L. Sydenberg, a diamond merchant, with offices in the Title Guarantee Insurance Building, who reported the disappearance to the police.

According to Sydenberg's meager report to the police, Katz left his office about 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, taking with him six pieces of jewelry valued at $15,000. The gems were to be taken by him to show to a woman as a prospective purchaser, according to the police report, but identity of the woman has not yet been disclosed to the police.

Sydenberg last night declared that he could not say who the woman prospect is nor would he disclose the ownership of the jewels.

Katz, who is 31 years of age, is a millinery designer and is not an employee of Sydenberg's, according to the latter's statement last night. Katz's possession of the jewels was not explained by the diamond merchant.

A list of the missing jewelry as given to the police by Sydenberg last night showed that Katz carried on his person at the time he disappeared, two diamond platinum bracelets, three ladies' diamond rings and one diamond brooch.

Detective Lieutenant Allen of the police robbery squad, is in charge of the investigation into the case.

Sylenberg stated in his report to the police that he believed Katz may have met with foul play at the hands of persons who might have known of the valuable jewelry he had in his possession at the time he disappeared.

BANDITS IN AUTOMOBILE ROB WOMEN

Four Armed Men Get More Than $5000 and Another Pair Take $325 in Hold-up

While driving their car near the end of Beachwood Drive in Hollywoodland last night, Mrs. E. N. Mougin, Mrs. F. A. Campbell and Miss Lucinda Campbell, all of 4 Merrywood Trail, Laurel Canyon, were stopped by four men in a large black limousine and forced at the point of a gun to hand over their jewelry and money.

The bandits procured diamonds valued at $4500, $30 in cash and traveler checks made out to Miss Lucinda Campbell to the extent of $500. Two of the quartet remained in the limousine while the two others relieved the women of their jewels and money.

Two armed bandits in an automobile last night drove alongside the car of Sam Shapiro, 121 North Breed street, forced him to draw up at the curbing at a point on Boyle avenue near Ninth street, and at the point of a gun, robbed him of $325. They ordered him to remain in his car for five minutes and drove away. Obeying their command, Shapiro waited the allotted five minutes, then drove to the Hollenbeck Heights Police Station.

W. A. Wider, night attendant at a garage at 1303 Shatto street, is believed to have been the victim of the same pair. Two men entered the garage, asked to be shown the wash room and when it was pointed out to them ordered Wider inside. They found 25 cents on him and locked him in. After trying to start various automobiles in the establishment, they escaped in a coupe. Passers-by heard Wider and released him.

MOTHER HAS KERR JAILED

Doctor Convicted of Poison Plot on Wife Accused of Planning Flight to Mexico

Dr. Franklin E. Kerr, Garden Grove physician convicted last June on a charge of sending poison candy through the mails to his estranged wife, Dr. Luella F. Kerr, and at liberty on a $20,000 surety bond, was taken into custody and lodged in jail yesterday at the request of his mother, who was on his bond, according to police. He is being held at the Highland ar kPolice Station for the United States marshal's office.

Information that the convicted physician was planning to flee to Mexico by airplane resulted in Kerr's mother requesting his arrest, according to Detective Lieutenants Lloyd and Kopytek and J. D. Armstrong, a private detective, who arrested Kerr at his office at 547 South Fair Oaks avenue, South Pasadena.

Kerr was convicted in Federal Judge James's court June 5, last, after a jury trial, of sending a box of candy containing poison through the mails to his former wife, Dr. Luella F. Kerr of Fillmore. Analysis of the contents disclosed enough poison to kill a dozen persons. He appealed the case and lost and was sentenced to five years in Leavenworth on each of two counts, the sentences to run concurrently. Defense counsel obtained a rehearing on the appeal of his case and he obtained his liberty on the $20,000 surety bond.

DOMINANCE OF ENGLISH RACE CITED

Speaker Before Chapter Here Declares It Succeeds Where All Others Fail

"The English speaking races of the world have done what all other races have tried to do and failed for they have firmly established themselves and made themselves dominant," declared Dr. H. Wilden Carr, professor of philosophy of the University of London, addressing the Los Angeles Chapter of the English Speaking Union last night at the University Club.

Taking for the subject of his discourse, "Is Humanity Making Progress," Dr. Carr said the development of English speaking people, the way they have made the conveniences of life and the manner in which they have established their ideals is an outstanding fact in the history of the world. The Latin races had their opportunity on this continent when it was first settled and attempted to establish colonial empires while the English races followed the plan of occupation, he stated.

Little change is seen in most parts of the world and among a majority of the races for their alter and progress but little, while the English speaking peoples are not satisfied to remain as we have been in the past, but strive to attain something higher and better in life, the speaker said.

"It is a question whether our power of development means we are progressing and establishing a higher and better kind of life and while I see no evidence of progress I do see in the heart of humanity the urge to develop to that higher plane in life and advance civilization," he concluded.

MONUMENT PLANNED TO FIRE HORSES

Commission Takes Step for Memorial to Steeds of Bygone Era

The days of old fire horses in Los Angeles are gone. With the coming of modern automobile equipment the picturesque chargers that drew the old-fashioned apparatus were forced into retirement. But they shall not be forgotten.

As a suitable testimonial to man's best friends, the Fire Commission yesterday passed a resolution looking toward the erection of a monument to be dedicated to their loving memory and long and faithful service.

"The old fire horses have been lauded in song, play and story," said Commissioner Laws. "But that is not enough and they will be forgotten in a few years if a suitable material representation is not made."

Commissioners Frankenstein, Rochester and Laws were named as a committee to obtain funds and decide on a suitable monument and place for its erection. It was suggested that it might be located in the new Civic Center or one of the parks. It also was suggested that the monument should be a full-sized statue of a fire horse.

CONDUCT FUNERAL FOR MRS. J. G. DOTY

Funeral services for Mrs. Annice L. P. Doty of 249 East Forty-ninth street were conducted Wednesday at the chapel of W. A. Brown, and burial was in Inglewood Cemetery. Mrs. Doty, wife of James G. Doty, died Monday at 56 years of age. She had been a Los Angeles resident, with her husband, for sixteen years. They came here from Wright county, Iowa, where Mrs. Doty was born. Besides her husband, Mrs. Doty leaves her father, L. A. Pope; a sister, Mrs. R. J. McCurry, and a brother, E. A. Pope of Los Angeles, and a brother, L. S. Pope, of Yuma.

OFFICIALS TO VISIT SNYDER PLAYGROUND

To familiarize playground officials with the improvements they are seeking, the Ross Snyder Improvement Association will entertain as guests tonight at 7:30 o'clock members of the Playground Commission and other city officials. The dinner will be in the clubhouse on the Ross Snyder playground, Thirty-eighth street and Compton avenue, and will be followed by an inspection tour of the playground.

BEACH GIRL GONE FROM NEW POSTER

Council Committee's "Ad" to Attract Vacationists at Venice Approved

The Council Public Welfare Committee, composed of Councilmen Allan, Jacobsen and Hughes, which has tried its hand at writing advertising copy for Venice, produced its work yesterday before the Council and received the sanction of that body.

The picture submitted will be lithographed and erected on billboards throughout the Southwest. Its purpose is to lure the weary and dust-stained traveler in the desert and the hinterland to the cool waters of Venice.

"Where's the bathing beauty?" asked Councilman Sparks.

"Well," replied Mr. Sparks, "she's changed."

"How about a dancing girl?" asked Mr. Moore.

The picture depicts the waves of the mighty Pacific curling upon the beach, with a pier, a roller coaster and other amusement devices in the background. On the beach appear several beach umbrellas and figures. The wording is as follows:

"Spend your vacation in Venice —winter and summer—

"Now part of Los Angeles.

"California's finest amusement center."

FRAUD LAID TO HEAD OF ART SCHOOL

Proprietor of Emerson Institution Arrested on Embezzlement Charge

William Middleton, owner of the Emerson School of Fine Arts, an institute for the training of those aspiring to fame on the stage or screen, was arrested yesterday on a complaint charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses, embezzlement and larceny by trick and device.

The complaint was issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ham. It charges that Middleton represented his school to be worth $30000 and obtained $500 from Earl Desantos for a quarter interest in the business, when, as a matter of fact, the business was worth but $250 and boasted but a few students.

It also charges that Middleton embezzled $250 from Caroline McQuinn of 5705 Victoria street, his private secretary. The money was deposited with him in the form of a bond by the young woman before she obtained the position, according to the complaint.

Missing Man Once Hunted Twelve Years

William Krebs, restaurant man who Wednesday night was reported missing since the 14th inst., disappeared once before and was gone twelve years, Wilshire police said they had learned last night.

The length of the asserted former disappearance caused police to abandon the theory of foul play. Krebs had caused the arrest of a Mexican on the day of his disappearance on a charge of raising a $1 bill to $10.

An asserted partner of the Mexican, who is now awaiting trial, had escaped, and it was thought he might have had something to do with Krebs's disappearance. Krebs is 55 years of age.

FLORA MYERS ENGELS SOLOIST AT LOEW'S

Another of the Sunday noon concerts at Loew's State Theater, which have proved so popular with music lovers of Los Angeles, will be held at 12:30 p.m.

The soloist will be Flora Myers Engels, well-known local artist.

The program will consist of

Pete Bohemo (Russian Pizzicato) ..... Mazzoni
Rose Quartet (clarinet) ..... Paderewski
Mazzoni, Pete; Myers, Frank; Rose, Arnold; Lilla, Walter
Finale (fourth movement) from Symphony in F Minor, No. 4 ..... Tschaikowsky

Mrs. Engels was one of the few chosen in Los Angeles for grand opera last year, and was very well received.

COURT GETS WILL TANGLE

Many Legal Actions Center Around $150,000 Estate Left by Man With Purported Alias

Hearing was opened yesterday before Superior Judge Willis on the several legal actions centering about the estimated $150,000 estate left by John H. Smith, whose death on August 9, 1925, was followed by filing of a purported last will and testament bequeathing his entire estate to four children residing in eastern cities and to Annie Dupea and Jessie Truitt.

The filing of the will for probate and petition for appointment as executrix by Annie Dupea, was followed by action contesting the will on the allegation that it was never signed by Smith and that the four children named as beneficiaries do not exist. This action was filed on behalf of three asserted children of the deceased and one grand-daughter.

Two preceding petitions to be named administrator of the estate, one by Samuel Rosenthal, as attorney for an asserted creditor of Smith, and by Frank Bryson, public administrator who contended in his petition that Smith died intestate, are also before the court at the hearing which opened yesterday.

The estate of Smith, said to consist of some 200 parcels of land, was first brought to light with the filing of Rosenthal's petition to be named administrator.

Bryson's petition for appointment as administrator was filed on October 27, 1925, and was followed the next day by the petition of Annie Dupea that she be named executrix of the estate. Under the terms of the will, Smith bequeathed to four children, Monte M. Beaumont of New York, Ruby S. Anderson of Chicago, Fred E. Smith of Youngstown and Edward E. Smith of Cincinnati, all of lots held in trust for the deceased by John E. Phillips.

A second bequest, according to the will submitted by Annie Dupea, gave to Jessie Truitt all lots held by her in trust for the deceased and a third bequest left Annie Dupea all lots held in trust by her.

In November of the same year a contest to the probate of the purported will was filed by J. Everett Brown as attorney for Ruth Phillips, who said she was a granddaughter of the deceased; M. Phillips McCoy, a daughter, H. Braswell, a daughter and E. Phillips, a son.

The contestants asserted that Smith was in reality John E. Phillips and had taken the name of Smith to evade trouble in the East.

Yesterday's hearing made but little progress in the case which will be continued today.

Up-to-Date

THE Great Detective scowled thoughtfully.

"Jack and Jill," he read from the report before him, "went up the hill to draw a pail of water. Jack fell down and broke his crown and Jill came tumbling after."

"Humph," said the master mind. "That seems simple enough. A plain case. These two joy-riders found their radiator getting hot while speeding in a mountainous section. They tried to make a tough grade on low, but it was too much. Then the brakes refused to work. The man got panic-stricken and stumbled out of the car on his dome. The bus kept on going down the slope and took the dame along with it. Both of 'em carried accident policies, too. I advise both companies to suspend payment till the driver can prove he wasn't under the influence."
